coached and attended many children's soccer basketball and softball games I couldn't help but notice the tension and frustration of the parents and other coaches. They vented their frustration on the young players by yelling instructions and criticisms hoping it would produce better results. As an athlete myself I remember the negative effect that this kind of behavior had on my teammates and me. I wanted to remind people that if we show children love and respect in their athletic efforts the experience will be a positive one for everyone involved. In this book I will take you through several personal experiences in sports and share with you what I have learned from them. Transform the competitive sports field into a discipleship opportunity as you help your young athlete become not just a better player but a devoted follower of God. If we don't own the process of discipling our kids as they play sports, sports culture will do it for us. But as parents we can get so consumed with our young athletes' physical development that we miss the opportunities athletics provide to help them grow spiritually. Away Game challenges us to be more than spectators on the sidelines of our kids' spiritual lives. Discover how to leverage sports as a platform for instilling biblical values in kids and teens. Keep joy, play and gratitude at every level of your child's athletic experience. Use sports involvement as an opportunity to strengthen your relationship with your child from car ride conversations to post game processing. Spark faith-based discussions about sports culture challenges such as handling pressure, dealing with failure and being a next level teammate. Counter the toxic elements of today's youth sports culture by cultivating kingdom virtues like self control, humility and peace in yourself and your kids. Away Game empowers you to embrace the role of spiritual mentor throughout your child's athletic journey as you recognize in the margins of every practice or game winning opportunities for spiritual growth. The Elementary School
