Health Care In Asia A Comparative Study Of Cost And Financing:

Health Care in Asia Charles C. Griffin, 1992 This report assembles data on health demographic trends health infrastructure health personnel and health financing across Asian countries In a broad manner it attempts to relate differences in spending priorities and patterns to health outcomes This effort should be viewed as a complement to country specific and household level analysis The objective of the study is to assemble data essential for making sensible public policy decisions in the health sector It is an inductive exploratory study The study reviews mortality data medical inputs and health expenditures It attempts to construct a health profile for the developing countries of Asia using cause of death information the age structure of the populations and related evidence Data assembled for the years 1986 1987 on sources of health expenditure health infrastructure and related financial data are reviewed A chapter is devoted to the discussion of user fees and insurance the two main alternatives to tax financing of public sector curative services The study concludes by piecing together information from many sources in an attempt to assess the degree to which public subsidies in the health sector are targeted and to whom

Routledge Handbook of Global Public Health in Asia Siân M. Griffiths, Jin Ling Tang, Eng Kiong Yeoh, 2014-04-16 Global public health is of growing concern to most governments and populations nowhere more so than in Asia the world's largest and most populous continent Whilst major advances have been made in controlling infectious diseases through public health measures as well as clinical medical treatments the world now faces other challenges including ageing populations and the epidemic crisis of obesity and non communicable diseases New emerging infections continue to develop and the growing threats to health due to environmental pollution and climate change increase the need for resilience and sustainability These threats to health are global in nature and this Handbook will explore perspectives on current public health issues in South Southeast and East Asia informing global as well as regional debate Whilst many books cite Western examples of the development of global public health this Handbook brings together both Western and Eastern scholarship creating a new global public health perspective suitable to face modern challenges in promoting the population's health This Handbook is essential reading not only for students professionals and scholars of global public health and related fields but is also written to be accessible to those with a general interest in the health of Asia

Health and Wealth in Vietnam Nguyen Nguyet Nga, Truong Thi Kim Chuyen, Sarah Bales, Jonathan Haughton, 1999 How do Vietnamese households live and work This book answers many of the most important questions including Who uses contraceptives Which children get the most health care Who are the poor and why are they poor Which families migrate Why do so many rural workers change jobs Where do households get credit What drives rice production The result of a unique collaboration between Vietnamese and international social scientists the fourteen concise chapters paint a fascinating picture of household health and wealth All are based on the Vietnam Living Standards Survey the most accurate and complete source of data available The use of statistical techniques in every chapter gives the book added coherence while providing depth and clarity to the analysis A must for anyone with a serious interest in Vietnam this highly readable book is also designed to serve as a reference work

China's Urban Health Care Reform Chack-kie Wong,Vai Io Lo,Kwong-Leung Tang,2006-01-01 One way to describe the importance of social policy is to say it s about what is and what might be This ethos is the driving force behind Chack Kie Wong Vai Io Lo and Kwong leung Tang s China s Urban Health Care Reform Based on a study of a mid level city in China these three scholars provide analysis and offer theory based recommendations on health care development Using a comparative policy framework supported by a legal expert s knowledge of regulatory specifications China s Urban Health Care Reform argues that a strategy with priority in economic growth as in the case of China does not bring forth cost efficiency and equity in health care for the whole nation Ultimately Wong Lo and Tang strive to offer direction for health care reform that will lead to better health care in China s cities As a result this is a work of great significance to anyone involved in public health social work public policy medicine or law

Health Expenditures in Latin America Ramesh Govindaraj,Christopher J. L. Murray,Gnanaraj Chellaraj,1995-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 274 The preparation of the World Bank s World Development Report 1993 Investing in Health WDR included an effort to assemble internationally comparable statistics on a broad range of health and health system indicators Data had to be compiled from existing sources while analytical efforts were made to improve the quality and comparability of the data This paper presents an expanded and updated version of the WDR estimates of 1990 health expenditures for the countries of Latin America and the Caribbean Whereas the population cut off for inclusion in the WDR was 3 million these tables include almost all countries in the region This update of the expenditures results in a substantial upward revision in the estimated percentage of GNP spent on health in the region in 1990 from 4 to 6%

