Pottery and Economy in Old Kingdom Egypt Leslie Anne Warden, 2013-10-10 In Pottery and Economy in Old Kingdom

Egypt Leslie Anne Warden investigates the economic importance of utilitarian ceramics particularly beer jars and bread moulds in third millennium BC Egypt The Egyptian economy at this period is frequently presented as state centric or state defined This study forwards new methodology for a bottom up approach to Egyptian economy analyzing economic relationships through careful analysis of variation within the utilitarian wares which formed the basis of much economic exchange in the period Beer jars and bread moulds together with their archaeological textual and iconographic contexts thus yield a framework for the economy which is fluid agent based and defined by small scale face to face relationships rather than the state

analysis of identity construction in elite female burial practices This close examination of the archaeology of women's burial presents an opportunity to investigate the social professional and individual identities of women beyond the normative portrayals of the subordinate wife mother and daughter Taking a methodological and material culture based approach which adds new dimensions to scholarly and popular understandings of ancient Egyptian women this fascinating and important study will aid scholars of Egyptian history and archaeology and anyone with an interest in women and gender in the ancient world

Of Courtiers and Kings Tawny L. Holm, 2013-11-14 Holm's book is an innovative approach to the biblical Book of Daniel It places Daniel against the background of story collections an ancient genre that began in Egypt in the mid second millennium B C E This work focuses on Daniel 6 4 and provides detailed comparisons with specific bodies of story collections and other related material from the Ancient Near East In this regard special attention is given to Egyptian court tales a large corpus mostly neglected by previous biblical scholars Thus this book brings new evidence and fresh insights to the field of Daniel studies which in recent years has generated constant interest especially as it pertains to textual issues and literary matters Setting Daniel against an explicit definition of the story collection genre redefines a vast array of questions concerning textual criticism compositional history and the overall nature of the book For instance the divergent texts of the narrative parts of Daniel the Masoretic text and the Greek editions in Theodotion and the Septuagint now need to be described in part as variant editions or tellings of a common core material rather than as translations of older written texts with clearly traceable genealogies When Daniel is studied in the context of story collections and kindred compositions from the Ancient Near Eastern and neighboring literatures new light is shed on the literary traditions and processes from which the Daniel stories arose There are a greater number of court tales and cycles than previously recognized as in the case of Qumran but also the Egypt Demotic corpus The detailed discussion of all these materials allows us to appreciate the Book of Daniel in a much wider literary milieu and it furthers our understanding of the history of its composition and early transmission

Social Aspects of Funerary Culture in the Egy[p]tian Old and Middle Kingdoms Harco Willems, 2001 Although Egyptian tombs and funerary texts have been intensively studied attention has been focused on art historical aspects archaeological documentation and theological content Attention for the relationship between burial practices and society has been restricted The symposium of which this volume presents the proceedings is an attempt to show the scientific potential of the sociology of burial The underlying philosophy is that both archaeological and textual sources are ultimately reflections of one social reality Therefore the volume offers contributions by archaeologists and philologists many of which frequently bridge the gap between the two disciplines Bourriau studies the evolution of body position in burials dating between the late Middle Kingdom and early New Kingdom Delrue reviews a recent interpretation of the predynastic cemetery N7000 at Naga ed Deir Fitzenreiter studies the sociological background of ritual scenes in Old Kingdom mastabas Frandsen's analysis touches upon funerary texts touching on substances inside the body which are considered bwt taboo The point of departure for Muller's study is a group of offering deposits at Tell el dab a which are studied in the light of textual information on ritual practice Seidlmayer argues that burial contexts of the First Intermediate Period at Elephantine reflect the same underlying ideas as contemporary tomb scenes Willems commentary of Coffin Texts spells 30 41 interprets these texts as a coherent mortuary liturgy and discusses the context in which the letters to the dead were transmitted to the deceased
