Kapp, 1992 Legal Issues in Mental Health Care B.A. Weiner, R. Wettstein, 2013-06-29 I

OVERVIEW Legal Issues in Mental Health Care is aimed at the mental health clinician who provides services on either an inpatient or an outpatient basis It is written for psychiatrists psychologists social workers nurses and other therapists to help them understand and manage legal issues in their daily practice The issues covered apply to therapists who work for an agency or hospital as well as those who work independently The book is meant to serve as a handbook but it also provides a quick resource as legal questions arise which are related to the obligations of the therapist It addresses the legal issues that confront the clinician It is not aimed at the clinician who specializes in forensic mental health issues because the information provided does not reach that level of detail or sophistication Nor is it aimed at the scholar because our goal is to provide practical information in a clear and concise format We have not addressed the wide array of laws protecting the mentally disabled from discrimination most notably the Americans with Disabilities Act 1990 and the Fair Housing Act Most states also have laws that prohibit discrimination in employment services and housing These issues are beyond the scope of this book because we are addressing the legal issues that arise in providing care rather than the rights of mentally disabled persons 11 ORGANIZATION OF THE BOOK The book consists of eleven chapters and a Glossary of Legal Terms Aging and the Law Lawrence A. Psychological Treatment of Older Adults Michel Hersen, Vincent B. Van Hasselt, 2013-06-29 This multiauthored introductory textbook could not have been conceived or brought to fruition 10 or 15 years ago Indeed at that time relatively little attention was accorded to the psychological needs of older adults The general tenor of the field then was that older adults would not benefit from psychological intervention As we now know this was a faulty assumption that has been discredited with empirical data Indeed clinical research data adduced primarily in the last decade clearly documents that older adults do benefit from specific psychotherapies that are tailored to their unique presentation of symptoms Given the explosion of interest in this area as evinced by increased investigatory activity national funding and media attention and the increased number of masters and doctoral level courses devoted to this topic we felt that the time was right for a textbook in the area Such flurry of activity also has been fueled by statistics showing how our population by the year 2030 will consist of 30% who are senior citizens Moreover since 12% of older adults in the community are estimated to have diagnosable psychiatric disorders and 40% to 50% of older adult medical inpatients have a concomitant psychiatric disorder the task for clinicians in the next century will be overwhelming