Health Financing for Poor People Alexander S. Preker,Guy Carrin,2004 One of the most urgent development challenges facing many low and middle income countries is the need for adequate financing systems to pay for health care provision to the estimated 1 3 billion impoverished people living in rural areas or working in the informal sector in urban areas This publication considers ways of improving the financing of health care at low income levels as part of a global strategy for increased investment in health and poverty reduction Topics discussed include global and regional trends in healthcare financing strengths and weaknesses of community based health financing and experiences in Asia and Africa country case studies using household survey analysis from Senegal Rwanda India and Thailand deficit financing and the impact of risk sharing on achieving health system goals

The Political Economy of Health Care Development and Reforms in Hong Kong Victor C.W. Wong,2019-05-23 First published in 1999 this book constitutes a unique account of the development and reform of health care in Hong Kong Its main focus is on policy developments since 1945 Victor Wong demonstrates the development of a two tier health system in both a capitalist and Chinese context His work is one of both health policy and political economy Wong utilises the latter perspective to show the state s role in the interests of capital the public demand for health care and the power of the medical profession Alongside this Wong brings in the role of Chinese and family medicine and the role of the family in cost containment and minimising the hospitalisation of elderly frail and chronically ill patients The volume is the most comprehensive analysis available for health policy in Hong Kong

Marketizing Education and Health in Developing Countries Christopher Colclough,1997 This book draws on evidence from a large number of developing countries to assess the impact of market reforms on the provision of education and health services The contributors show that approaches that seek merely to pass more of their costs to consumers perform less well than is often claimed and that improved cost effectiveness of health and education systems requires far more than changes in the sources and mechanisms of obtaining finance

Health Care and Cost Containment in the European Union Elias Mossialos,Julian Le Grand,2019-05-20 First published in 1999 this volume aims to describe and analyse the experience of cost containment in Europe over the last fifteen years in order to understand that experience and to determine as best we can which methods were successful and which were not Part I provides an overview of healthcare in the European Union an overview of recent expenditure trends Part II complements the first examining in detail cost containment policies in each EU Member State The country based chapters refer to developments up to mid 1997

Modelling in Health Care Finance Michael Cichon,1999 In straightforward non technical language the book demystifies the modelling process and provides step by step guidance demonstrating how managers and policy makers can best make use of models in the formation of health policy goals the identification of options and the analysis and implementation of results

Strategies for Pricing Publicly Provided Health Services Paul Gertler,Jeffrey S. Hammer,1997

Financing Health Care in Sub-Saharan Africa Through User Fees and Insurance R. Paul Shaw,Charles C. Griffin,1995 There are several options for financing better health care in Africa They include the general systems of taxation used to finance government expenditures and the ministries of health donor assistance that is specifically earmarked for health projects charitable donations targeted to private voluntary health providers such as church missions user fees and health insurance User fees are emphasized in this volume because private out of pocket expenditures for health account for more than 40 percent of total health expenditures in Africa

Economic Policy in Sri Lanka Saman Kelegama,Gamani Corea,2004-12-08 The essays in this volume written by well known economists and social scientists shed light on the intense national debates that accompanied the making of policy decisions in Sri Lanka Studying the country s economy under six main headings the ideology and strategy of economic development macro economic policy the development of agriculture industry and technology employment and labour institutional issues and governance and social welfare the book presents a comprehensive picture of contemporary Sri Lanka s economy

Public Services Delivery World Bank,2005 This publication sets out a framework for analysing the performance of governments in developing countries looking at the government as a whole and at local and municipal levels and focusing on individual sectors that form the core of essential government services such as health education welfare waste disposal and infrastructure It draws lessons from performance measurement systems in a range of industrial countries to identify good practice around the world in improving public sector governance combating corruption and making services work for poor people      Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1993-04      Analyzing the Distributional Impact of Reforms, 2 Aline Coudouel,Stefano

