Zahniser, 2013-04-15 Demonstrating the power religious language ideas and institutions had in shaping progressive reform in Pittsburgh this cross disciplinary study addresses significant debates in the fields of Progressive Era political history and American religious history while telling the story of an industrial city in a crucial era of change God's Plenty William Closson James, 2011-09-20 God s Plenty examines the religious landscape of Kingston Ontario in the twenty first century The rich religious life of Kingston a mid sized city with a strong sense of its history and its status as a university town is revealed in a narrative that integrates material from sociological and historical studies websites interviews religious and literary scholarship and personal experience In Kingston as in every Canadian city downtown parishes and congregations have dwindled disappeared or moved to the suburbs Attendance at mainline churches and their political authority has declined Ethnic diversity has increased within Christian churches while religious communities beyond Christianity and Judaism have grown Faith groups have split along liberal and conservative lines and the number of those claiming to have no religion or to be spiritual but not religious has increased Yet amidst all this religion continues to be evident in institutions and public life and important to the lives of many Canadians God s Plenty a ground breaking contribution to the study of religion in Canada and a model for future community based research is the first overview of the religious topography of a Canadian city telling the story of various faith communities and adding to the study of religious diversity and multiculturalism Spiritualizing the City Victoria Hegner, Peter Jan Margry, 2016-11-25 Urban spaces have always functioned as cradles and laboratories for religious movements and spiritualities The urban forms a central and nourishing agent for the creation of new religious expressions and continually negotiates new ways of being spiritual and establishing spiritual ideas and practices This book explores the intense and complex interplay between the post modern city and new religious and spiritual movement bringing the city and its annexes into the foreground of current research into religion It develops a new ethnography based analysis of the ways in which the pluralist experience of the urban inscribes itself into various religious practices and vice versa how do religiosity and spirituality appropriate and transform meanings of the urban It focuses on new religious expressions cosmologies and ways of life that go beyond established belief systems and religious understandings and explores new conceptions of the word urban in a world of increasingly extended urban environments The book examines how cities are both considered as sites and sources of spirituality where the globalization of religions takes place as well as the fact that globalization is linked closely to the process of localization The socio cultural and political uniqueness of the specific urban context are analyzed to present an innovative perspective on how the interplay between the urban spiritual and religious should be understood This book brings a timely new perspective and will be of interest to academics and students in geography sociology urban studies cultural studies and anthropology as well as for urban planners and policy makers

Encountering the City Jonathan Darling, Helen F. Wilson, 2016-07-15 Encountering the City provides a new and sustained engagement with the concept of encounter Drawing on cutting edge theoretical work classic writings on the city and rich empirical examples this volume demonstrates why encounters are significant to urban studies politically philosophically and analytically Bringing together a range of interests from urban multicultural systems of economic regulation security and suspicion to more than human geographies soundscapes and spiritual experience Encountering the City argues for a more nuanced understanding of how the concept of encounter is used This interdisciplinary collection thus provides an insight into how scholars writing on and in the city mobilise theorise and challenge the concept of encounter through empirical cases taken from Africa Asia Australia Europe North America and South America These cases go beyond conventional accounts of urban conviviality to demonstrate how encounters destabilise rework and produce difference fold together complex temporalities materialise power and transform political relations In doing so the collection retains a critical eye on the forms of regulation containment and inequality that shape the taking place of urban encounter Encountering the City is a valuable resource for students and researchers alike

