German Railroad Guns in Action Joachim Engelmann, 1976 Billedh fte om de tyske jernbanepiecer under deres anvendelse i 2 verdenskrig Railway Guns of World War II Steven J. Zaloga, 2016-02-25 World War II marked the zenith of railway gun development Although many of the railway guns deployed at the start of the conflict were of World War I vintage Germany's ambitious development programme saw the introduction of a number of new classes including the world's largest the 80cm calibre Schwerer Gustav and Schwerer Dora guns which weighed in at 1 350 tons and fired a huge 7 ton shell This book provides an overview of the types of railway guns in service during World War II with a special focus on the German railway artillery used in France Italy and on the Eastern Front and analyzes why railway guns largely disappeared from use following the end of the war Railway Guns of World War I Marc Romanych, Greg Heuer, 2017-08-24 World War I was the Golden Age of the railway gun Even though at the start of the conflict none of the armies possessed any railway artillery pieces and the very idea was comparatively new more railway guns were used during this war than in any other conflict Designed to break the stalemate of trench warfare the first railway guns were simple improvised designs made by mounting surplus coastal defence fortress and naval guns onto existing commercial railway carriages As the war dragged on railway artillery development shifted to longer range guns that could shell targets deep behind enemy lines This change of role brought much larger and more sophisticated guns often manufactured by mounting long barrel naval guns to specially designed railway carriages This book details the design and development of railway guns during World War I from the very first basic designs to massive purpose built monster railway guns Accompanying the text are many rare never before published photographs and colour illustrations depicting how these weapons were used during World War I XTREME MODELLING 5 EN, Railway Guns John Goodwin, 2016-08-30 In the nineteenth century the War Office showed little interest in developing large heavy artillery for its land forces preferring instead to equip its warships with the biggest guns Private initiatives to mount a gun on a railway truck pulled by a steam engine were demonstrated before military chiefs in the Southern Counties but not taken up However the development of longer range guns weighing up to 250 tons to smash through the massive armies and trench systems on the Western Front in 1916 led to a rethink The only way to move these monsters about quickly in countryside thick with mud was to mount them on specially built railway trucks towed by locomotives The railway guns were to be put on little used country lines where they could fire on beaches road junctions and harbors The locations and cooperation given by the independent railway companies is explained as are the difficulties of using the same lines for war and civilian traffic The First World War also saw the emergence of large training camps for railway men When the war ended most railway guns were dismantled and lost in ordnance depots The Army Council was uncertain about artillery needs in a future war so training and development stopped This book largely concentrates on the realities of the time the type of gun the locomotives artillery targets locations and what it was like when firing took place It is fully illustrated with pictures maps and plans covering different aspects of railway guns their locomotives and equipment

Artillery Warfare, 1939-1945 Simon Forty, Jonathan Forty, 2020-11-25 From mountain warfare with guns on mules to V2 rockets and everything between makes it well worth a place on anyone's reference shelf Clash of Steel It is said that artillery won the Second World War for the Allies that Soviet guns wore down German forces on the Eastern Front negating their superior tactics and fighting ability and that the accuracy and intensity of the British and American artillery was a major reason for the success of Allied forces in North Africa from El Alamein in Italy and Normandy and played a vital role in the battles of 1944 and 1945 Yet the range of weapons used is often overlooked or taken for granted which is why this highly illustrated history by Simon and Jonathan Forty is of such value They stress the importance of artillery on every front and analyze how artillery equipment training and tactical techniques developed during the conflict The selection of wartime photographs many from east European sources and the extensive quotations from contemporary documents give a graphic impression of how the guns were used on all sides The photographs emphasize the wide range of pieces employed as field antiaircraft and antitank artillery without forgetting self propelled guns coastal and other heavyweights and the development of rockets The authors offer a fascinating insight into the weapons that served in the artillery over seventy years ago

Superbly illustrated this is testament to the courage and skills of extraordinary men in the execution of their duty An amazing book Books Monthly Anzio Beachhead, 22 January - 25 May 1944, 1990 List of World War I Signal Corps

Films National Archives (U.S.), 1957 Special List, 1957 American Engineer and Railroad Journal, 1895 Anzio Beachhead, 22 January-25 May 1944 United States. Department of the Army. Office of Military History, 1948 Landing of U S VI Corps at Anzio in an attempt to bypass German defenses blocking the approach to Rome January May 1944 ANZIO BEACHHEAD (22 January-25 May 1944) [Illustrated Edition] Anon, 2014-08-15 Includes with 25 maps and 36

Illustrations The story of Anzio must be read against the background of the preceding phase of the Italian campaign The winter months of 1943-44 found the Allied forces in Italy slowly battering their way through the rugged mountain barriers blocking the roads to Rome After the Allied landings in southern Italy German forces had fought a delaying action while preparing defensive lines to their rear The main defensive barrier guarding the approaches to Rome was the Gustav Line extending across the Italian peninsula from Minturno to Ortona Enemy engineers had reinforced the natural mountain defenses with an elaborate network of pillboxes bunkers and mine fields The Germans had also reorganized their forces to resist the Allied advance On 21 Nov 1943 Field Marshal Albert Kesselring took over the command of the entire Italian theater Army Group C under his command was divided into two armies the Tenth facing the southern front and also holding the Rome area and the Fourteenth guarding central and northern Italy In a year otherwise filled with defeat Hitler was determined to gain the prestige of holding the Allies south of Rome In the early morning hours of 22 Jan 1944 VI Corps of Lt Gen Mark Clark's Fifth Army landed on the Italian coast below Rome and established a beachhead far behind the enemy lines

In the four months between this landing and Fifth Army's May offensive the short stretch of coast known as the Anzio beachhead was the scene of one of the most courageous and bloody dramas of the war. The Germans threw attack after attack against the beachhead in an effort to drive the landing force into the sea. Fifth Army troops put fully on the defensive for the first time rose to the test. Hemmed in by numerically superior enemy forces they held their beachhead fought off every enemy attack and then built up a powerful striking force which spearheaded Fifth Army's triumphant entry into Rome in June.
