Educational Research Difference And Diversity:

Educational Research Heather Piper, Ian Stronach, 2004 In the first chapter of this collection Liz Stanley calls for a more sympathetic and compassionate approach to educational research Other essays question current methodologies and approaches reflecting the remit of this Cardiff series

Educational Research and Innovation Educating Teachers for Diversity Meeting the Challenge OECD, 2010-02-25 This publication sheds light on the evidence base that can be used to redesign initial and continuing teacher education to help practitioners effectively teach diverse students

Visual Research Methods in Educational Research Julianne Moss, Barbara Pini, 2016-04-12 Have you noticed there is a burgeoning take up of visual research in education Are you considering using visual research as part of your next research project or revitalising your research methods course For researchers who are new to the field of VRMs in education there is little critical literature on the subject This book addresses the gap in the literature and brings together some of the leading educational researchers engaging and reflecting on the visual from Australia the UK and Canada Encapsulated in a single volume this book sets out theoretically grounded discussions of the possibilities and challenges of the approach for educational researchers around four key themes images of schooling performing pedagogy power and representation and ethical issues in educational research

Research Mosaics of Language Studies in Asia Differences and Diversity (Penerbit USM) Salasiah Che Lah, Rita Abdul Rahman Ramakrishna, This book gives readers a present and critical view of different language and linguistic issues in selected Asian contexts The language aspect of the manuscript explores various areas of English language learning and teaching while the linguistic aspect looks at different fields such as sociolinguistics semantics stylistics corpus based studies translation studies and cultural studies These aspects also provide distinct tangents in researching language for they offer significant points of view and outcomes in understanding the influence and or the function of cultures when dealing with either spoken or written discourses involving native or non native speakers Such dynamics are instrumental in bringing about wider range of topics pertinent to the transdisciplinary nature of the current research theme in this part of the world Substantially the major sub disciplines included in the manuscript frame both theoretical and hands on implications for more rigorous innovations and expansions in the respective area of investigation

Celebrating Diversity in Becoming an Educational Researcher Debra McGregor, Sarah Frodsham, Sibel Erduran, 2024-11-13 This book offers a collection of 15 reflective biographical accounts of teachers scientists a childhood author a philosopher a dancer and other academics journeys to becoming educational researchers The personal and professional stories highlight for any would be doctoral student researcher or educationalist the challenges and problem resolutions to becoming a researcher The reflective aspects of the narrated stories also include what I wish I knew before I embarked upon the researcher journey These wise words drawing on lived experiences are useful for educational researchers educational policymakers drawing on research and also those responsible for designing doctoral programmes The penultimate chapter also introduces the passionate voices of the authors that convey the true reality of learning as they develop their identities appropriate new forms of knowledge knowing and understandings In addition to this the use of metaphors brings alive each authors experiences to demonstrate how this journey is profoundly transformational for everyone

Education, Culture and Epistemological Diversity Claudia W. Ruitenberg,D.C. Phillips,2011-09-24 In the recent educational research literature it has been asserted that ethnic or cultural groups have their own distinctive epistemologies and that these have been given short shrift by the dominant social group Educational research then is pursued within a framework that embodies assumptions about knowledge and knowledge production that reflect the interests and historical traditions of this dominant group In such arguments however some relevant philosophical issues remain unresolved such as what claims about culturally distinctive epistemologies mean precisely and how they relate to traditional epistemological distinctions between beliefs and knowledge Furthermore can these ways of establishing knowledge stand up to critical scrutiny This volume marshals a variety of resources to pursue such open questions in a lively and accessible way a critical literature review analyses from philosophers of education who have different positions on the key issues a roundtable discussion and interactions between the two editors who sometimes disagree It also employs the work of prominent feminist epistemologists who have investigated parallel issues with sophistication This volume does not settle the question of culturally distinctive epistemologies but teases out the various philosophical sociological and political aspects of the issue so that the debate can continue with greater clarity

Diversity, Difference and Social Justice in Physical Education Bonnie Pang,Tony Rossi,2021-10-21 This book presents a detailed analysis of the experiences of minority ethnic physical education PE teachers in both schools and higher education contexts It examines and questions the lack of ethnic diversity in PE teacher education in high income developed countries and suggests important new directions for transformative pedagogy to address the whiteness of PE The book draws on auto ethnographical research conducted in Sydney Australia one of the world s most culturally diverse cities and in cities of the United Kingdom The study is rooted in the concept of trans locality the networks that extend beyond the immediate community It explores the challenges faced by PE teachers in culturally diverse workplaces and the interconnections between place institutions and the parallel processes of mobility and globalisation To understand and theorise the myriad of interactions and practice around diversity differences and social justice among lecturers teachers and students across the two locations the book offers an emerging area of scholarship that focuses on a trans local perspective in diversity and inclusion in Physical Education Teacher Education PETE