Early Christian Encounters with Town and Countryside Markus Tiwald, Jürgen Zangenberg, 2021-04-12 Ever since Jesus walked the hills of Galilee and Paul travelled the roads of Asia Minor and Greece Christianity has shown a remarkable ability to adapt itself to various social and cultural environments Recent research has demonstrated that these environments can only be very insufficiently termed as rural or urban Neither was Jesus Galilee only rural nor Paul's Asia only urban On the background of ongoing research on the diversity of social environments in the Early Empire this volume will focus on various early Christian worlds as witnessed in canonical and non canonical texts How did Early Christians experience and react to rural and urban life What were the mechanisms behind this adaptability Papers will analyze the relation between urban Christian beginnings and the role of the rural Jesus tradition In what sense did the image of Jesus the Galilean village Jew change when his message was carried into the cities of the Mediterranean world from Jerusalem to Athens or Rome Papers will not only deal with various personalities or literary works whose various attitudes towards urban life became formative for future Christianity They will also explore the different local milieus that demonstrate the wide range of Christian cultural perspectives Urban Geopolitics Jonathan Rokem, Camillo Boano, 2017-08-21 In the last decade a new wave of urban research has emerged putting comparative perspectives back on the urban studies agenda However this research is frequently based on similar case studies on a few selected cities in America and Europe and all too often focus on the abstract city level with marginal attention given to particular local contexts Moving away from loosely defined urban theories and contexts this book argues it is time to start learning from and compare across different contested cities It questions the long standing Euro centric academic knowledge production that is prevalent in urban studies and planning research This book brings together a diverse range of international case studies from Latin America South and South East Asia Eastern Europe Africa and the Middle East to offer an in depth understanding of the worldwide contested nature of cities in a wide range of local contexts It suggests an urban ontology that moves beyond the urban West and North as well as adding a comparative relational understanding of the contested nature that Southern cities are developing This timely contribution is essential reading for those working in the fields of human geography urban studies planning politics area studies and sociology Religious Pluralism and the City Helmuth Berking, Silke Steets, Jochen Schwenk, 2018-04-05 Religious Pluralism and the City challenges the notion that the city is a secular place and calls for an analysis of how religion and the city are intertwined It is the first book to analyze the explanatory value of a number of typologies already in use around this topic from holy city to secular city from fundamentalist to postsecular city By intertwining the city and religion urban theory and theories of religion this is the first book to provide an international and interdisciplinary analysis of post secular urbanism The book argues that given the rise of religiously inspired violence and the increasing significance of charismatic Christianity Islam and other spiritual traditions the master narrative that modern societies are secular societies has lost its empirical plausibility Instead we are seeing the pluralization of religion the co existence of different religious worldviews and the simultaneity of secular and religious institutions that shape everyday life These particular constellations of religious pluralism are above all played out in cities Including contributions from Peter L Berger and Nezar Alsayyad this book conceptually and empirically revokes the dissolution between city and religion to unveil its intimate relationship and offers an alternative view on the quotidian state of the global urban condition America's Urban History Lisa Krissoff Boehm, Steven Hunt Corey, 2014-10-30 The history of the American city is in many ways the history of the United States Although rural traditions have also left their impact on the country cities and urban living have been vital components of America for centuries and an understanding of the urban experience is essential to comprehending America's past. America's Urban History is an engaging and accessible overview of the life of American cities from Native American settlements before the arrival of Europeans to the present-day landscape of suburban sprawl, urban renewal, and a heavily urbanized population. The book provides readers with a rich chronological and thematic narrative covering themes including the role of cities in the European settlement of North America, cities and westward expansion, social reform in the industrialized cities, the impact of the New Deal, the growth of the suburbs, the relationships between urban forms and social issues of race, class, and gender. Covering the evolving story of the American city with depth and insight, America's Urban History will be the first stop for all those seeking to explore the American urban experience.

Affect in Relation Birgitt Röttger-Rössler, Jan Slaby, 2018-05-11. Decades of research on affect and emotion have brought out the paramount importance of affective processes for human lives. Affect in Relation brings together perspectives from social science and cultural studies to analyze the formative subject-constituting potentials of affect and emotion. Relational affect is understood not as individual mental states but as social relational processes that are both formative and transformative of human subjects. This volume explores relational affect through a combination of interdisciplinary case studies within four key contexts: Part I, Affective Families, deals with the affective dynamics in transnational families who are scattered across several regions and nations; Part II, Affect and Place, brings together work on affective place-making in the contexts of migration and in political movements; Part III, Affect at Work, analyzes the affective dimension of contemporary white-collar workplaces; Part IV, Affect and Media, focuses on the role of media in the formation and mobilization of relational affect. In its transdisciplinary spirit, analytical rigor, and focus on timely and salient global matters, Affect in Relation consolidates the field of affect studies and opens up new avenues for scholarly and practical cooperation. It will appeal to both students and postdoctoral researchers interested in fields such as anthropology, sociology, cultural studies, media studies, and human development.

A Nation of Religions Stephen Prothero, 2007-09-06. The United States has long been described as a nation of immigrants, but it is also a nation of religions in which Muslims and Methodists, Buddhists and Baptists live and work side by side. This book explores that nation of religions, focusing on how four recently arrived religious communities—Muslims, Buddhists, Hindus, and Sikhs—are shaping and in turn shaped by American values. For a generation, scholars have been documenting how the landmark legislation that loosened immigration restrictions in 1965 catalyzed the development of the United States as a nation of Buddhists, Confucianists, and Taoists as well as Christians. As Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark put it, "The contributors to this volume take U.S. religious diversity not as a proposition to be proved but as the truism it has become." Essays address not whether the United States is a Christian or a multireligious nation; clearly, it is both, but how religious diversity is changing the public values, rites, and institutions of the nation and how those values, rites, and institutions are affecting religions centuries old yet relatively new in America. This conversation makes an important contribution to the intensifying public debate about the appropriate role of religion in American politics and society Contributors Ihsan Bagby University of Kentucky Courtney Bender Columbia University Stephen Dawson Forest Virginia David Franz University of Virginia Hien Duc Do San Jose State University James Davison Hunter University of Virginia Prema A Kurien Syracuse University Gurinder Singh Mann University of California Santa Barbara Vasudha Narayanan University of Florida Stephen Prothero Boston University Omid Safi Colgate University Jennifer Snow Pasadena California Robert A F Thurman Columbia University R Stephen Warner University of Illinois at Chicago Duncan Ryuken Williams University of California Berkeley
