New Directions in Travel Writing Studies Paul Smethurst, Julia Kuehn, 2015-07-20 This collection focuses attention on theoretical approaches to travel writing with the aim to advance the discourse Internationally renowned as well as emerging scholars establish a critical milieu for travel writing studies as well as offer a set of exemplars in the application of theory to travel writing

Handbook of British Travel Writing Barbara Schaff, 2020-09-07 This handbook offers a systematic exploration of current key topics in travel writing studies It addresses the history impact and unique discursive variety of British travel writing by covering some of the most celebrated and canonical authors of the genre as well as lesser known ones in more than thirty close reading chapters Combining theoretically informed astute literary criticism of single texts with the analysis of the circumstances of their production and reception these chapters offer excellent possibilities for understanding the complexity and cultural relevance of British travel writing

Jews and Journeys Joshua Levinson, Orit Bashkin, 2021-08-06 What happens when Jewish authors whether by force or of their own free will whether in reality or in the imagination travel from one place to another Jews and Journeys explores what it is about travel writing that enables it to become a central mechanism for exploring the realities and fictions of individual and collective identity

The Diary Batsheva Ben-Amos, Dan Ben-Amos, 2020-03-10 The diary as a genre is found in all literate societies and these autobiographical accounts are written by persons of all ranks and positions The Diary offers an exploration of the form in its social historical and cultural literary contexts with its own distinctive features poetics and rhetoric The contributors to this volume examine theories and interpretations relating to writing and studying diaries the formation of diary canons in the United Kingdom France United States and Brazil and the ways in which handwritten diaries are transformed through processes of publication and digitization The authors also explore different diary formats including the travel diary the private diary conflict diaries written during periods of crisis and the diaries of the digital era such as blogs The Diary offers a comprehensive overview of the genre synthesizing decades of interdisciplinary study to enrich our understanding of research about and engagement with the diary as literary form and historical documentation

The Experience of Idling in Victorian Travel Texts, 1850-1901 Heidi Liedke, 2018-08-02 This book brings together theories of spatiality and mobility with a study of travel writing in the Victorian period to suggest that idleness is an important but neglected condition of subjectivity in that era Contrary to familiar stereotypes of the Victorians as characterized by speed work and mechanized travel this book asserts a counter narrative in which certain writers embraced idleness in travel as a radical means to re subjectification and the assertion of a late Romantic sensibility Attentive to the historical and literary continuities between Romantic and Victorian the book reconstructs the Victorian discourse on idleness It draws on an interdisciplinary range of theorists and brings together a fresh selection of accounts viewed through the lens of cultural studies as well as accounts of publication history and author biography Travel texts from different genres by writers such as Anna Mary Howitt Jerome K Jerome and

George Gissing are brought together as representing the different facets of the spectrum of idleness in the Victorian context

