Ancient Jewish Food in Its Geographical and Cultural Contexts Susan Weingarten, 2025-03-25. This book is the first in-depth study of food in talmudic literature in its geographical and cultural contexts. It demonstrates the sharing of foods and foodways between Jews and their non-Jewish neighbours in the Near East in Late Antiquity. Using both ancient written sources and archaeological evidence, this book sets the foods of the Mishnah and Palestinian Talmud in their Graeco-Roman context and the foods of the Babylonian Talmud and the Geonim in their Persian and Arab contexts. It explores practices of food preparation and their contribution to the ancient diet as well as analysing the relationships between food, status and culture. The rabbinical authors of talmudic literature were more concerned with everyday food than were aristocratic Classical authors. By examining both talmudic sources and archaeological finds, this book paints a new picture of the diet, lifestyle and culture of ordinary people. Ancient Jewish Food in Its Geographical and Cultural Contexts will interest food historians as well as students and scholars of Jewish Studies, particularly the period of the Mishnah and Talmud as well as those dealing with the wider social and cultural history of the Ancient Near East.

Das Politische der Mahlzeit reicht vom komplexen Setting am Familientisch bis zum Staatsbankett, vom Status einer Speise bis zur Verweigerung von Nahrung im Hungerstreik. Die Beiträge im vorliegenden Band nutzen diese Spannweite, um das Essen als den politischen Brennpunkt auszuloten, den es nicht nur, aber besonders in der Gegenwart darstellt. The political meal encompasses the complex setting of meals at the family table as well as the state banquet; it reaches from the social status of a dish to the refusal of food in a hunger strike. The contributors of this volume use this breadth to examine food and eating as the kind of political arena they constitute, not only but particularly in the present.

Ancient and Traditional Foods, Plants, Herbs and Spices used in the Middle East Rajkumar Rajendram, Victor Preedy, Vinood Patel, 2023-08-25. The use of different foods, herbs and spices to treat or prevent disease has been recorded for thousands of years. Egyptian papyrus hieroglyphics and ancient texts from the Middle East have described the cultivation and preparations of herbs and botanicals to cure the sick. There are even older records from China and India. Some ancient scripts describe the use of medicinal plants which have never been seen within European cultures. Indeed all ancient civilizations have pictorial records of different foods, herbs and spices being used for medical purposes. However, there are fundamental questions and issues pertaining to the scientific evidence for the use of these agents or their extracts in modern medicine. These issues are explored in Ancient and Traditional Foods: Plants, Herbs and Spices used in the Middle East. Features: Describes uses and applications of plant based materials from different countries of the Middle East. Each chapter has unique cross references to foods, herbs, spices and botanicals. Bridges molecular biology, physiology and medical sciences. Coverage includes herbal medicines, supplements, lifestyle patterns, nutrition and plant based diets. Each chapter describes usage and applications of traditional foods and botanicals, historical background, toxicity, cautionary notes and summary points. There have been considerable advances in scientific techniques over the last few decades. These have been used to examine the composition and applications of traditional cures. Modern science has also seen the investigation of herbs, spices and botanicals beyond their traditional usage. Written by international experts, this is an essential read for food researchers, food scientists and nutritionists, researchers and health professionals with an interest in the potential therapeutic value of Middle Eastern food components. The book will also be of relevance to physicians and pharmacologists.
