Education in Arab Countries of the Near East Roderic Donald Matthews, Matta Akrawi, 1949      Education in Arab Countries of the Near East Roderic D. Matthews, 2007-03 PREFACE THE Author of this very practical treatise on Scotch Loch Fishing desires clearly that it may be of use to all who had it He does not pretend to have written anything new but to have attempted to put what he has to say in as readable a form as possible Everything in the way of the history and habits of fish has been studiously avoided and technicalities have been used as sparingly as possible The writing of this book has afforded him pleasure in his leisure moments and that pleasure would be much increased if he knew that the perusal of it would create any bond of sympathy between himself and the angling community in general This section is interleaved with blank sheets for the readers notes The Author need hardly say that any suggestions addressed to the case of the publishers will meet with consideration in a future edition We do not pretend to write or enlarge upon a new subject Much has been said and written and well said and written too on the art of fishing but loch fishing has been rather looked upon as a second rate performance and to dispel this idea is one of the objects for which this present treatise has been written Far be it from us to say anything against fishing lawfully practised in any form but many pent up in our large towns will bear us out when we say that on the whole a days loch fishing is the most convenient One great matter is that the loch fisher is dependent on nothing but enough wind to curl the water and on a large loch it is very seldom that a dead calm prevails all day and can make his arrangements for a day weeks beforehand whereas the stream fisher is dependent for a good take on the state of the water and however pleasant and easy it may be for one living near the banks of a good trout stream or river it is quite another matter to arrange for a days river fishing if one is looking forward to a holiday at a date some weeks ahead Providence may favour the expectant angler with a good day and the water in order but experience has taught most of us that the good days are in the minority and that as is the case with our rapid running streams such as many of our northern streams are the water is either too large or too small unless as previously remarked you live near at hand and can catch it at its best A common belief in regard to loch fishing is that the tyro and the experienced angler have nearly the same chance in fishing the one from the stern and the other from the bow of the same boat Of all the absurd beliefs as to loch fishing this is one of the most absurd Try it Give the tyro either end of the boat he likes give him a cast of all flies he may fancy or even a cast similar to those which a crack may be using and if he catches one for every three the other has he may consider himself very lucky Of course there are lochs where the fish are not abundant and a beginner may come across as many as an older fisher but we speak of lochs where there are fish to be caught and where each has a fair chance Again it is said that the boatman has as much to do with catching trout in a loch as the angler Well we dont deny that In an untried loch it is necessary to have the guidance of a good boatman but the same argument holds good as to stream fishing      Education in Arab Countries of the Near East, by Roderic D. External Research Division, 1966      Information on Education Around the World, 1961      Education in Modern Egypt (RLE Egypt) Georgie Hyde, 2013-01-03 This study gives a comprehensive account of the evolution of the educational system in Modern Egypt set against the events of the last twenty five years From the Revolution of 1952 which saw the breakdown of the party system seen as sham democracy to the re adoption of the party system in 1976 the Egyptian government has searched for an ideal system that is secular but not irreligious and benefitting from but not copying the western or eastern models Professor Hyde has analysed the problems of the educational system administrative institutional theoretical and practical and related them to Egypt's urgent need to modernise the state and to improve the quality of life of her hitherto deprived masses The deficiencies of the system are discussed with emphasis on the attempts to provide solutions mainly within the framework of reformed institutions Informal and private education literacy campaigns women's aspirations and student welfare are all considered as are policies and plans for the immediate and long term solutions of Egypt's problems The analysis also takes into account socio economic factors in post Revolutionary Egypt which not only constitute instruments of change in Egyptian society but also provide the restraints which prevent the rapid translation of educational ideals into reality First published 1978      Arab-Islamic Education Systems in the Experience of Migrants and Refugees in Europe Sara Mazzei, 2025-03-15 In the last decade Europe has welcomed numerous migrants and refugees from Arab countries Their scholastic inclusion has been challenging and the teaching staff had to sometimes deal with unfamiliar realities The issue has been addressed by various perspectives from sociology to psychology insights from which are gathered in intercultural education In it there are scarcity of studies that delve into pupils cultural backgrounds and countries of origin's history is seldom regarded as a decisive factor in the formation of identity Among Arabic speaking communities the Moroccan and Syrian ones are the most significant and Morocco and Syria have interesting histories and education systems Using Nussbaum's 2010 multifactorial analysis this research aims to better understand the educational universe where Arabic speaking pupils come from focusing on humanities and religious education in the experience of pupils especially from Morocco and Syria Methodology comprehends qualitative empirical research conducted in Europe Results show the differences experienced by pupils in their educational paths among diverse Arab and European countries and the more sensitive topics they encounter in their education in Europe in relation to their identity