English Travel Writing From Pilgrimages To Postcolonial Explorations NA NA, 2019-06-12 Travel writing has gained new appeal and writers from the British Isles have been particularly productive and successful in this genre This volume provides a concise introduction to the basic characteristics and historical development of travel writing as it has emerged in the British Isles from the Middle Ages to the present day Examples considered include many classics such as Defoe Sterne and Smollett Isabella Bird and Mary Kingsley Chatwin and Raban and also lesser known representatives Types of travel writing discussed include pilgrims itineraries exploration writing tourist accounts as well as postmodern varieties The Arabian Desert in English Travel Writing Since 1950 Jenny Walker, 2022-12-30 Broadly this book is about the Arabian desert as the locus of exploration by a long tradition of British travellers that includes T E Lawrence and Wilfred Thesiger more specifically it is about those who since 1950 have followed in their literary footsteps In analysing modern works covering a land greater than the sum of its geographical parts the discussion identifies outmoded tropes that continue to impinge upon the perception of the Middle East today while recognising that the laboured binaries of East and West desert and sown noble and savage have outrun their course Where however only a barren legacy of latent Orientalism may have been expected the author finds instead a rich seam of writing that exhibits diversity of purpose and insight contributing to contemporary discussions on travel and tourism intercultural representation and environmental awareness By addressing a lack of scholarly attention towards recent additions to the genre this study illustrates for the benefit of students of travel literature or indeed anyone interested in Arabia how desert writing under the emerging configurations of globalisation postcolonialism and ecocriticism acts as a microcosm of the kinds of ethical and emotional dilemmas confronting today's travel writers in the world's most extreme regions Visualizing Africa in Nineteenth-Century British Travel Accounts Leila Koivunen, 2008-11-19 This study provides the first sustained analysis of the process by which images of Africa were transformed into the illustrations of the continent that appeared in nineteenth century European travel books Koivunen examines the actual production process of images and the books in which they were published in order to demonstrate how why and by whom the images were manipulated The Role of Religions in the European Perception of Insular and Mainland Southeast Asia Monika Arnez, Jürgen Sarnowsky, 2016-08-17 For people nowadays the constant exchange of people goods and ideas and their interaction across wide distances are a part of everyday life However such encounters and interregional links are by no means only a recent phenomenon although the forms they have taken in the course of history have varied It goes without saying that travel to distant regions was spurred by various interests first and foremost economic and imperialist policies which reached an initial climax around 1500 with the European expansion to the Americas and into the Indian Ocean The motivations of European travellers for venturing to the regions of maritime and mainland Southeast Asia which are the focus of the studies presented here were manifold ranging from the pursuit of power commercial exploitation intellectual curiosity and the aspiration to proselytize among indigenous people This book adds to existing knowledge on travel travel experiences and travel writing by Europeans in mainland and insular Southeast Asia from the 16th to the 21st century based on specific case studies Moreover it demonstrates how Europeans perceived religion in the region presently known as Southeast Asia Working on the assumption that many of the European traders seafarers explorers and administrators arriving in Southeast Asia came as Christians convinced of the superiority of their religion the contributors to this volume analyse their encounters with Muslims who had been their long standing enemies in the Mediterranean and with Hindus Buddhists and adherents of local religions They involve themselves closely with the travelogues and the role of religions therein and in doing so reveal the ways in which religion influenced the travellers understanding of societies in maritime and mainland Southeast Asia The volume explores a number of questions including How did European travellers perceive religion in different regions of Southeast Asia in different historical periods How did the administrators the missionaries the natural historians and the explorers position themselves vis vis Islam and Buddhism on Java and in Siam And what do travel accounts tell us about the way Southeast Asian people perceived the Europeans

The Cambridge Introduction to Travel Writing Tim Youngs, 2013-05-27 Surveying various works of travel literature this text argues that travel writing redefines the myriad genres it often comprises The Anthropological Turn in Literary Studies Jürgen Schläeger, 1996 The Cambridge History of Travel Writing Nandini Das, Tim Youngs, 2019-01-24 Bringing together original contributions from scholars across the world this volume traces the history of travel writing from antiquity to the Internet age It examines travel texts of several national or linguistic traditions introducing readers to the global contexts of the genre From wilderness to the urban from Nigeria to the polar regions from mountains to rivers and the desert this book explores some of the key places and physical features represented in travel writing Chapters also consider the employment in travel writing of the diary the letter visual images maps and poetry as well as the relationship of travel writing to fiction science translation and tourism Gender based and ecocritical approaches are among those surveyed Together the thirty seven chapters here underline the richness and complexity of this genre Pausanias

Pausanias, 2003-10-09 Pausanias the Greek historian and traveler lived and wrote around the second century AD during the period when Greece had fallen peacefully to the Roman Empire While fragments from this period about Pausanias Periegesis description of Greece is the only fully preserved text of travel writing to have survived This collection uses Pausanias as a multifaceted lens yielding indispensable information about the cultural world of Roman Greece

Travellers' Tales of Wonder Simon Cooke, 2013-02-22 Exploring travellers tales of wonder in contemporary literature this study challenges a sensibility of disenchantment with travel It reassesses travel writing as an aesthetically and ethically innovative form in contemporary international literature and demonstrates the crucial role of wonder in the travel narratives of writers such as Bruce Chatwin V S Naipaul and W G Sebald Their travellers tales of wonder are read as a challenge to the hubris of thinking the world too well known and an invitation to encounter the world including its most troubling histories with a sense of wonder

Travels into Print Innes M. Keighren, Charles W. J. Withers, Bill Bell, 2015-05-11 In eighteenth and nineteenth century Britain books of travel and exploration were much more than simply the printed experiences of intrepid authors. They were works of both artistry and industry, products of the complex and often contested relationships between authors and editors, publishers and printers. These books captivated the reading public and played a vital role in creating new geographical truths. In an age of global wonder and of expanding empires, there was no publisher more renowned for its travel books than the House of John Murray. Drawing on detailed examination of the John Murray Archive of manuscripts, images and the firm's correspondence with its many authors, a list that included such illustrious explorers and scientists as Charles Darwin and Charles Lyell, and literary giants like Jane Austen, Lord Byron and Sir Walter Scott, Travels into Print considers how journeys of exploration became published accounts and how travelers sought to demonstrate the faithfulness of their written testimony and to secure their personal credibility. This fascinating study in historical geography and book history takes modern readers on a journey into the nature of exploration, the production of authority in published travel narratives and the creation of geographical authorship, a journey bound together by the unifying force of a world-leading publisher.

