Wharton is the only American novelist who has dealt successfully and at length with the remains of traditional New York society which barely survived the beginning of the twentieth century. She illuminated as no other novelist of her generation was able to do a major aspect of U.S. social history through the dramatic conflict between the ideals of the old mercantile and the new industrial societies. Nevius also argues that Wharton next to Henry James is our most successful novelist of manners and along with him helped preserve the artistic dignity of the novel.
