Edith Wharton's Travel Writings The Making Of A Connoisseur:

Edith Wharton's Travel Writing Sarah Bird Wright, 1997 The first book length critical analysis of its kind Edith Wharton's Travel Writing is an engaging study of Wharton's travel writing as the embodiment of her connoisseurship Wright reveals how Wharton enacted a new dialectic of tourism by reconstituting what Blake Nevius calls the aesthetic spectra in her travel texts Wharton abandoned the examples set by American predecessors such as Washington Irving and Nathaniel Hawthorne who led the artless travelers of her parents day to lakes waterfalls mountains and ruins echoing sentimental legends and chose to emulate John Ruskin's precise visual observation and Bernard Berenson's scientific methods of appraisal The Memory of Architecture in Edith Wharton's Travel Writings Ágnes Zsófia Kovács, 2024-09-13 Edith Wharton was not only the author of novels and short stories but also of drama poetry autobiography interior decoration and travel writing This study focuses on Wharton's symbolic representations of architecture in her travel writings It shows how a network of allusions to travel writing and art history books influenced Wharton's representations of architectural and natural spaces The book demonstrates Wharton's complex relationship to works of art historians John Ruskin mile M le Arthur C Porter and travel authors Wolfgang Goethe Henry Adams Henry James in the trajectory of her travel writing Kovács surveys how the acknowledgment of Wharton's sources sheds light both on the author's model of aesthetic understanding and scenic architectural descriptions and how the shock of the Great War changed Wharton's travel destinations but not her symbolic view of architecture as a mediator of things past Wharton's symbolic representations of architecture provide a new key to her travel writings The Bloomsbury Handbook to Edith Wharton Emily Orlando, 2022-10-20 Bringing together leading voices from across the globe The Bloomsbury Handbook to Edith Wharton represents state of the art scholarship on the American writer Edith Wharton once primarily known as a New York novelist Focusing on Wharton's extensive body of work and renaissance across 21st century popular culture chapters consider Wharton in the context of queer studies race studies whiteness studies age studies disability studies anthropological studies and economics Wharton's achievements in genres for which she deserves to be better known poetry drama the short story and non fiction prose Comparative studies with Christina Rossetti Henry James and Willa Cather The places and cultures Wharton documented in her writing including France Greece Italy and Morocco Wharton's work as a reader and writer and her intersections with film and the digital humanities Book ended by Dale Bauer and Elaine Showalter and with a foreword by the Director and senior staff at The Mount Wharton's historic Massachusetts home the Handbook underscores Wharton's lasting impact for our new Gilded Age It is an indispensable resource for readers interested in Wharton and 19th and 20th century literature and culture Edith Wharton Janet Beer, 2002 Professor Beer's study provides an introduction to the whole range of Edith Wharton's work in the novel short story novella travel writing criticism and autobiography The opening chapter provides an overview of recent scholarship in Wharton studies including an appraisal of biographical texts and subsequent chapters treat recurrent themes

This reference includes alphabetically arranged entries on 58 American women authors who wrote between 1900 and 1945. Each entry is written by an expert contributor and discusses a particular author's biography, her major works and themes, and the critical response to her writings. The entries close with extensive primary and secondary bibliographies, and the volume concludes with a list of works for further reading. The period surveyed by this reference is rich and diverse. Modernism and the Harlem Renaissance, two major artistic movements, occurred between 1900 and 1945, and the entries included here demonstrate the significant contributions women made to these movements. The volume as a whole strives to reflect the diversity of American culture and includes entries for African American, Native American, Mexican American, and Chinese American women. It includes well-known writers such as Willa Cather and Eudora Welty, along with more neglected ones such as Anita Scott Coleman and Sui Sin Far.

Edith Wharton and Genre Laura Rattray, 2020-08-11. Based on extensive new archival research, Edith Wharton and Genre: Beyond Fiction offers the first study of Wharton's full engagement with original writing in genres outside those with which she has been most closely identified. So much more than an acclaimed novelist and short story writer, Wharton is reconsidered in this book as a controversial playwright, a gifted poet, a trailblazing travel writer, an innovative and subversive critic, a hugely influential design writer, and an author who overturned the conventions of autobiographical form. Her versatility across genres did not represent brief sidesteps, temporary diversions from what has long been read as her primary role as novelist. Each was pursued fully and wholeheartedly, speaking to Wharton's very sense of herself as an artist and her connected vision of artistry and art. The stories of these other Edith Whartons, born through her extraordinary dexterity across a wide range of genres and their impact on our understanding of her career, are the focus of this new study, revealing a bolder, more diverse, subversive, and radical writer than has long been supposed.

Edith Wharton as Spatial Activist and Analyst Renée Somers, 2013-09-13. Because she devoted much of her life to exploring the relationships that exist between people and their built environment, Edith Wharton developed a set of philosophies that she expressed in many arenas, including interior design, architecture, and landscaping. Her theories of space were practiced and materially executed in addition to being expressed in her writing. This book explores Wharton's theories of space in Newport, Rhode Island, during the Gilded Age, when the town was transformed from a rustic seaport to a playground for the fabulously wealthy. The built environment played a pivotal role as social, economic, and personal conflicts were enacted among private and public spaces. As a cultural worker and as an author, Wharton stood squarely in the middle of these conflicts and directly participated in them. Accordingly, the book shows Wharton in a new light by exploring texts such as The Decoration of Houses and The House of Mirth, as well as by examining the architecture and aesthetics of three of Wharton's primary homes.

Mobile Narratives Eleftheria Arapoglou, Mónica Fodor, Jopi Nyman, 2013-08-15. Emphasizing the role of travel and migration in the performance and transformation of identity, this volume addresses representations of travel, mobility, and migration in 19th-21st century travel writing literature and media texts In so doing the book analyses the role of the various cultural ethnic gender and national encounters pertinent to narratives of travel and migration in transforming and problematizing the identities of both the travelers and travelees enacting in the borderzones between cultures While the individual essays by scholars from a wide range of countries deal with a variety of case studies from various historical spatial and cultural locations they share a strong central interest in the ways in which the narratives of travel contribute to the imagining of ethnic encounters and how they have acted as sites of transformation and transculturation from the early nineteenth century to the present day In addition to discussing textual representations of travel and migration the volume also addresses the ways in which cultural texts themselves travel and are reconstructed in various cultural settings The analyses are particularly attentive to the issues of globalization and migration which provide a general frame for interpretation What distinguishes the volume from existing books is its concern with travel and migration as ways of forging transcultural identities that are able to subvert existing categorizations and binary models of identity formation In so doing it pays particular attention to the performance of identity in various spaces of cultural encounter ranging from North America to the East of Europe putting particular emphasis on the representation of intercultural and ethnic encounters
