Edmund Wilson The Man In The Letters:

Edmund Wilson, the Man in Letters Edmund Wilson, 2001 Here for the first time in print is Wilson's personal correspondence to his parents, lovers and wives, children, literary comrades and friends from the different corners of his life. Various writers and thinkers including Lionel Trilling, Cyril Connolly and Isaiah Berlin take their places alongside upstate New York neighbors in this gallery of letters that extends from the teens to the early 1970s. These letters complete the picture of Wilson, the man offering unguarded moments and flinty opinions that enrich our understanding of a complex and troubled personality. Four times married and many times in love, traveling through Depression America, the USSR, postwar Europe, the Middle East and Haiti and writing on a Balzacian scale, Wilson as a correspondent reveals the exhilaration and chaos of being himself. Edmund Wilson's America George H. Douglas, 2014-10-17 When Edmund Wilson died in 1972, he was widely acclaimed as one of America's great literary critics. But it was often forgotten by many of his admirers that he was also a brilliant and penetrating critic of American life. In a literary career spanning half a century, Wilson commented on nearly every aspect of the American experience and he produced a body of work on the subject that rivals those of Tocqueville and Henry Adams. In this book, George H. Douglas has distilled the essence from Wilson's many writings on America. An active reporter and journalist as much as a scholar, Wilson ranged from Harding to Nixon, from bathtub gin to marijuana. Douglas here surveys Wilson's mordant observations on the roaring twenties, the Great Depression, income tax, suburbia, sex, populist politics, the Vietnam War, the Great Society, the failure of American scholarship, pollution of the landscape and the breakdown of traditional American values. The Wilson who emerges from this survey is a historical writer with deep and unshakable roots in Jeffersonian democracy. Among his most far-seeing and poignant books are studies of the literature of the American Civil War and of the treatment of the American Indian. Pained by the crumbling moral order, Wilson was never completely at home in the twentieth century. In politics, he was neither a liberal nor a conservative as those terms are understood today. He endured those ideologies and their adherents, but his genius was that he could bring them into hard focus from the perspective of the traditional American individualist who was too pained to accept the standardized commercial world that had grown up around him. Edmund Wilson's America offers a distinctive overview of the nation's life and culture as seen and judged by its leading man of letters. Memories of the Moderns Harry Levin, 1980 A collection of Levin's essays, reviews, epistles and personal reminiscences which focus on the idea of modernism within the framework of comparative literature. Among the authors he examines are Ezra Pound, T. S. Eliot, James Joyce, Thomas Mann, Sartre, Auden, Hemingway and I. A. Richards. Allen Tate and His Work Radcliffe Squires, 1972-01-01 Makers of Modern Culture Justin Wintle, 2002 This volume provides lively and clearly written expositions of those figures who have done most to shape our views in the period since 1914. Music, cinema, drama, art, fiction, poetry and philosophy are just some of the fields covered. Distant Intimacy Frederic Raphael, Joseph Epstein, 2013-03-15 DIV This delightful book of writer to writer correspondence joins a full shelf of volumes in the genre yet it is perhaps the first set of such letters ever transacted via the Internet Also unusual at least for correspondents in the twenty first century is that Frederic Raphael and Joseph Epstein have never met nor even spoken to each other But what is most rare about this book is the authors abundant talent for entertaining their readers as much when the topic is grave as when it is droll Raphael and Epstein agree to embark on a year long correspondence but other rules are few As the weeks progress their friendship grows and each inspires the other Almost any topic large or small is considered they write of schooling parents wives children literary tastes enmities delights and beliefs They discuss their professional lives as writers their skills or want of them respective experiences with editors producers and actors and in priceless passages scattered throughout the letters they assess such celebrated figures as Gore Vidal Christopher Hitchens Susan Sontag Annie Leibowitz Malcolm Gladwell Harold Bloom George Steiner Harold Pinter Isaiah Berlin George Weidenfeld and Robert Gottlieb among many others Epstein and Raphael capture a year in their letters but more they invite us into an intimate world where literature cinema and art are keys to self discovery and friendship div

Common Reading Stefan Collini,2008 In this series of penetrating and attractively readable essays Stefan Collini explores aspects of the literary and intellectual culture of Britain from the early twentieth century to the present Collini focuses on critics and historians who wrote for a non specialist readership and on the periodicals and other genres through which they attempted to reach that readership Among the critics discussed are Cyril Connolly V S Pritchett Aldous Huxley Rebecca West Edmund Wilson and George Orwell while the historians include A L Rowse Arthur Bryant E H Carr and E P Thompson There are also essays on wider themes such as the fate of general periodicals the history of reading the role of criticism changing conceptions of culture the limitations of biography and the functions of universities Explicitly addressed to the non specialist reader these essays make some of the fruits of detailed scholarly research in various fields available to a wider audience in a succinct and elegant manner Stefan Collini has been acclaimed as one of the most brilliant essayists of our time and this collection shows him at his subtle perceptive and trenchant best The book will appeal to and delight readers interested in literature history and contemporary cultural debate

