Food Policy Sub Saharan Africa:

Food Policy in Sub-Saharan Africa, 1994 Chapters collected in this book were all delivered at an NRI IFPRI symposium on critical food policy issues for sub Saharan Africa held in 1993 The symposium brought together specialists on food policy from a number of organizations to discuss current research future research agendas and policy issues and decisions The main issues arising from discussions were how individuals respond to incentives the effects of technology and technology policy the fiscal crisis of the sub Saharan African state and its effect on agriculture and the search for effective means to support civil society Food Policy Issues and Concerns in Sub Saharan Africa International Food Policy Research Institute, 1981-08-31 Frontiers in Food Policy Eds. Falcon and Naylor, Eds., Stanford University. Center on Food Security and the Environment, 2014-06-06 Frontiers in Food Policy Perspectives on sub Saharan Africa is a compilation of research stemming from the Global Food Policy and Food Security Symposium Series hosted by the Center on Food Security and the Environment at Stanford University and funded by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation The series and this volume have brought the world's leading policy experts in the fields of food and agricultural development together for a comprehensive dialogue on pro poor growth and food security policy Participants and contributing authors have addressed the major themes of hunger and rural poverty agricultural productivity resource and climate constraints on agriculture and food and agriculture policy with a focus on sub Saharan Africa Environment and Health in Sub-Saharan Africa: Managing an Emerging Crisis Isaac N. Luginaah, Ernest K. Yanful, 2009-07-07 This book is the second edited compilation of selected refereed papers submitted to ERTEP 2007 The book is organized into 10 chapters along four of the key themes that were discussed at the conference Environmental Health Management Mining and Environment Environmental Monitoring and Policy Development and Sustainability and Social Responsibility It is hoped that the contents of the book will provide an insight into some of the environmental and health management challenges confronting the developing world and the steps being taken to address them The first three chapters under the Environmental Health and Management theme discuss issues related to food security and related environmental distress in sub Saharan Africa Chapter 1 argues that pervasive poverty and low agricultural productivity are important factors in understanding food insecurity in the region and broader global processes are examined This chapter maintains that while poverty undermines individual and household access to sufficient food through market purchase land inequalities corruption structural adjustment programs civil conflict HIV AIDS and the role of the World Trade Organization Agreement on Agriculture are decisive The authors argue that achieving food security in sub Saharan Africa requires policies and actions that are integrated with efforts to reduce poverty enhance livelihoods and incomes and increase agricultural output while also paying attention to underlying structural factors that bear on agriculture in the region Improving Nutrition as a Development Priority Todd David Benson, 2008-01-01 Undernutrition remains a major source of human suffering and an obstacle to national economic and human development in many African countries

This report investigates undernutrition's persistence drawing on case studies of the public response to the problem in Ghana Mozambique Nigeria and Uganda Analyzing each nation's policymaking structures political actors understanding of undernutrition and the timing of public responses the author explains why none of these four nations has mounted an effective campaign to eliminate undernutrition The author identifies several different causes of this shortcoming with one underlying flaw in the various public responses standing out a fundamental failure on the part of political leaders to see undernutrition as a grave problem that undermines development efforts in their nations The author concludes that an effective response to undernutrition in these countries requires the formation of national advocacy coalitions that can raise public awareness of the problem highlight policymakers duty to ensure the nutrition of their citizens and link proper nutrition to general national development This report should serve as a resource for advocates researchers and others concerned with undernutrition in Africa

Youth Employment in Sub-Saharan Africa Deon Filmer, Louise Fox, 2014-01-24 The series is sponsored by the Agence Francaise de Developpement and the World Bank

The Impact of Policy in African Agriculture William Kenneth Jaeger, 1991 Policy in Sub Saharan African countries is linked with the region's agricultural performance Exchange rate policies high taxes on agriculture and government control of export marketing are associated with the deterioration in agricultural export performance in 1970-87 And the policy reforms of the late 1980s where sustained and effective are linked with increased agricultural productivity

Alternative Development Strategies in Sub-Saharan Africa Frances Stewart, Sanjaya Lall, Samuel M. Wangwe, 1992-06-18 The World Bank and the IMF dominate policy making in Africa today This book considers the consistency between their adjustment policies and long run development needs with an analysis of country experience An alternative development strategy is proposed

