Culinary Art and Anthropology Joy Adapon, 2008-08-01 Culinary Art and Anthropology is an anthropological study of food. It focuses on taste and flavour using an original interpretation of Alfred Gell's theory of the art nexus. Grounded in ethnography it explores the notion of cooking as an embodied skill and artistic practice. The integral role and concept of flavour in everyday life is examined among cottage industry barbacoa makers in Milpa Alta, an outer district of Mexico City. Women's work and local festive occasions are examined against a background of material on professional chefs who reproduce traditional Mexican cooking in restaurant settings. Including recipes to allow readers to practise the art of Mexican cooking Culinary Art and Anthropology offers a sensual, theoretically sophisticated model for understanding food anthropologically. It will appeal to social scientists, food lovers and those interested in the growing fields of food studies and the anthropology of the senses.

Joining her are Texas Monthly editor Evan Smith and contributors Gary Cartwright, Jordan MacKay, Skip Hollandsworth, Pamela Colloff, Anne Dingus, Suzy Banks, Joe Nick Patoski and Prudence Mackintosh.

Americans at the Table: Reflections on Food and Culture, Santa Fe Elizabeth West, 2012 This question and answer book contains 400 reminders of what is known and what is sometimes forgotten or misunderstood about a city that was founded more than 400 years ago. Not a traditional history book, this group of questions is presented in an apparently random order and the answers occasionally meander off topic as if part of a casual conversation. Passionate
