Resilient Food Systems and Security Mohamed Behnassi, Abdulmalek A. Al-Shaikh, Riaz Hussain Qureshi, Mirza Barjees Baig, Turki Khalufa A. Faraj, 2024-09-17 This contributed book as a part of a series of CERES publications contributes to the scientific debate about the interlinkages between climate change environment and food systems It highlights the opportunities to accelerate the transformation of such systems within the perspective of sustainable inclusive and climate smart practices Most chapters are based on empirical research particularly done in vulnerable and resource constrained countries from the Global South such as India Kenya Pakistan South Asia Sri Lanka and Vietnam and provide policy oriented inputs and recommendations to guide change processes at multiple scales This project has implications for research innovation and policy design

Methodology for Assessing the Water-food-energy-ecosystem Nexus in Transboundary Basins and Experiences from Its Application Mario Roidt, Lucia de Strasser, 2018 This Synthesis publication covers lessons on interlinkages trade offs and benefits in managing water energy and land agriculture as well as on protecting the environment derived from several transboundary river basins in Southern Europe the Caucasus and Central Asia and one aquifer system in North Africa These lessons are the result of the collective experience of Parties to the Convention on the Protection and Use of Transboundary Watercourses and International Lakes Water Convention and other States joint bodies for transboundary cooperation and other stakeholders who participated in carrying out these assessments from 2013 to 2018 This publication also consolidates the methodology which was developed under the Water Convention specifically for the purpose of assessing nexus issues and identifying solutions in transboundary basins Its development involved a broad range of expertise gradual refinement upon use and an intergovernmental review process The publication was developed in response to a decision by the Meeting of the Parties in 2015 to promote the application of the methodology in other basins worldwide through the sharing of experiences The publication also aims to foster follow up action to the nexus assessments A key dimension of the methodology is the facilitation of multistakeholder dialogues which convene sector Ministries from riparian countries with often diverging interests in developing and benefitting from a river basin be it for irrigated agriculture eco tourism or energy generation With the nexus approach trade offs and impacts but also mutual interests are identified This step is subsequently followed by determining jointly with the authorities and stakeholders packages of policy and technical measures to address the problems identified This intersectoral transboundary dialogue is coupled with a structured analysis considering technical aspects and governance across sectors With this composition the participatory assessment of the nexus applying the methodology provides a better basis from which to address the common challenges of coherence between sectoral policies as well as between environment and climate policies and integrated planning Related shortcomings result in negative impacts causing friction between riparian countries inefficiencies at different levels and missed opportunities for more sustainable and cooperative development The international community explicitly calls for a nexus approach in efforts to implement the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs The assessment process can assist countries seeking to initiate broaden or revisit transboundary cooperation Furthermore the resulting insights can also help reinforce national efforts to optimize resource use e g through improved efficiency improve policy coherence and achieve co management benefits The main audiences for this publication are authorities involved in natural resources management regional organizations and cooperation organizations international organizations bilateral development partners and technical experts Publisher s description TransFEWmation: Towards Design-led Food-Energy-Water Systems for Future Urbanization Rob Roggema,2021-01-27 This book discusses a spectrum of approaches to designing the food energy water nexus at different spatial urban scales The book offers a framework for working on the FEW nexus in a design led context and integrates the design of urban neighbourhoods and regions with methodologies how to simultaneously engaging residents and stakeholders and evaluating the propositions in a FEW print measuring the environmental impact of the different designs The examples are derived from on the ground practices in Sydney Tokyo Detroit Amsterdam and Belfast