A Life in Letters F. Scott Fitzgerald,2010-07-06 A vibrant self portrait of an artist whose work was his life In this new collection of F Scott Fitzgerald's letters edited by leading Fitzgerald scholar and biographer Matthew J Bruccoli we see through his own words the artistic and emotional maturation of one of America's most enduring and elegant authors A Life in Letters is the most comprehensive volume of Fitzgerald's letters many of them appearing in print for the first time The fullness of the selection and the chronological arrangement make this collection the closest thing to an autobiography that Fitzgerald ever wrote While many readers are familiar with Fitzgerald's legendary jazz age social life and his friendships with Ernest Hemingway Gertrude Stein Edmund Wilson and other famous authors few are aware of his writings about his life and his views on writing Letters to his editor Maxwell Perkins illustrate the development of Fitzgerald's literary sensibility those to his friend and competitor Ernest Hemingway reveal their difficult relationship The most poignant letters here were written to his wife Zelda from the time of their courtship in Montgomery Alabama during World War I to her extended convalescence in a sanatorium near Asheville North Carolina Fitzgerald is by turns affectionate and proud in his letters to his daughter Scottie at college in the East while he was struggling in Hollywood For readers who think primarily of Fitzgerald as a hard drinking playboy for whom writing was effortless these letters show his serious painstaking concerns with creating realistic durable art

An Apprehension of Splendor Shawn Sudia-Skehan, 2025-05-31 At the 2017 gathering of the biannual F Scott Fitzgerald Society meeting in St Paul Minnesota a member of the society Shawn Sudia Skehan was asked to mount an exhibit of approximately 60 rare and never before published photographs of F Scott Fitzgerald Zelda Fitzgerald and their daughter Scottie Sudia Skehan had shared many of the photographs the fruits of her own avocational research with the noted Fitzgerald scholars Jackson R Bryer and Kirk Curnutt who are respectively the president and executive director of the Fitzgerald Society They were astonished by what Sudia Skehan had found a wealth of candid images that seemed to be entirely new to even the most seasoned Fitzgerald scholars and researchers The exhibit was a tremendous success and shortly thereafter both Dr Bryer and Dr Curnutt contacted the Press to suggest that we work with Sudia Skehan on the publication of these newly discovered images The author had in fact discovered almost twice as many as were exhibited at the conference by combing through archives at Princeton University the University of South Carolina libraries Yale University's Beinecke Library the Alabama Department of Archives and History and a number of other institutional repositories A number of the images had been overlooked or buried many others came from the archives of close friends and associates of the Fitzgeralds whose own papers had never been scrutinized specifically for photographs of the Fitzgeralds These are intimate candid and personal photographs from the childhoods of both Scott and Zelda through their teenage years the tumultuous years of their marriage both in the United States and abroad and through their daughter Scottie's birth and emergence into adulthood The original conception of the book was for a simple selection of 80 to 120 photographs accompanied by the author's captions But as the project evolved through multiple drafts and the discovery of many more new and rare photographs along with the clear need for more detailed contextualization to make sense of each image in the larger arc of the Fitzgeralds' lives the project evolved into a true pictorial biography of the trio The Press now plans to publish a book of approximately 300 photographs Of those 180 have never before been published Most of the others have appeared occasionally but rarely As Jackson Bryer noted in his review of the latest draft she includes almost none of the iconic Fitzgerald photos with which we are all familiar Because the author is neither a credentialed scholar critic or historian but rather a deeply committed avocational student of the Fitzgeralds' art and lives Drs Bryer and Curnutt have reviewed and advised Sudia Skehan at each stage of the project's development correcting factual errors in her narrative suggesting additional context for certain images counseling for the inclusion of certain images and against others With their oversight Bryer has agreed to provide a scholarly introduction to the volume the Press feels assured that we will be publishing a pictorial biography of these legendary figures in American letters that will be a revelation to seasoned Fitzgerald scholars and an ideal accessible introduction to any lay reader with an interest in learning more about these rich complex figures and the storied lives they led

An Appointment with Somerset Maugham Richard Hauer Costa, 1994 Now just ask yourself Maugham said without the least suggestion of a stutter wouldn't it be a dreadful world if pleasure ruled But pleasure has ruled Richard Costa's world the pleasure of books and their writers In this charming and insightful reminiscence he introduces readers to a host of literary lives that have touched him Somerset Maugham H G Wells Malcolm Lowry Conrad Aiken Edmund Wilson Kingsley Amis Dorothy Parker Edith Wharton and others The journey of the mind and heart Costa traces has some illustrious guides Reading and re-reading the works of memorable writers of our time interviewing them and writing about them he has woven literature into his life in a way that provides illumination and just plain interest for those who read the story here In his intellectual and literary chronicle readers will find much humor much memory and much food for thought
