Sex and the Failed Absolute Slavoj Žižek, 2019-09-19 In the most rigorous articulation of his philosophical system to date Slavoj Žižek provides nothing short of a new definition of dialectical materialism In forging this new materialism Žižek critiques and challenges not only the work of Alain Badiou Robert Brandom Joan Copjec Quentin Meillassoux and Julia Kristeva to name but a few but everything from popular science and quantum mechanics to sexual difference and analytic philosophy Alongside striking images of the Möbius strip the cross cap and the Klein bottle Žižek brings alive the Hegelian triad of being essence notion Radical new readings of Hegel and Kant sit side by side with characteristically lively commentaries on film politics and culture Here is Žižek at his interrogative best

The 'Improper' Feminine Lyn Pykett, 2003-12-08 The women's sensation novel of the 1860s and the New Woman fiction of the 1890s were two major examples of a perceived feminine invasion of fiction which caused a critical furore in their day Both genres with their shocking fast heroines fired the popular imagination by putting female sexuality on the literary agenda and undermining the proper feminine ideal to which nineteenth century women and fictional heroines were supposed to aspire By exploring in impressive depth and breadth the material and discursive conditions in which these novels were produced The Improper Feminine draws attention to key gendered interrelationships within the literary and wider cultures of the mid Victorian and fin de siècle periods

Believing in the Text David Jasper, George Newlands, Darlene Bird, 2004 The essays in this book represent ten years of the work of the Centre for the Study of Literature Theology and the Arts in the University of Glasgow Seemingly diverse they are bound together by a common belief that theology flourishes in an interdisciplinary and transcultural environment It cannot be an abstract concern but is rooted in political circumstances and responds to developments in society and the arts That is why there are essays on film and contemporary artists like Mona Hatoum as well as more traditional studies of theology read through and in literature The Centre has always been an international meeting place and contributions range well beyond the Western Christian seeking new roots for theological thinking in the arts and culture of a postmodern world

Unica Zürn Esra Plumer, 2016-02-26 Diagnosed with schizophrenia in the 1950s German writer and artist Unica Zürn produced a wealth of remarkable textual and visual material within psychiatric institutions across Germany and France While Zürn is often discussed in relation to her partner the controversial artist Hans Bellmer this innovative book moves beyond the familiar model of the overlooked significant other and re introduces her as a member of the French Surrealist group This is the first monograph on the life and work of the Unica Zürn in English Esra Plumer presents Zürn's life and work in light of the artist's individual experiences with WWII Post war Surrealism and mental illness at the same time revealing wider aspects of her artistic practice in relation to her contemporaries She also reveals how the techniques of anagrams and automatism writing and drawing methods designed to unlock the subconscious mind form the pillars of Zürn's artistic creative output which carry her work into the wider theoretical circles of psychoanalytic theory and post structuralist thought

Following the Textual Revolution Tymon Adamczewski, 2016-10-24 Analysis of literature and culture abounds in modern scholarship customarily written in the familiar language of literary theory Though the terminology today seems more or less straightforward this was not always the case The propositions for a new and active understanding of text put forward in the 1960s by theorists like Roland Barthes and Jacques Derrida profoundly influenced contemporary critical thought and were unnerving to many This book examines how a divergent school of literary and cultural studies created French Theory appropriated its ideas about text and textuality and altered the landscape of debate in mainstream academic discourse The author traces the standardization of a once rebellious poststructuralism and presents contemporary critical thinking that questions the assumptions of Theory

World-Making Renaissance Women Pamela S. Hammons, Brandie R. Siegfried, 2021-12-02 This book answers three simple questions First what mistaken assumptions do we make about the early modern period when we ignore women's literary contributions Second how might we come to recognise women's influence on the history of literature and culture as well as those instances of outright pathbreaking mastery for which they are so often responsible. Finally, it is possible to see some women writers as world makers in their own right, individuals whose craft cut into cultural practice so incisively that their shaping authority can be traced well beyond their own moment. The essays in this volume pursue these questions through intense archival investigation, intricate close reading, and painstaking literary historical tracking, tracing in concrete terms sixteen remarkable women and their world-shaping activities.

Wilderness Mysticism: A Contemplative Christian Tradition Stephen K. Hatch, 2018-07-03 As the percentage of unaffiliated seekers or Spiritual But Not Religious people or Nones increases in America and in the world at large, a sizable number are drawn toward a spirituality of Nature. And while many of these seekers emphasize simply the physical challenge and ignore the theological or philosophical aspect of their relationship to Nature, Wilderness Mysticism seeks to offer a spiritual theological interpretation for those who want it. In the process, it employs insights and meditation practices gleaned from an ancient tradition, that of Christian Mysticism, and updated in a modern context. Publisher: The Figure of Consciousness Jill M. Kress, 2013-08-21 Through analysis of metaphors of consciousness in the philosophy and fiction of William James, Henry James, and Edith Wharton, this work traces the significance of representations of knowledge, gender, and social class, revealing how writers conceived of the self in modern literature.

Poiret, Dior and Schiaparelli Ilya Parkins, 2013-07-25 Through a highly original and detailed analysis of the memoirs, interviews, and other life writings of Poiret, Dior, and Schiaparelli, this book explores changing notions of femininity in the early decades of the twentieth century, when the democratization of fashion began. Examining the idea of modernity, eternity, and the ephemeral in the writings of these haute couturiers, the book reflects on fashion's ambivalent approach to women, which both celebrated and vilified them, presenting them as both ultra-modern style leaders and irrational creatures stuck in the past. This fascinating text is key reading for scholars and students of fashion, gender studies, cultural studies, and history.