Paternostro,2005 The analysis of the distributional impact of policy reforms on the well being or welfare of different stakeholder groups particularly on the poor and vulnerable has an important role in the elaboration and implementation of poverty reduction strategies in developing countries In recent years this type of work has been labeled as Poverty and Social Impact Analysis PSIA and is increasingly implemented to promote evidence based policy choices and foster debate on policy reform options While information is available on the general approach techniques and tools for distributional analysis each sector displays a series of specific characteristics These have implications for the analysis of distributional impacts including the types of impacts and transmission channels that warrant particular attention the tools and techniques most appropriate the data source typically utilized and the range of political economy factors most likely to affect the reform process This volume provides an overview of the specific issues arising in the analysis of the distributional impacts of policy and institutional reforms in selected sectors Each chapter offers guidance on the selection of tools and techniques most adapted to the reforms under scrutiny and offers examples of applications of these approaches This is a companion to the first volume which offers guidance on trade monetary and exchange rate policy utility provision agricultural markets land policy and education      The Reformability Of China's State Sector James Wen,Dianqing Xu,1997-03-01 China has achieved alarming success in accelerating the economic growth rate since it started economic reform about 16 years ago However its state sector is still running severe deficits Even though its productivity might be improved since the reform started its financial situation nevertheless has been worsening mainly as a result of increased competition from the rapidly expanding non state sector Therefore the reform of this sector has become an urgent problem All the papers collected in this book are closely related to the various issues that the reform of the state sector has to solve Among the contributors are Professor Merton H Miller a Nobel laureate and expert on firm finance and governance Mr Ji Lin the vice president of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences Dr Justin Y Lin the director of Center of China's Economic Research at Beijing University Professor Gang Fan the well known Chinese Economist and vice director of the Institute of Economic Research at the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences Professor Guoqiang Tian an expert on mechanism design at Texas A M University and many other researchers and professors from China and the North America's research institutes and universities Therefore this book will be extremely useful and relevant to those economists as well as government decision makers working in the field of the transitional economy      National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine

(U.S.),1993      Administering Targeted Social Programs in Latin America Margaret E. Grosh,1994-01-01 Global Environment Facility Working Paper 8 Describes the five key research areas to be addressed by the Program for Measuring Incremental

Costs for the Environment PRINCE This paper outlines incremental cost concepts operational interpretations national climate change studies country studies on ozone protection and transaction costs It also develops a broad interpretation of incremental cost that can be used across the range of issues covered by the Global Environment Facility GEF Those issues include global warming pollution of international waters destruction of biodiversity and ozone depletion This is one of five GEF Working Papers to explore the PRINCE program and is co published with the United Nations Development Programme and the United Nations Environment Programme

Including the Poor Michael Lipton, J. van der Gaag, 1993-01-01

Explores the role of government policy in economic development in the Republic of Korea The Republic of Korea has achieved economic success on many fronts Real GNP has tripled every decade since the 1960s A dynamic and flexible manufacturing sector now dominates the economy The benefits of growth have been widely distributed with a sharp decrease in poverty This study like others in the series seeks to draw lessons from such success and to identify and analyze the policies behind this strong economic performance Koreas development strategy and macroeconomic performance are outlined in Part I Several factors are seen to underlie strong growth including the maintenance of a stable macroenvironment flexible and pragmatic policies and investment in infrastructure and human capital Part II assesses the role played by industrial policy since 1961 Particular attention is given to the Heavy and Chemical Industry HCI drive launched in 1973 to diversify and upgrade Koreas industrial sector The authors note that while the HCI has been largely successful it also has been very costly particularly to the financial sector Part III outlines the role of institutions and the close relationships among the government the bureaucracy and business The key to Koreas rapid development according to the authors was the governments commitment to growth and its early focus on equity and wide distribution of the gains from growth The authors also laud the efficiency and effectiveness of Koreas public and private sector institutions which they see as models for all developing nations