Diversity in Environmental Education Research ,2009-01-01 Research in environmental education EE is a growing field of inquiry and should be seen as respondent to a variety of program developments around the world These diverse programs are the context for this body of educational research Diversity in EE research is also compounded when one considers the various cultures epistemologies and research traditions that may inform the field This complexity accounts for the range of forms for environmental learning in formal informal or non formal contexts There is a good deal of evidence that in order to be more responsive to the needs of diverse populations program developments around the world are now beginning to reflect the variation in our society However the same cannot always be said in terms of research methodologies within mainstream environmental education research Outside of a few examples there seems to have been very little in the way of development of research genres aimed at understanding characterizing and supporting cultural diversity within much of mainstream environmental education Diversity of method may also be important for the overall quality or health of environmental education research To locate many of the new ideas and approaches in this area one needs to look outside environmental education towards general educational research or to other fields such as environmental justice indigenous education science education and health education to name only a few examples This volume of original research reports from around the globe begins to richly describe aspects of diversity in environmental education research It does so in two ways first it mirrors the diversity of voices and cultures that are conducting research in this ever broadening and increasingly global and international field of inquiry second it illuminates a potential diversity of research methods by highlighting a range of methodologies salient in other fields which have emerging promise for the practice of research in environmental education

The Politics of Diversity in Music Education Alexis Anja Kallio, Heidi Westerlund, Sidsel Karlsen, Kathryn Marsh, Eva Sæther, 2021-03-19 This open access book examines the political structures and processes that frame and produce understandings of diversity in and through music education Recent surges in nationalist fundamentalist protectionist and separatist tendencies highlight the imperative for music education to extend beyond nominal policy agendas or wholly celebratory diversity discourses Bringing together high level theorisation of the ways in which music education upholds or unsettles understandings of society and empirical analyses of the complex situations that arise when negotiating diversity in practice the chapters in this volume explore the politics of inquiry in research examine music teachers navigations of the shifting political landscapes of society and state extend conceptualisations of diversity in music education beyond familiar boundaries and critically consider the implications of diversity for music education leadership Diversity is thus not approached as a label applied to certain individuals or musical repertoires but as socially organized difference produced and manifest in various ways as part of everyday relations and interactions This compelling collection serves as an invitation to ongoing reflexive inquiry to deliberate the politics of diversity in a fast changing and pluralist world and together work towards more informed and ethically sound understandings of how diversity in music education policy practice and research is framed and conditioned both locally and globally

Critical Theory and Educational Research Peter McLaren, James M. Giarelli, 1995-03-30 Applies European critical theory to North American educational research

Global Perspectives on Education Research, Vol. II Liesel Ebersöhn, Ingrid Gogolin, 2023-05-31 Presenting a wide range of new research from World Education Research Association WERA affiliated scholars pertaining to democracy and education this volume including topics such as school readiness in Mongolia high stakes teacher evaluation policy in Japan and family and community involvement in global educational advocacy This collection arrives at a time of extreme global challenges leaving researchers teachers students families and policymakers without a baseline of how to act react and be proactive to stem the chronic flow of disruption to global education systems These challenges require researchers worldwide to consider how evidence can support individuals and systems to buffer against extreme global health distress and conflict whilst simultaneously supporting the continued functioning of education systems and processes Such processes must allow students teachers leaders administrators and members of the educational communities to retain positive self esteem and maintain supportive relationships and systems that provide the appropriate conditions for such processes Global Perspectives on Education Research pulls together contributions from different contexts and cultures to distil vistas and research results that can enlighten a worldwide community of researchers education professionals and practitioners as well as policymakers and local national or supra national decision makers This text is also the ideal companion for educators and leaders alike as they navigate the uncertainty within global health and social justice Cultural Diversity and Education James A.

Diversity and Education. Nordic Perspectives Geir Skeie, 2009 In the last ten years or so religious plurality has become higher on the agenda for religious education research in the Nordic countries This attention to religious plurality partly reflects processes of globalisation that include both physical migration and communication of ideas and issues across the world making it smaller It also reflects the preoccupation of governments with social cohesion and as part of this intercultural education In the curricula of the Nordic countries this is manifested in different ways setting also the agenda for parts of educational research This book addresses issues related to the increasing religious plurality in the Nordic countries These issues are a challenge to many religious groups including historically dominant Lutheran national churches both nationally and locally They have also led to a reorientation in religious education research in the last decade A rich variety of research perspectives are presented under three headings Theoretical and methodical perspectives The world of the students Teachers and textbooks Nordic religious education research here proves to be internationally oriented in terms of theoretical perspectives whilst also contributing to the debate through important empirical studies Examples of issues covered in the book are unintended learning dialogue gender life interpretation spirituality identity and values In different ways all the contributions in this book shed light on the common theme of diversity and are based on a will to include diverse perspectives both on the actors and the material of the classroom as well as on the life world of young people The researchers represent different generations and different theoretical and methodological perspectives

Troubling Notions of Global Citizenship and Diversity in Mathematics Education Anna Chronaki, Ayşe Yolcu, 2025-03-06 This edited volume explores how mathematics education is re configured in relation to its past present and future when the rhetoric of critical global citizenship education is being applied to diverse local settings Drawing upon diverse theoretical and methodological traditions across the globe including countries in South America Asia Australia and Europe each chapter challenges and eventually troubles the wide circulation of a universal imagery of citizenship based on mathematical competence in not only curriculum school reforms and policy but also in teaching and learning practices Troubling the Euro centric and global notions of citizenship and diversity the book foregrounds local practices in mathematics education to portray a broader picture for the current problems of equity social justice and democracy The book also engages with critical discussions on how citizens and noncitizens are being fabricated in the context of educational policies and specific mathematical practices First of its kind to trouble what is at stake when mathematics education is framed within the discourses of citizenship globally through challenging and problematising what is understood as normal this book will be of relevance to scholars academics and researchers in the field of sociology of education anthropology of education philosophy of education mathematics education citizenship studies and international and comparative education
