Emotional Dimensions of Educational Administration and Leadership Eugenie A. Samier, Michèle

Schmidt,2009-05-07 Exploring foundational theories for emotional dimensions of educational administration and leadership this collection covers a broad range of topics such as ethics personality social justice gender discrimination and organisational culture     The Oxford Handbook of Religion and Education Liam Francis Gearon,Arniika

Kuusisto,2025-04-29 The Oxford Handbook of Religion and Education offers a multi disciplinary work of scholarship and research highlighting the global significance of a critical interface of cultural and social political and theological importance Drawing on historical perspective and contemporary reflection the collection provides a uniquely transformative analysis of why the interface of religion and education is of such critical significance With contributions from some of the leading thinkers in the field this Handbook presents a cumulatively powerful argument to reassess the complexities of the intersection of religion and education With ambitious and yet accessible intellectual engagements the Handbook here furthers a central thesis that the interface of religion and education is not merely a matter of arcane disputation about a domain of ancient origin or a rudimentary matter of formal educational process but a vibrant domain of critical contestation fundamental to knowing understanding and living in the modern world     Education Transformation in Muslim Societies

Ilham Nasser,2022-09-06 Hope is a complex concept one academics use to accept the unknown while also expressing optimism However it can also be an action oriented framework with measurable outcomes In Education Transformation in Muslim Societies scholars from around the world offer a wealth of perspectives for incorporating hope in the education of students from kindergarten through university to stimulate change dialogue and transformation in their communities For instance though progress has been made in Muslim societies on early education and girls enrollment it is not well documented By examining effective educational initiatives and analyzing how they work educators policymakers and government officials can create a catalyst for positive educational reform and transformation Adopting strength based educational discourse contributors to Education Transformation in Muslim Societies reveal how critical the whole person approach is for enriching the brain and the spirit and instilling hope back into the teaching and learning spaces of many Muslim societies and communities Education Transformation in Muslim Societies is a copub with the International Institute of Islamic Thought     Education as Enforcement Kenneth Saltman,David A. Gabbard,2010-09-13 The first volume to focus on the intersections of militarization corporations and education Education as Enforcement exposed the many ways schooling has become the means through which the expansion of global corporate power are enforced Since publication of the first edition these trends have increased to disturbing levels as a result of the extensive militarization of civil society the implosion of the neoconservative movement and the financial meltdown that radically called into question the basic assumptions undergirding neoliberal ideology An understanding of the enforcement of these corporate economic imperatives remains imperative to a critical discussion of related militarized trends in schools whether through accountability and standards school security or other discipline based reforms Education as Enforcement elaborates upon the central arguments of the first edition and updates readers on how recent events have reinforced their continued original relevance In addition to substantive updates to several original chapters this second edition includes a new foreword by Henry Giroux a new introduction and four new chapters that reveal the most contemporary expressions of the militarization and corporatization of education New topics covered in this collection include zero tolerance foreign and second language instruction in the post 9 11 context the rise of single sex classrooms and the intersection of the militarization and corporatization of schools under the Obama administration

The Changing Landscape of International Schooling Tristan Bunnell, 2014-06-27 The number of English medium international schools that deliver their curriculum wholly or partly in the English language reportedly reached 6 000 in January 2012 It is anticipated this number will rise to over 11 000 schools by 2022 employing over 500 000 English speaking teachers The number of children being taught in these schools reportedly reached 3 million in March 2012 Alongside this phenomenal growth the landscape of international schooling has changed fundamentally moving away from largely serving the children of the expat and globally mobile business community and Embassies towards serving the local children of the wealthy and emerging middle class This has been reflected in the shift away from non profit ownership by the school community towards ownership by for profit companies and proprietors In this book Tristan Bunnell explores the changing landscape of international schooling and discusses the implications of these changes both in terms of theoretically conceptualizing the scale nature and purpose of the field and in terms of practically serving and administering the growing industry that international education is becoming The Changing Landscape of International Schooling will be worthwhile reading for researchers academics and students of international schooling leaders and teachers in international schools and those interested in the broader development of international education Title 38, United States Code United States, 2009 Journal of the House of Representatives of the United States United States. Critical Global Perspectives Binaya Subedi, 2010-03-01 The primary purpose of this book is to invite educators to re think what it means to critically conceptualize knowledge about the world In other words imagining curriculum in a critical way means decolonizing mainstream knowledge about global societies Such an approach re evaluates how we have come to know the world and asks us to consider the socio political context in which we have come to understand what constitutes an ethical global imagination A critical reading of the world calls for the need to examine alternative ways of knowing and teaching about the world a pedagogy that recognizes how diverse subjects have come to view the world A critical question this book raises is What are the radical ways of re conceptualizing curriculum knowledge about global societies so that we can become accountable to the different ways people have come to experience the world Another question the book raises is how do we engage with complexities surrounding social differences such as gender race ethnicity religion etc in the global contexts Analyzing global issues and events through the prism of social difference opens up spaces to advocate a transformative framework for a global education curriculum Transformative in the sense that such a curriculum asks students to challenge stereotypes and engages students in advocating changes within local global contexts A critical global perspective advocates the value of going beyond the nation state centered approach to teaching about topics such as history politics culture etc It calls for the need to develop curriculum that accounts for transnational formations an intervention that asks us to go beyond issues that are confined within national borders Such a practice recognizes the complicated ways the local is connected to the global and vice versa and cautions against creating a hierarchy between national and global issues It also suggests the need to critically examine the pitfalls of forming dichotomies between the local or the national and the global or the center and the periphery
