Economics Of Tropical Farm Management:

The Economics of Tropical Farm Management J. P. Makeham, L. R. Malcolm, 1986 In the tropics farmers have to work from a limited resource base which does not lend itself to highly productive crop and animal yields The principles of farm management economics and the application of farm management analysis and planning can help small farmers in the tropics to produce a bit more from their lots

The Economics of Tropical Farming Systems Martin Upton, 1996-12-12 Based on the author's widely used earlier text African Farm Management this account updates the economic analysis of tropical agriculture and broadens its perspective to include examples from all parts of the developing world Writing in a clear concise style Professor Upton explains the essential theories of farm economics without numerous mathematical formulae The text is completely revised with increased emphasis on farm household economics in which farms are seen as consumers as well as producers Also included is a new chapter on the economics of irrigated agriculture This book provides an invaluable economic framework for better understanding the operation and management of farming systems in the tropics and will be welcomed by students of tropical agriculture worldwide From reviews of African Farm Management The author produces an authoritative text interlaced with many relevant and illustrative references Experimental Agriculture The Economics of Tropical Farming Systems Martin Upton, 1996-12-12 Clear student text on theory and practice of economic decision making in tropical agriculture Agricultural Economics and Marketing in the Tropics John Cave Abbott, J. Wood, Olivier Habimana, 2020-05-27 This book is a useful resource for government policy analysts, academics, students of higher education and business practitioners interested in African economies and the key economic issues these economies are facing in 2020. In the face of weak governance and growth globally, there is still a window of opportunity for countries in Africa to build on not only their traditional industrial capabilities but also pave the way for positive developments in international trade and in the way governments tackle poverty and inequality. By focusing on four areas: 1. agriculture and livestock, 2. consumption, poverty and inequality, 3. financial services, employment and corporate governance, and 4. economic integration, international trade and foreign direct investment (FDI), this book presents a series of empirical studies that examine important contemporary economic issues facing Africa. The book incorporates a range of methodological approaches, with some chapters providing case study analyses while others embrace more traditional forms of econometric testing.