Government and Society in Rural Palestine, 1920-1948 Ylana Miller, 2014-07-03 In 1947 Arabs made up two thirds of the population of Palestine and they owned most of its cultivable land Why then did they lose their homes and land to a relatively small Jewish community just emerging from the shocks of World War II Did the Palestinians lose their homeland because they were backward primitive and reactionary Or was Israel the product of persistent victimization of Palestinian Arabs by an imperialist power which supported Zionist colonization Did the Palestinians sell each other out Or were they helpless sufferers in the face of a sophisticated enemy with endless resources Too often discussions of Palestine are couched in such rhetorical language based on the assumption that either Jews or Arabs are morally to blame for historical realities This study seeks to go beyond attributions of responsibility to investigate the concrete conditions which determined and limited Palestinian Arab actions between 1920 and 1948 It was during that period while Great Britain governed the area under a League of Nations mandate that Palestine both emerged and disappeared as a modern political entity Many studies of Palestinian Arab nationalism have looked to Zionism as the primary agent of change in the region Miller assumes the impact of Jewish settlement but goes beyond these earlier studies to explore the way in which policies of the Palestine government affected the daily lives of villagers the majority of the population and their understanding of the changes occurring around them In this way what emerges is a detailed analysis of the influence for good or ill that government policy had on village community life Based largely on archival sources never before used this work allows the reader to gain a deeper appreciation of the internal life of the rural community which had previously received relatively little attention Understanding the experiences of Palestinians before 1948 helps us to comprehend immeasurably better the continuity of movements for Palestinian statehood as well as the continuing tensions and problems on the West Bank today

Higher Education Revolutions in the Gulf Fatima Badry, John Willoughby, 2015-10-08 Over the past quarter century the people of the Arabian Peninsula have witnessed a revolutionary transformation in higher education In 1990 there were fewer than ten public universities that offered their Arabic language curricula in sex segregated settings to national citizens only In 2015 there are more than one hundred public semi public and private colleges and universities Most of these institutions are open to expatriates and national citizens a few offer gender integrated instruction and the language of instruction is much more likely to be in English than Arabic Higher Education Revolutions in the Gulf explores the reasons behind this dramatic growth It examines the causes of the sharp shift in educational practices and analyses how these new systems of higher education are regulated evaluating the extent to which the new universities and colleges are improving quality Questioning whether these educational changes can be sustained the book explores how the new curricula and language policies are aligned with official visions of the future Written by leading scholars in the field it draws upon their considerable experiences of teaching and doing research in the Arabian Gulf as well as their different disciplinary backgrounds linguistics and economics to provide a holistic and historically informed account of the emergence and viability of the Arabian Peninsula s higher education revolutions Offering a comprehensive critical assessment of education in the Gulf Arab states this book represents a significant contribution to the field and will be of interest to students and scholars of Middle East and Gulf Studies and essential for those focused on higher education      Education in the Arab World Serra Kirdar,2017-06-29 Education in the Arab World is a critical reference guide to development of education in Algeria Bahrain Egypt Iraq Jordan Kuwait Lebanon Libya Morocco Oman Palestine Qatar Saudi Arabia Sudan Syria Tunisia the United Arab Emirates and Yemen The chapters written by local experts provide an overview of the education system in each country as well as discussion of educational reforms and socio economic and political issues Including a comparative introduction to the issues facing education in the region as a whole this book is an essential reference for researchers scholars international agencies and policy makers      International Educational and Technical Exchange, Report United States.
