In the wake of the invasion and occupation of Iraq by the United States United Kingdom and others geopolitics has been offered as an explanation for the occupation's failure to reinvent the Iragi state and as a blueprint for future action But what is geopolitics Drawing both on academic and political material this book introduces readers to the concept of geopolitics from the first usage of the term to its more recent reconceptualisations. The concept of geopolitics is introduced through four thematic sections Imperial Geopolitics Cold War Geopolitics Geopolitics after the Cold War and Reconceptualising Geopolitics Each section includes key writings from a range of diverse and leading authors such as Said Agnew Dalby O Tuathail Gregory Barnett and Kaplan and is accompanied by a critical introduction by the editors to guide the reader through the material This Reader establishes the foundations of geopolitics while also introducing readers to the continuing significance of the concept in the 21st century This Reader provides an essential resource that exposes students to original writing The Editors provide a pathway through the material with Section Introductions to assist the readers understanding of the context of the material and impacts of the writings The readings included draw from a range of authors writing from a range of locations The Reader concludes with the latest changes in geopolitical thought incorporating feminist and other perspectives The Making of Global International Relations Amitav Acharya, Barry Buzan, 2019-02-14 Presents a challenge to international relations scholars to think globally understanding the field's development in the Global South alongside the traditionally dominant Western Space and Time in Thai-Lao Relations Thanachate Wisaijorn, 2022-06-07 Wisaijorn explores how the concepts of approach space and temporality in traditional geopolitics have influenced the understanding of the Thai Lao border since Laos became independent in 1954 Arguing that a state centric conceptualisation of the Thailand Laos border falls into both a territorial and temporal trap Wisaijorn contests that privileging a theoretical border silences the voices of people on the ground In doing so he expands the concept of a temporal trap with the addition of a temporal dimension analysing how the state claims a monopoly not only on a geography but also a history Rooted in orientalism colonialism and the expediencies of the Cold War the border operates in the interest of elites and ignores the lived reality of peoples on the ground By bringing these voices back into the discussion Wisaijorn presents a more complex framework which reveals a human dimension missing not only from this particular case but more broadly from the conceptions of borders within International Relations theory A fascinating case study for scholars with an interest in mainland Southeast Asia which also makes a valuable theoretical contribution to International relations discourse Regional Security in the Middle East Pinar Bilgin, 2004-09-09 This is an accessible yet critical analysis of regional security in the Middle East Using a non realist approach Bilgin provides a comprehensive study of the past present and future of security in the region She also considers the question of identity formation explaining how and why various regional representations came into being and explor Community Marco Mariano, 2010-05-25 In this volume essays by scholars from both sides of the Atlantic open new perspectives on the construction of the Atlantic community during World War II and the early Cold War years Based on original approaches bringing together diplomatic history and the history of culture and ideas the book shows how atlantism came to provide a solid ideological foundation for the security community of North American and European nations which took shape in the 1940s The idea of a transatlantic community based on shared histories values and political and economic institutions was instrumental to the creation of the Atlantic Alliance and partly accounts for the continuing existence of the Atlantic partnership after the Cold War At the same time this study breaks new ground by arguing that the emergence of the idea of Atlantic community also reflected deeper trends in transatlantic relations in fact it was the outcome of the re definition of the West due to the rise of the US and the decline of Europe in the international arena during the first half of the Twentieth Century Regional Security in the Middle East, South Africa and the Global Hydrogen Economy The Mapungubwe Institute for Strategic Reflection, 2014-07-01 South Africa and the Global Hydrogen Economy is the publication of a MISTRA research project on the use of strategic minerals in the global putative hydrogen economy The book highlights the global significance of platinum group metals PGM and explores the strategic opportunities that arise out of South Africa's endowment of these strategic resources From their extraction to their applications in fuel cells what options are available for the country the region and the world to better leverage this endowment towards supporting growth and development objectives In view of their expanding range of applications do PGM need the hydrogen economy Conversely does the hydrogen economy need PGM Addressed to all industry stakeholders including those in the public and private sectors the options explored in this book are based on a thorough analysis of the global dynamics that should inform policy and business models related to PGM
