Rose, 2013-10-04 Ancient Greek images of disability permeate the Western consciousness Homer Teiresias and Oedipus immediately come to mind But The Staff of Oedipus looks at disability in the ancient world through the lens of disability studies and reveals that our interpretations of disability in the ancient world are often skewed These false assumptions in turn lend weight to modern day discriminatory attitudes toward disability Martha L Rose considers a range of disabilities and the narratives surrounding them She examines not only ancient literature but also papyrus skeletal material inscriptions sculpture and painting and draws upon modern work including autobiographies of people with disabilities medical research and theoretical work in disability studies Her study uncovers the realities of daily life for people with disabilities in ancient Greece and challenges the translation of the term adunatos unable as disabled with all its modern associations From Betty Crocker to Feminist Food Studies Arlene Voski Avakian, 2005-01-01 Sheds light on the history of food cooking and eating This collection of essays investigates the connections between food studies and women s studies From women in colonial India to Armenian American feminists these essays show how food has served as a means to assert independence and personal identity Regional Cuisines of Medieval Europe Melitta Weiss Adamson, 2013-10-14 Expert food historians provide detailed histories of the creation and development of particular delicacies in six regions of medieval Europe Britain France Italy Sicily Spain and the Low Countries Ascetic Eucharists Andrew McGowan, 1999-05-20 The early Eucharist has usually been seen as sacramental eating of token bread and wine in careful or even slavish imitation of Jesus and his earliest disciples In fact the evidence suggests great diversity in its conduct including the use of foods in the first few hundred years Eucharistic meals involving cheese milk salt oil and vegetables are attested and some have argued that even fish was used The most significant exception to using bread and wine however was a bread and water Christian meal an ancient ascetic form of the Eucharist This tradition also involved rejection of meat from general diet and reflected the concern of dissident communities to avoid the cuisine meat and wine characteristic of pagan sacrifice This study describes and discusses these practices fully for the first time and provides important new insights into the liturgical and social history of early Christianity The End of Roman Britain Michael E. Jones,1998 Jones offers a lucid and thorough analysis of the economic social military and environmental problems that contributed to the failure of the Romans drawing on literary sources and on recent archaeological evidence The Diet of John the Baptist James A. Kelhoffer,2005 James A Kelhoffer offers a comprehensive analysis of Mark 1 6c par Matt 3 4c in its socio historical context the Synoptic gospels and subsequent Christian interpretation The first chapter surveys various anecdotes about John s food in the Synoptic gospels and notes that there has never been a consensus in scholarship concerning John s locusts and wild honey Chapters 2 and 3 address locusts as human food and assorted kinds of wild honey in antiquity Chapter 4 considers the different meanings of this diet for the historical Baptist Mark and Matthew Contemporary anthropological and nutritional data shed new light on John s experience as a locust gatherer and assess whether these foods could have actually sustained him in the wilderness The last chapter demonstrates that the most prevalent interpretation of the Baptist s diet from the third through the sixteenth centuries hails John s simple wilderness provisions as a model for believers to emulate A Handbook of Food Processing in Classical Rome David Thurmond,2006-07-01 Rome was able to support a huge urban population by providing it with the rudiments of human nutrition in the form of processed foods This volume contains a careful analysis of those food processes The work is organized on the basis of the presumed importance of those foods beginning with the so called Mediterranean Triad of cereals particularly wheaten bread olive oil and wine then dealing with plant products such as legumes vegetables and fruits then animal products and ending with the condiments salts sugars acids spices which were themselves the agents for the preservation of other foods The work combines analysis of literary and archaeological evidence from antiquity with that of traditional comparative practices and modern food science Connecting Indian Wisdom and Western Science Luisella Verotta,Maria Pia Macchi,Padma Venkatasubramanian,2015-04-24 A truly integrated collection of research Connecting Indian Wisdom and Western Science Plant Usage for Nutrition and Health compares Ayurvedic and Western conceptions of wellness healthy lifestyle and diet Examining the phyto pharmacological phytochemical clinical ethnobotanical sociocultural and biomedical approaches to plant and herb b Anchoring Science and Technology in Greco-Roman Antiquity ,2024-12-19 This collection of essays explores processes of innovation in Greco Roman technology and science It uses the concept of anchoring to investigate the microhistories of technological and scientific practices and ideas The volume combines broad theoretical essays with more targeted case studies of individual inventions and innovations In doing so it moves beyond the emphasis on achievement that has traditionally characterized modern scholarship on ancient technology and science Instead the chapters of this volume analyse the manifold ways in which new technologies and ideas were anchored in what was already known and familiar and highlight how once familiar technologies and ideas could themselves become anchoring points for inventions and innovations