Food Policy Issues and Concerns in Sub-Saharan Africa, 1981

The EU, World Trade Law and the Right to Food Giovanni Gruni, 2018-08-09 In recent years the European Union has developed a comprehensive strategy to conclude free trade agreements which includes not only prominent trade partners such as Canada the United States and Japan but also numerous developing countries This book looks at the existing WTO law and at the new EU free trade agreements with the Caribbean and sub Saharan Africa through the lens of the human right to adequate food It shows how the clauses on the import and export of food included in recent free trade agreements limit the capacity of these countries to implement food security policies and to respect their human rights obligations This outcome appears to be at odds with international human rights law and dismissive of existing human rights references in EU founding treaties as well as in treaties between the EU and developing states Yet the book argues against the conception in human rights literature that there is an inflexible agenda encoded in world trade law which is fundamentally conflictual with non economic interests The book puts forward the idea that the European Union is perfectly placed to develop a narrative of globalisation considering other areas of public international law when negotiating trade agreements and argues that the EU does have the competences and influence to uphold a role of international leadership in designing a sustainable global trading system Will the EU be ambitious enough A timely contribution to the growing academic literature on the relation between world trade law and international human rights law this book imagines a central role for the EU in reconciling these two areas of international law The Palgrave Handbook of Africa's Economic Sectors Evelyn F. Wamboye,Bichaka Fayissa,2022-05-27 This handbook provides a reference resource to showcase insightful and nuanced perspectives on Africa s agriculture industry services and manufacturing sectors factors affecting the sectors competitiveness and the sectors contribution to employment economic growth and sustainable development It also addresses the potential benefits that the sectors could harness from the planned Continental Free Trade Area CFTA and in particular how CFTA could increase the efficiency and competitiveness of these sectors This book provides evidence based holistic analyses of the past and current state of Africa s economic sectors with a strong emphasis on tangible and specific policy recommendations for the purpose of enhancing future economic growth employment and sustainable development of the continent It also assesses the impact of the first ever Continental Free Trade Area in Africa and its potential implications for Africa s integration into regional and global economy and competitiveness relative to other fast developing economies such as those in Asia This handbook gives an in depth analysis of fundamental domestic factors that have relevance on the sectors expansion and growth and their contributions to employment economic growth and sustainable development in Africa with differential effects across the continent Strategies for Farming Systems Development in Sub-Saharan Africa Ecoregional Program for the Humid and SubHumid Tropics of Sub-Saharan Africa. Scientific Workshop,2003 Agricultural Development in China and Africa Li Xiaoyun,Qi Gubo,Tang Lixia,Zhao Lixia,Jin Leshan,Guo Zhanfeng,Wu Jin,2012-05-04 Many African countries are increasingly interested in learning from China s experiences in achieving effective agricultural development The Chinese government and academic community are also keen to share experiences and lessons with Africa China made agriculture one of its development assistance priorities at the Third FOCAC Summit in Beijing in 2006 This systematic comparative study of agricultural development in China and Africa provides a unique basis for African countries and international organizations seeking to understand agricultural development in China and for China to understand agricultural development on the African continent The book highlights experiences and lessons from China and in particular analyzes why Africa has not yet been able to emulate China s agricultural development trajectory It compares the similarities and discrepancies in conditions processes and outcomes between China and Africa from the perspectives of investment science and technology policies and international development aid Based on this it explores which experiences and lessons from China s agriculture development can be shared with African countries in order to contribute to the sustainable improvement and transformation of African agriculture It does not claim that China has all of the answers but while recognizing the diversity within both China and Africa concludes that much can be gained from such a comparison The Palgrave Handbook of African Political Economy Samuel Ojo Oloruntoba,Toyin Falola,2020-06-23

This handbook constitutes a specialist single compendium that analyses African political economy in its theoretical historical and policy dimensions. It emphasizes the uniqueness of African political economy within a global capitalist system that is ever changing and complex. Chapters in the book discuss how domestic and international political economic forces have shaped and continue to shape development outcomes on the continent. Contributors also provoke new thinking on theories and policies to better position the continent's economy to be a critical global force. The uniqueness of the handbook lies in linking theory and praxis with the past future and various dimensions of the political economy of Africa.

Handbook of Quality of Life in African Societies Irma Eloff, 2019-08-09 This handbook reflects on quality of life in societies on the continent of Africa. It provides a widely interdisciplinary text with insights on quality of life from a variety of scientific perspectives. The handbook is structured into sections covering themes of social context, culture and community, the environment and technology, health, education and family. It is aimed at scholars who are working towards sustainable development at the intersections of multiple scientific fields and it provides measures of both objective and subjective quality of life. The scholarly contributions in the text are based on original research and it spans fields of research such as cultures of positivity, wellbeing, literacy and multilingualism, digital and mobile technologies, economic growth, food and nutrition, health promotion, community development, teacher education and family life. Some chapters take a broad approach and report on research findings involving thousands and in one case millions of participants. Other chapters zoom in and illustrate the importance of specificity in quality of life studies. Collectively, the handbook illuminates the particularity of quality of life in Africa, the unique contextual challenges and the resourcefulness with which challenges are being mediated. This handbook provides empirically grounded conceptualizations about life in Africa that also encapsulate the dynamic, ingenious ways in which we as Africans enhance our quality of life.

Food Policy for Developing Countries Per Pinstrup-Andersen, Derrill D. Watson II, 2011-09-15 Despite technological advances in agriculture, nearly a billion people around the world still suffer from hunger and poor nutrition, while a billion are overweight or obese. This imbalance highlights the need not only to focus on food production but also to implement successful food policies. In this new textbook, intended to be used with the three volumes of Case Studies in Food Policy for Developing Countries, also from Cornell, the 2001 World Food Prize laureate Per Pinstrup-Andersen and his colleague Derrill D. Watson II analyze international food policies and discuss how such policies can and must address the many complex challenges that lie ahead in view of continued poverty, globalization, climate change, food price volatility, natural resource degradation, demographic and dietary transitions and increasing interests in local and organic food production. Food Policy for Developing Countries offers a social entrepreneurship approach to food policy analysis. Calling on a wide variety of disciplines including economics, nutrition, sociology, anthropology, environmental science, medicine and geography, the authors show how all elements in the food system function together.
