Ecotourism An Livelihoods Capacity Building For Local Authorities:

Eco-Tourism And Livelihoods: Capacity Building For Local Authorities A.K. Bhattacharya, 2005 Tourism is the most rapidly growing and biggest civilian industry in the world and ecotourism forms the largest proportion of the present tourism. Since ecotourism involves maximum number of stakeholders from local communities to the corporate world proper capacity building of the major stakeholders for effective planning and management of ecotourism has become a prerequisite for the sustainable ecotourism development. This book attempts to fill in this gap. The book addresses the key issues concerning ecotourism management with special focus on community participation. It deals with a range of topics including the basic concept, forms, potential, assessment, planning and case studies of ecotourism. At the same time it discusses the new concepts and techniques of ecotourism viz carrying capacity, community participation and auditing. The book will be useful for practitioners, researchers and other stakeholders in planning and implementation of ecotourism. Public People Private

Partnership for Sustainable Forest Development Ajoy Kumar Bhattacharya, 2007 Presentations at the workshop organized by the Indian Institute of Forest Management Bhopal Training Manual On People S Bio-Diversity Register

A.K. Bhattacharya, 2005 Biodiversity: An Overview Mukesh Kumar, G.S. Paliwal, 2011-07-15 India's phytodiversity is one of the most significant in the world. India is one of the twelve mega biodiversity centers in the world and also an important center of origin of agrobiodiversity. It is therefore very important to study, document and conserve the plant wealth of India and also of the world before its possible extinction. There are convincing scientific, economic and sociological reasons for giving priority to the conservation of the major centers of plant diversity throughout the world. The strategies to conserve the biodiversity include establishment of protected area network and corridors with emphasis on appropriate levels of management, reduction of anthropogenic pressure on natural populations by cultivating them elsewhere, programmes of augmentation, reintroduction and introduction of target taxa, restoration of degraded habitats etc. The conservation strategies can be either in situ conservation of genetic resources within their ecosystem and natural habitat or ex situ conservation of components of genetic material of biological diversity outside their natural habitat. The choice of conservation strategy depends upon the nature of the material to be conserved i.e. the life cycle and mode of reproduction, size of individual population and ecological status. Ex situ techniques include the establishment of botanical and zoological gardens, banks of pollen, seed, tissue culture, DNA etc. Establishment of forest reserves, national parks, protected areas and on-farm conservation of valuable plant varieties is being promoted to facilitate their in situ conservation. Proceedings of the 9th International Conference on Accounting, Management, and Economics 2024 (ICAME 2024) Mursalim Nohong, Fitra Roman Cahaya, Phung Minh Tuan, Arifuddin Mannan, Anas Iswanto Anwar, Rianda Ridho Hafizh Thaha, Rakhmat Nurul Prima Nugraha, Andi Tenri Harahap, Muhammad Try Dharsana, Fakhrul Indra Hermansyah, 2025-08-30 This is an open access book. The Integration of Blue Green Economy Business for Sustainability Livelihood Strategies in Southern India Seema Purushothaman, Rosa

Abraham,2013-12-04 This volume is a compilation of essays that focus on livelihood issues faced by forest communities of the southern Western Ghats region of India. Communities living along the fringes of forests are more often than not overlooked in academic and policy discussions. However, they face considerable pressures being sandwiched between conservation endeavours and the forces of urbanization and commercialization. The chapters in this book provide an insight into the kinds of livelihood issues these communities face and the potential means that can be adopted to sustain these livelihoods. This volume provides a unique alternative perspective by locating livelihood issues within socio-ecological-economic narratives of communities living at the intersection of the three southern Indian states of Karnataka, Kerala, and Tamil Nadu, and suggests directions for policies to address these challenges. Livelihoods, Natural Resources, and Post-Conflict Peacebuilding Helen Young, Lisa Goldman, 2015-04-10 Sustaining and strengthening local livelihoods is one of the most fundamental challenges faced by post-conflict countries. By degrading the natural resources that are essential to livelihoods and by significantly hindering access to those resources, conflict can wreak havoc on the ability of war-torn populations to survive and recover. This book explores how natural resource management initiatives in more than twenty countries and territories have supported livelihoods and facilitated post-conflict peacebuilding. Case studies and analyses identify lessons and opportunities for the more effective design of interventions to support the livelihoods that depend on natural resources from land to agriculture, forestry, fisheries, and protected areas. The book also explores larger questions about how to structure livelihoods assistance as part of a coherent integrated approach to post-conflict redevelopment. Livelihoods and Natural Resources in Post-Conflict Peacebuilding is part of a global initiative to identify and analyze lessons in post-conflict peacebuilding and natural resource management. The project has generated six books of case studies and analyses with contributions from practitioners, policy makers, and researchers. Other books in this series address high-value resources, land, water, assessing and restoring natural resources, and governance. The Routledge Handbook of Tourism and the Environment Andrew Holden, David A. Fennell, 2013 This handbook explores and critically evaluates the debates and controversies inherent to tourism's relationship with nature, especially pertinent at a time of major re-evaluation of our relationship with the environment as a consequence of the environmental problems we now face. Monitoring the Sustainable Development of a Seaside Tourist Destination Stoyan Marinov, Velina Kazandzhieva, 2022-12-15 This volume brings together significant theoretical and empirical approaches concerning both sustainability in tourism and in monitoring the sustainable tourism of seaside destinations. It explores the monitoring of the harmonious tourism development on the Bulgarian Black Sea coast in the regions of Dobrich, Varna, and Bourgas. The book presents a systematic and ongoing process of gathering and interpreting data integrated in the management of tourist sites, which is necessary and useful to make an objective assessment of the sustainable development of the destinations. The volume will be of interest to educators, researchers, students, tourism strategists, policymakers, and planners, as well as practitioners in the field of sustainable tourism and
