Healing Identities Black Feminist Thought And The:

Healing Identities Cynthia Burack, 2004 Group identifications famously pose the problem of destructive rhetoric and action against others Cynthia Burack brings together the theory work of women of color and the tools of psychoanalysis to examine the effects of group collaborations for social justice and progressive politics This juxtaposition illuminates some assumptions about race and equality encoded in psychoanalysis Burack's discursive analysis suggests the positive identity affirming aspects of group relational life for African American women One analytic response to groups emphasizes the dangers of these identifications and exhorts people to abandon or transcend them for their own good and for the good of others who may be harmed by group based forms of cultural or material violence Another response understands that people feel a need for group identifications and asks how they may be made more resistant to malignant group based discourse and action What can black feminist thought teach scholars and democratic citizens about groups Burack shows how the rhetoric of black feminism models reparative rather than destructive forms of group dialogue and action Although it may be impossible to eliminate group identifications that provide much of the impetus for bias and violence she argues we can encourage more progressive forms of leadership solidarity and coalition politics Feminism in Coalition Liza Taylor, 2022-11-11 In Feminism in Coalition Liza Taylor examines how US women of color feminists coalitional politics provides an indispensable resource to contemporary political theory feminist studies and intersectional social justice activism Taylor charts the theorization of coalition in the work of Bernice Johnson Reagon Audre Lorde Barbara Smith the Combahee River Collective Gloria Anzaldúa Cherríe Moraga and others For these activist scholars coalition is a dangerous struggle that emerges from a shared political commitment to undermining oppression and an emphasis on self transformation Taylor shows how their coalitional understandings of group politics identity consciousness and scholarship have transformed how activists and theorists build alliances across race class gender sexuality faith and ethnicity to tackle systems of domination Their coalitional politics enrich current discussions surrounding the impetus and longevity of effective activism present robust theoretical accounts of political subject formation and political consciousness and demonstrate the promise of collective modes of scholarship In this way women of color feminists have been formulating solutions to long standing problems in political theory By illustrating coalition's vitality to a variety of practical and philosophical interdisciplinary discussions Taylor encourages us to rethink feminist and political theory Black Women's Yoga History Stephanie Y. Evans, 2021-03-01 How have Black women elders managed stress In Black Women's Yoga History Stephanie Y. Evans uses primary sources to answer that question and to show how meditation and yoga from eras of enslavement segregation and migration to the Civil Rights Black Power and New Age movements have been in existence all along Life writings by Harriet Jacobs Sadie and Bessie Delany Eartha Kitt Rosa Parks Jan Willis and Tina Turner are only a few examples of personal case studies that are included here illustrating how these women managed traumatic stress anxiety and depression In more than fifty yoga memoirs Black women discuss practices of reflection exercise movement stretching visualization and chanting for self care By unveiling the depth of a struggle for wellness memoirs offer lessons for those who also struggle to heal from personal cultural and structural violence This intellectual history expands conceptions of yoga and defines inner peace as mental health healing and wellness that is both compassionate and political Challenging the Legacies of Racial Resentment Tiffany Willoughby-Herard, 2017-07-05 Domestic and international health activism and health policy are focal points in this volume a publication of the National Conference of Black Political Scientists This work demonstrates the continuing importance of the medical civil rights movement through examples of activism of women of colour in AIDS service organizations of their health issues and of the struggle for racial equity in health care in Brazil Spikes in police and vigilante violence as well as fear of a reversion to resegregated schools have brought a new urgency to black political activism The contributors explore the effect of race on American attitudes toward immigration policy and reform black state legislators and American morality politics the historically disproportionate influence of Southern whites in American politics and the undermining of school desegregation laws with nullification strategies The volume's Trends section features conversations on the BlackLivesMatter movement in Los Angeles the 2016 presidential election and examines the teaching of the Trayvon Martin story at the University of California Irvine The volume also includes a diverse selection of book reviews Tough Love Cynthia Burack, 2014-02-01 Exposes how ex gay and postabortion ministries operate on a shared system of thought and analyzes their social implications A staple of the culture wars the struggle between Christian conservatives and progressives over sexuality and reproductive rights continues Focusing on ex gay ministries geared to helping same sex attracted people resist their sexuality and postabortion ministries dedicated to leading women who have had an abortion to repent that decision Cynthia Burack argues that both are motivated and characterized by a strain of compassion that is particular to Christian conservatism rather than a bias and hatred toward sexual minorities and sexually active women This compassion reproduces the sexual ideology of the Christian right and absolves Christian conservatives from responsibility for stigma and other forms of harm to postabortive and same sex attracted people Using the democratic theory of Hannah Arendt the popular fiction of Ayn Rand and the psychoanalytic thought of Melanie Klein Burack studies the social and political effects of Christian conservative compassion Who Should Be First? Beverly Guy-Sheftall, Johnnetta Betsch Cole, 2010-08-01 Who should be first With Barack Obama and Hillary Clinton as frontrunners the 2008 Democratic primary campaign was a watershed moment in United States history Offering the choice of an African American man or a white woman as the next Democratic candidate for U S President the primary marked an unprecedented moment but one that painfully echoed previous struggles for progressive change that pitted race and gender against each other Who Should Be First collects key feminist voices that challenge the instances of racism and sexism during the presidential campaign season offer personal reflections on this historic moment and trace the historic legacy of opposing issues of race and gender that informed debates and media representations of the 2008 Democratic primary In this collection of writings by leading feminists including Patricia J Williams Gloria Steinem Alice Walker Carol Moseley Braun Maureen Dowd Katha Pollitt Pearl Cleage Robin Morgan Erica Jong Mark Anthony Neal and M Jacqui Alexander about and during this unprecedented and to many unexpected moment editors Beverly Guy Sheftall and Johnnetta Cole deftly balance charged conversations in the first collection on this key moment in contemporary U S history

Bystydzienski, Sharon R. Bird, 2006-03-20 Movement into academic science technology engineering and mathematics STEM fields has been slow for women and minorities Not only are women and minorities underrepresented in STEM careers there is strong evidence that many academic departments are resistant to addressing the concerns that keep them from entering careers in these fields In light of recent controversies surrounding these issues this volume examining reasons for the persistence of barriers that block the full participation and advancement of underrepresented groups in the sciences and addressing how academic departments and universities can remedy the situation is particularly timely As a whole the volume shows positive examples of institutions and departments that have been transformed by the inclusion of women and recommends a set of best practices for continuing growth in positive directions Rethinking Sexual Citizenship Jyl J. Josephson, 2016-05-01 Public policy often assumes there is one correct way to be a family Rethinking Sexual Citizenship argues that policies that enforce this idea hurt all of us and harm our democracy Jyl J. Josephson uses the concept of sexual citizenship a criticism of the assumption that all families have a heterosexual at their center to show how government policies are made to punish or reward particular groups of people This analysis applies sexual citizenship not only to policies that impact LGBTQ families but also to other groups including young people affected by abstinence only public policies and single parent families affected by welfare policy The book also addresses the idea that the normal family in the United States is white It concludes with a discussion of how scholars and activists can help create a more inclusive democracy by challenging this narrow view of public life Gender and American Politics Sue Tolleson-Rinehart, Jyl J. Josephson, 2016-09-16 Studies of gender and American political life most often focus only on women This book fills the gap by examining and comparing the roles and behavior of both men and women in political decision making public policy and political institutions Now updated and expanded the book presents a full complement of empirical studies of real and imagined gender gaps New to this edition are chapters on the media legislative behavior foreign policy and the future of the gender dimension in American politics The book is structured to parallel the typical course on the American political system
