Atwood's works are also included as are some of her more public quotations. Secondary entries i.e. interviews, scholarly resources and reviews are first sorted by type and then arranged alphabetically by author to allow greater ease of navigation. The individual chapters are organized chronologically with each subdivided into seven categories: Atwood's Works, Adaptations, Quotations, Interviews, Scholarly Resources, Reviews of Atwood's Works, and Reviews of Adaptations of Atwood's Works. The book also includes a chapter entitled 'Atwood on the Web' as well as extensive author and subject indexes. This new bibliography significantly enhances access to Atwood material, a feature that will be welcomed by university, public and school librarians.

Margaret Atwood: A Reference Guide, 1988-2005 will appeal not only to Atwood scholars but to students and fans of one of Canada's greatest writers.

Writing in Our Time Pauline Butling, Susan Rudy, 2006-01-01

Process poetics is about radical poetry, poetry that challenges dominant world views, values and aesthetic practices with its use of unconventional punctuation, interrupted syntax, variable subject positions, repetition, fragmentation and disjunction. To trace the aesthetically and politically radical poetries in English Canada since the 1960s, Pauline Butling and Susan Rudy begin with the upstart poets published in Vancouver's TISH: A Poetry Newsletter and follow the trajectory of process poetics in its national and international manifestations through the 1980s and 90s. The poetics explored include the works of Nicole Brossard, Daphne Marlatt, bpNichol, George Bowering, Roy Kiyooka and Frank Davey in the 1960s and 70s. For the 1980-2000 period, the authors include essays on Jeff Derksen, Clare Harris, Erin Mour and Lisa Robertson. They also look at books by older authors published after 1979, including Robin Blaser, Robert Kroetsch and Fred Wah. A historiography of the radical poets and a roster of the little magazines, small press publishers, literary festivals and other such sites that have sustained poetic experimentation provide context.

150 Years of Canada Ursula Lehmkuhl, Elisabeth Tutschek, 2020

On July 1, 2017, Canada celebrated the 150th anniversary of Confederation. The nation-wide festivities prompted ambiguous reactions and contradictory responses since they officially proclaimed to celebrate what it means to be Canadian. Drawing on the analytical perspectives of Diversity Studies, this fifth volume of the Diversity/Diversit/Diversit t series explores the repercussions of Canada 150's focus on identity. The contributions touch upon issues of Canada's French and English dualism, of its settler colonial past and present and the role of Indigenous Peoples in Canada's identity narrative, of Canada's religious, cultural, ethnic and racial diversity and of the challenge of forging a Canadian identity. The authors analyze these and other problems arising from the tensions between identity and diversity by empirically addressing topics such as multicultural memories, Canadian literary and political discourses, M'tis history, Canada's Indigenous peoples, Canada's official federal discourse on language and culture and Canada's evolving citizenship regimes.
