Leagues Under The Sea Jules Verne, 2021-02-01 Jules Verne a 19th century French author is famed for such revolutionary science fiction novels as Around the World in Eighty Days and Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea. He has sometimes been called the Father of Science Fiction a title that has also been given to H G Wells and Hugo Gernsback. In all Verne authored more than 60 books most notably the 54 novels comprising the Voyages Extraordinaires as well as dozens of plays short stories and librettos. He conjured hundreds of memorable characters and imagined countless innovations years before their time including the submarine space travel terrestrial flight and deep sea exploration. Verne is generally considered a major literary author in France and most of Europe where he has had a wide influence on the literary avant garde and on surrealism. Verne has been the second most translated author in the world since 1979 ranking between Agatha Christie and William Shakespeare. Some of the works appear only in their original French texts due to copyright restrictions.

Sabrina in Space Dennison R. Love,2012-03 The story about a young girl that builds spaceships flies to Mars saves the Earth from a very large asteroid that she captures puts in orbit above the Earth builds a space elevator above her home in Texas and also builds three space elevators on the moon and one on the planet Mars has lots of adventures while traveling around the solar system She is befriended by a humpback whale and saves lots of whales Apocalyptic Transformation Elizabeth K. Rosen,2008-02-15 Since its inception the story of the apocalypse has been used as a means by which to understand the world and one s place in it The appeal of the apocalyptic myth is largely rooted in its ability to make sense of instances of crisis by incorporating those crises into a larger plan for history and an end of time that God has planned Apocalypse is both an organizing principle to be imposed on an overwhelming seemingly disordered universe and a fundamentally moral story which offers hope of a new world where good and evil can be clearly delineated and addressed But all of the traditional functions and comforts of the apocalyptic myth are challenged when the myth collides with postmodernism The characteristics that define a work as postmodern ultimately destabilize the traits that make the apocalyptic myth unique Using the work of Terry Gilliam Don DeLillo Kurt Vonnegut and other writers in the genre Apocalyptic Transformation examines the collision of the postmodern mode and the apocalyptic myth explores the process of secularizing this religious story and the reasons for doing so and asks the question What happens when an author undermines the grand narrative of the apocalypse Are we all modern Robinsons? Juliane Schicker,2008-01-08 Seminar paper from the year 2004 in the subject American Studies Literature grade 1 Otto von Guericke University Magdeburg Institut f r fremdsprachliche Philologien course Alternative and Parallel Englands Swift s Gulliver and Defoe s Robinson in Historical Context language English abstract The foot is a leading theme in Daniel Defoe s Robinson Crusoe The father of a friendly seaman told Robinson that he would not set his foot in the same ship with him again for a thousand pounds There were no footsteps of any human creature in that part of the country where Robinson first landed with his boy Xury In addition the shoes of his fellow seaman that drowned after the shipwreck have no feet in them So there was no life and there were no fellows But when Robinson Crusoe discovered a fresh footprint in the wet sand he knew that there was another living creature on the island al though he had not seen anybody Probably he had to face contact with someone Probably this footprint could change his life Such footprints cross today s peoples lives too Men of our times often see signs of other creatures without knowing who they are or if they are still here These signs need not to be real foot prints they also can be figurative ones crop circles reports of UFO observations or vestiges of water on Mars We are afraid of these footprints we are afraid of the other Those footprints are able to change our lives No one knows if there are other living creatures in the universe We only can assume that if there is for example water living is possible We picture the others to be green men but we only can assume The footprint in the sand is for Robinson absolute proof of the existence of another human being Religious people have the imagina tion of a special Other they see footprints of God covering the whole world and declare them as proof of the existence of a Master But whose footprint was pressed in the sand on Robinson s is land Which consequences had Robinson to face Is there a relation between the discovery of the footprint and the discovery of extra terrestrial beings In this term paper I try to answer these ques tions The sources of literature adequate for my topic are rare Therefore I have three main sources For the first part the essays by Peter Hulme and Wolfgang Mackiewicz and for the second part Wir alle sind Kinder der G tter Wenn Gr ber reden k nnten by Erich von D niken