Emerging Technologies for the Energy Systems of the Future Amjad Anvari-Moghaddam,Behnam Mohammadi-ivatloo,Fazel Mohammadi,2021-08-30 Energy systems are transiting from conventional energy systems to modernized and smart energy systems This Special Issue covers new advances in the emerging technologies for modern energy systems from both technical and management perspectives In modern energy systems an integrated and systematic view of different energy systems from local energy systems and islands to national and multi national energy hubs is important From the customer perspective a modern energy system is required to have more intelligent appliances and smart customer services In addition customers require the provision of more useful information and control options Another challenge for the energy systems of the future is the increased penetration of renewable energy sources Hence new operation and planning tools are required for hosting renewable energy sources as much as possible Handbook on Climate Change and Disasters Shaw, Rajib,2022-10-13 This comprehensive Handbook assesses the escalation of global natural disasters as a result of climate change Examining the complex interplay of human and natural activities it highlights the growing vulnerability of people and communities in developing countries to floods landslides cyclones heat waves and wildfires Energy Production and Management in the 21st Century V S. Syngellakis,E. Magaril,2022-07-19 The future of energy production operation and management in a changing world was the focus of the 5th International Conference on Energy Production and Management Papers presented at the meeting form this volume A focus is placed on the comparison of conventional energy sources particularly hydrocarbons with a number of other ways of producing energy emphasising new technological developments based on renewable resources such as solar hydro wind and geothermal Key to sustainability is the need to convert new sustainable sources of energy into useful forms electricity heat fuel while finding efficient ways of storage and distribution In many cases the challenges lie as much with the production of such renewable energy at an acceptable cost including damage to the environment as with the integration of those resources into the existing infrastructure The changes required to progress from an economy based mainly on hydrocarbons to one taking advantage of sustainable energy resources are massive and require considerable scientific research as well as the development of advanced engineering systems Such progress demands close collaboration between different disciplines in order to arrive at optimum solutions Also discussed is the energy use of industrial processes including the embedded energy contents of materials such as those in the built environment Energy production operation distribution and usage result in environmental risks that need to be better understood They are part of energy economics and relate to human environmental health as well as ecosystems behaviour An emphasis is placed on the ways in which more efficient use can be made of conventional as well as new energy sources This relates to savings in energy consumption reduction of energy losses as well as the implementation of smart devices and the design of intelligent distribution networks

Sustainability in the Water-Energy-Food Nexus Anik Bhaduri, Claudia Ringler, Ines Dombrowsky, Rabi Mohtar, Waltina Scheumann, 2018-04-19 It is beyond doubt that the interconnectedness between food energy water security and environmental sustainability exists and is getting amplified with increased globalization It has been recognized that efforts to address only one part of a systemic problem by neglecting other inherently interlinked aspects may not lead to desirable and sustainable outcomes In this perspective policy and decision making requires a nexus approach that reduces trade offs and builds synergies across sectors and helps to reduce costs and increase benefits for humans and nature compared to independent approaches to the management of water energy food and the environment In the past work related to the Nexus has looked at the interactions between water and food or water and energy but there has been a reluctance to bring forward a broader systematic perspective that captures the multiple sectors and resource dependencies while understanding its cost to the environment if we neglect these linkages This book is a compilation of thirteen papers published previously as a special issue of Water International contains significant pieces of work on the W E F nexus focusing on relevant tools solutions and governance at local and broader human scales

The Food-Energy-Water Nexus Peter Saundry, Benjamin L. Ruddell, 2020-04-06 This will be the first textbook on the integration of food energy and water systems FEWS In recent years the world has seen a dramatic rise in interdisciplinary energy and environmental courses and degrees at the undergraduate and graduate levels In the US for instance the number and variety of such programs has increased significantly over the past decade Simultaneously national and international initiatives that integrate food energy and water systems have been launched This textbook provides a substantive introduction to the food energy water nexus suitable for use in higher level undergraduate and graduate level courses and for scholars moving into the field of nexus studies without a strong background in all three areas and the many aspects of nexus studies

Water, Energy & Food Sustainability in the Middle East Sohail Murad, Elias Baydoun, Nuhad Daghir, 2017-03-31 This book provides a survey of technologies available to tackle the problems associated with climate change in the energy water and food security nexus with a special focus on the Middle East It is divided into three main sections The energy Section consists of six chapters the water section of seven chapters and finally the food security section has six chapters The individual chapters are authored by experts and provide discussions and in depth views on the current status of each topic Food-energy Nexus and Ecosystem Benjamin Wisner,1986
