Davis,2015-12-08 In 1935 the English writer Stephen Spender wrote that the historical pressures of his era should turn the reader s and writer s attention outwards from himself to the world

Dissensuous Modernism Allyson C. DeMaagd,2022-02-22 Placing women writers at the center of the sensory and technological experimentation that characterized the modernist movement Dissensuous Modernism shows how women of the era challenged gendered narratives that limited their power and agency and waged dissent through their radical sensuous writing Allyson DeMaagd critiques an overemphasis among modernist writers and generations of researchers on the masculine senses of sight and sound shifting the conversation toward the feminine senses of smell taste and touch These senses long considered lower were explored by writers such as H D Mina Loy Virginia Woolf and Elizabeth Bowen as DeMaagd demonstrates through detailed close readings of their lesser studied novels DeMaagd's analysis shows how these women incorporated technology in their work to reunify the senses or to draw attention to the destructive disunity of the senses highlighting the subversive potential of sensory integration Dissensuous Modernism illuminates how modernist women writers breached the sensory borders society erects between men and women heteronormativity and queerness ability and disability technology and nature and human and nonhuman It elevates diverse embodied experiences and illuminates the pivotal role of women in modernist sensory thought

Literature and the Political Imagination Andrea T. Baumeister,John Horton,2013-04-15 This volume shows how modern political theory can be enriched through an engagement with works of literature It uses the resources of literature to explore issues such as nationalism liberal philosophy utopianism narrative and the role of theory in political thought A variety of approaches are adopted and the aim is to show some of the many and diverse ways in which literature may enrich political theorising as well as considering some of the problems to which this may give rise The theorists discussed include Richard

Rorty Alasdair MacIntyre Charles Taylor and Martha Nussbaum There are literary references from Greek tragedy Jonathan Swift Brian Moore Elizabeth Bowen and contemporary feminist utopian fiction All the contributors have a long standing interest in the relations between literature and moral and political thought They are concerned not to be restricted by conventional academic boundaries and are not united by any party line or uniformity of intellectual commitments This volume will be of great interest to all students engaged in the study of politics and literature Glocal Ireland Juan F. Elices Agudo, Marisol Morales Ladrón Soledad, 2011-05-25 The transformations undergone by Ireland in the last decades have relocated the country within that liminal space of the local and the global The country of the deeply rooted rural traditions the severely religious impositions and the fragile economic system became in the 1990s a world referent due to its unprecedented and impressive growth However the emergence of the so called Celtic Tiger and the recognition that Ireland had become one of the most globalised nations in the Western world met a dramatic downfall that has left the country preoccupied with matters concerning its re positioning and re definition within a wider European framework The cultural and artistic productivity of this nation has also moved away from the topical insularity of the past adopting more transnational and universal subjects at the same time that it has struggled to retain its genuine values and its own signs of identity For in Ireland the more this global progress has grown to be unavoidable the more evocatively the local has befallen Therefore the editors of this volume contend that the global and the local should be understood not as opposed concepts but as two ends of a continuum of interaction Within this state of affairs this volume comprises a series of articles that revolve around the issue of glocality in Irish literature culture and cinema in order to disentangle the complexities that underlie this concept and which are inextricably related to the drastic changes undertaken by Ireland in the years before and after the economic boom and posterior bailout The Cambridge Companion to the Irish Novel John Wilson Foster, 2006-12-14 This is the perfect overview of the Irish novel from the seventeenth century to the present day Dandy in Irish and American Southern Fiction Ellen Crowell, 2007-11-19 This book identifies and interprets the longstanding ideological and aesthetic dialogue between the literary imaginations of Anglo Ireland and the Anglo American South It offers a rich comparative examination of nineteenth and twentieth century Irish and American Southern plantation literatures and their respective representations of race and nation gender and sexuality region and landscape and the gothic imagination Pairing major writers from both traditions including Maria Edgeworth William Faulkner Oscar Wilde Katherine Anne Porter and Elizabeth Bowen the book shows how this transatlantic dialogue coalesced around questions of power supremacy and gentility writers in Anglo Irish and Anglo Southern literary traditions recognized and spoke to each other through the discourse of aristocracy As the book demonstrates from the early nineteenth century onwards Irish and Anglo Southern writers conducted a sustained exploration into constructions of aristocracy through the figure of the dissipated deviant gentleman or lady the dandy By augmenting literary analysis with a variety of historical biographical archival and visual materials including nineteenth century trade cards original letters and twentieth century photographic portraits the book offers readers a wide ranging interdisciplinary illumination of transatlantic modernism The Rules of Time R. A. York,1999 This is a study of those aspects of the novel that contribute to the pace and rhythm of reading It claims that those aspects contribute much to the significance of literature because the rhythm of the work becomes an image of the way that time is perceived and the reader's perception of time is profoundly connected with his or her moral sense and feeling of well being In some authors the passage of time is meticulously plotted and reproduced in the sequence of the text in others it is confused and complicated by elisions by disruption of sequence by eccentric or elusive proportion of narrative to the lapse of time by the author's varying distance from the characters and the events they undergo But in all of them time is conspicuous Twentieth century fiction presents itself as a way of coming to terms with the mystery and disquiet we feel when we try to say what time means to us

Recharting the Thirties Patrick J. Quinn,1996 The aim of Recharting the Thirties is to revitalize the awareness of the reading public with regard to eighteen writers whose books have been largely ignored by publishers and scholars since their major works first appeared in the thirties The selection is not based on a political agenda but encompasses a wide and divergent range of philosophies clearly the contrasts between Empson and Upward or between Powell and Slater indicated the wide ranging vision of the period Women writers of the period have largely been marginalized and the writings of Sackville West and Burdekin for example not only present distinct feminine voices of the period but also illuminate how much good literature has been forgotten Five Irish Writers John Hildebidle,1989 Liam O Flaherty Kate O'Brien Elizabeth Bowen Sean O Faolain and Frank O'Connor as Hildebidle demonstrates all five authors saw in the Ireland that grew out of the events of 1916 1923 a nation that stifled the creative energies and bright hopes of its youth and their fiction can be seen as responding in diverse ways to that reality A History of Modern Irish Women's Literature Heather Ingman,Cliona Ó Gallchoir,2018-07-26 This book offers the first comprehensive survey of writing by women in Ireland from the seventeenth century to the present day It covers literature in all genres including poetry drama and fiction as well as life writing and unpublished writing and addresses work in both English and Irish The chapters are authored by leading experts in their field giving readers an introduction to cutting edge research on each period and topic Survey chapters give an essential historical overview and are complemented by a focus on selected topics such as the short story and key figures whose relationship to the narrative of Irish literary history is analysed and reconsidered Demonstrating the pioneering achievements of a huge number of many hitherto neglected writers A History of Modern Irish Women's Literature makes a critical intervention in Irish literary history Lesbian Configurations Renée C. Hoogland,1997 Library Journal