Translating Travel Loredana Polezzi, 2017-03-02 Translating Travel examines the relationship between travel writing and translation, asking what happens when books travel beyond the narrow confines of one genre, one literary system and one culture. The volume takes as its starting point the marginal position of contemporary Italian travel writing in the Italian literary system and proposes a comparative reading of originals and translations designed to highlight the varying reception of texts in different cultures. Two main themes in the book are the affinity between the representations produced by travel and the practices of translation and the complex links between travel writing and genres such as ethnography, journalism, autobiography and fiction. Individual chapters are devoted to Italian travellers' accounts of Tibet and their English translations, the hybridization of journalism and travel writing in the works of Oriana Fallaci, Italo Calvino's sublimation of travel writing in the stylized fiction of Le città invisibili and the complex network of literary references which marked the reception of Claudio Magris's Danubio in different cultures.

Cultural Encounters Charles Burdett, Derek Duncan, 2002 The 1930s were one of the most important decades in defining the history of the twentieth century. It saw the rise of right-wing nationalism, the challenge to established democracies and the full force of imperialist aggression. Cultural Encounters makes an important contribution to our understanding of the ideological and cultural forces which were active in defining notions of national identity in the 1930s. By examining the work of writers and journalists from a range of European countries who used the medium of travel writing to articulate perceptions of their own and other cultures, the book gives a comprehensive account of the complex intellectual climate of the 1930s.

Social Functions of Literature Paul Debreczeny, 1997 This study of the effect of literature on readers, both as individuals and as members of social groups, focuses on Russia's national poet Alexander Pushkin as a model for investigating the aesthetic and social functions of literature The individual reader's response to the literary text is demonstrated in Part One through a broad range of memoirs diaries and correspondences in which Russian readers recorded their reactions to Pushkin Among the reactions are testimonies that Pushkin's works helped readers form their personalities provided cathartic relief in times of stress and aided them in releasing their suppressed emotions In his analysis the author draws on various psychological approaches from studies of perception through developmental psychology to psychoanalysis Part Two exposes the extent to which individuals' aesthetic responses are conditioned by their social environment Against the backdrop of Russian social history in the early nineteenth century the author describes the dissemination of new aesthetic norms notably the relations of the Russian literary elite to lowbrow and middlebrow groups In this context he analyzes a number of Pushkin imitations with Pushkin's responses to them and links Nikolai Gogol's development as a writer to the social groups surrounding Pushkin Among the other topics discussed are the popularization of Pushkin on the stage and his inclusion in school textbooks and anthologies The aura surrounding the personality of an author is the subject of Part Three in which the author shows how Pushkin's death in a duel with a foreigner contributed to his emergence as a symbol of the Russian nation and how deep seated anxiety about national identity gave rise to the Pushkin myth and to the canonization of the poet as martyr The author also describes how the combined effect of the widespread reading of Pushkin's work and his legend as martyr allowed him to remain Russia's main mythic figure despite the Soviet Union's attempts to supplant him with Lenin Throughout the book theoretical arguments are buttressed by close readings of Pushkin's works especially The Prisoner of the Caucasus Eugene Onegin Poltava Egyptian Nights and several lyric poems

For Love & Money Jonathan Raban, 1987 The Cambridge Companion to British Literature of the 1930s James Smith, 2019-12-19 The 1930s is frequently seen as a unique moment in British literary history a decade where writing was shaped by an intense series of political events aesthetic debates and emerging literary networks Yet what is contained under the rubric of 1930s writing has been the subject of competing claims and therefore this Companion offers the reader an incisive survey covering the decade's literature and its status in critical debates Across the chapters sustained attention is given to writers of growing scholarly interest to pivotal authors of the period such as Auden Orwell and Woolf to the development of key literary forms and themes and to the relationship between this literature and the decade's pressing social and political contexts Through this the reader will gain new insight into 1930s literary history and an understanding of many of the critical debates that have marked the study of this unique literary era
