down generation processes In this context the interactions between the public research system private research laboratories and various networks of learning processes within and among firms play a major role in the creation of technological knowledge In this Handbook special attention is given to the relationship among technological knowledge and both upstream scientific knowledge and related downstream resources By addressing the antecedents and consequences of technological knowledge from both an upstream and downstream perspective this Handbook will become an indispensable tool for scholars and practitioners aiming to master the generation and the use of technological knowledge

Mary O. responsibility for ensuring the economic well being of their citizens and for protecting their competitive positions in the international economy To perform their various coordinating functions effectively and to maintain legitimacy governments have found it necessary to rely on accurate information regarding economic conditions and trends and on empirically based theories or models that allow officials to anticipate the economy's performance under specified conditions The traditional assumption which this collection of essays challenges is that despite this profound dependence governments have generally acted as passive consumers of whatever ideas economists in the private sector and professions had to offer This book brings together papers that reveal the ways in which modern states have helped to generate new economic knowledge and how that process interacts with economic changes specific political institutions and ideological contexts
