Feminism And The Technological Fix:

Feminism and the Technological Fix Carol A. Stable, 1994 The quantum leaps in technology in the twentieth century have provoked a profound shift in the way we think about our bodies Genetic engineering reproductive technology the advent of virtual reality all fundamentally affect basic categories of self and gender The future can look bright or apocalyptic depending on where you stand and crucially who is selling that vision to you Carol A Stable argues that the two traditional responses of technophobia or technomania are simply inadequate for the choices facing us today She charts the development of these two responses across a wide cultural terrain from ecofeminism's uncritical celebration of women and nature to foetal imaging struggles over women and the military and the advent of cyborg politics Canals of Desire Carol Anne

Stable, 1992 The Technological Fix Lisa Rosner, 2013-02-01 The term technological fix should mean a fix provided by technology a solution for all of our problems from medicine and food production to the environment and business Instead technological fix has come to mean a cheap quick fix using inappropriate technology that usually creates more problems than it solves This collection sets out the distinction between a technological fix and a true technological solution Bringing together scholars from a variety of disciplines the essays trace the technological fix as it has appeared throughout the twentieth century Addressing such fixes as artificial hearts industrial agriculture and climate engineering these essays examine our need to turn to technology for solutions to all of our problems New Reproductive Technologies and

Disembodiment Carla Lam, 2016-04-22 With attention to the ways in which new reproductive technologies facilitate the gradual disembodiment of reproduction this book reveals the paradox of women's reproductive experience in patriarchal cultures as being both and often simultaneously empowering and disempowering A rich exploration of birth appropriation in the West New Reproductive Technologies and Disembodiment investigates the assimilation of women's embodied power into patriarchal systems of symbolism culture and politics through the inversion of women's and men's reproductive roles Contending that new reproductive technologies represent another world historical moment both in their forging of novel social relations and material processes of reproduction and their manner of disembodiment women in unprecedented ways a disembodiment evident in recent visual and literary popular and academic texts this volume locates the roots of this disembodiment in western political discourse A call to feminist political theory to re remember the material dimensions of bodies and their philosophical significance New Reproductive Technologies and Disembodiment will appeal to scholars of sociology gender studies political and social theory and the study of science technology and health The Routledge Companion to Feminism and Postfeminism Sarah Gamble, 2004-11-23 Approachable for general readers as well as for students in women's studies related courses at all levels this invaluable guide follows the unique Companion format in combining over a dozen in depth background chapters with more than 400 A Z dictionary entries The background chapters are written by major figures in the field of feminist studies and include thorough coverage of the history of feminism as well

Marxism Against Postmodernism in Educational Theory Mike Cole, Dave Hill, Peter McLaren, 2002-12-11 Postmodernism has become the orthodoxy in educational theory It heralds the end of grand theories like Marxism and liberalism scorning any notion of a united feminist challenge to patriarchy of united anti racist struggle and of united working class movements against capitalist exploitation and oppression For postmodernists the world is fragmented history is ended and all struggles are local and particularistic Written by internationally renowned British and American educational theorists Marxism Against Postmodernism in Educational Theory a substantially revised edition of the original 1999 work Postmodernism in Educational Theory critically examines the infusion of postmodernism and theories of postmodernity into educational theory policy and research The writers argue that postmodernism provides neither a viable educational politics nor the foundation for effective radical educational practice and offer an alternative politics of human resistance which puts the challenge to capitalism firmly on the agenda of educational theory politics and practice

Reload Mary Flanagan, Austin Booth, 2002-05-03 An anthology of feminist cyberfiction and theoretical and critical writings on gender and technoculture Most writing on cyberculture is dominated by two almost mutually exclusive visions the heroic image of the male outlaw hacker and the utopian myth of a gender free cyberworld Reload offers an alternative picture of cyberspace as a complex and contradictory place where there is oppression as well as liberation It shows how cyberpunk s revolutionary claims conceal its ultimate conservatism on matters of class gender and race The cyberfeminists writing here view cyberculture as a social experiment with an as yet unfulfilled potential to create new identities relationships and cultures The book brings together women s cyberfiction fiction that explores the relationship between people and virtual technologies and feminist theoretical and critical investigations of gender and technoculture From a variety of viewpoints the writers consider the effects of rapid and profound technological change on culture in particular both the revolutionary and reactionary effects of cyberculture on women s lives They also explore the feminist implications of the cyborg a human machine hybrid The writers challenge the conceptual and institutional rifts between high and low culture which are embedded in the texts and artifacts of cyberculture

Marxism Against Postmodernism in Educational Theory Dave Hill,2002-01-01 Written by renowned British and American educational theorists Marxism Against Postmodernism in Educational Theory a substantially revised edition of the original 1999 work examines the infusion of postmodernism and theories of postmodernity into educational theory policy and research

Feminist Philosophy of Technology Janina Loh,Mark Coeckelbergh,2019-12-31 There has been little attention to feminism and gender issues in mainstream philosophy of technology and vice versa Since the beginning of the so called second wave feminism in the middle of the 20th century there has been a growing awareness of the urgency of a critical reflection of technology and science within feminist discourse But feminist thinkers have not consistently interpreted technology and science as emancipative and liberating for the feminist movement Because technological development is mostly embedded in social political and economic systems that are patriarchally hierarchized many feminists criticized the structures of dominance marginalization and oppression inherent in numerous technologies Therefore the question of defining and ascribing responsibility in technics and science is essential for this anthology regarding for instance the technological transformation of labor the life in the information society and the relationship between humans and machines

Abortion and Social Responsibility Laurie Shrage,2003-01-16 Shrage argues that Roe v Wade s regulatory scheme of a six month time span for abortion on demand polarized the public and obscured alternatives with potentially broader support She explores the origins of that scheme then defends an alternate one with a time span shorter than 6 months for non therapeutic abortions that could win broad support needed to make legal abortion services available to all women

The Visualised Foetus Julie Roberts,2016-02-17 The latest three and four dimensional images produced by modern ultrasound technology offer strikingly realistic representations of the foetus representations that have further transformed experiences of pregnancy the public understanding of foetal existence and the rhetoric of the abortion debate Presenting a timely feminist engagement with this new technology The Visualised Foetus explores the widespread familiarity with and popularity of this new technology within the context of a longer history of foetal visualisations. The book offers an array of case studies that examine the diffusion of 3 4D ultrasound images beyond the clinic and the implications of this new technology for biopolitics in the European and American context. With attention to the non diagnostic and commercial use of 3 4D images, the impact of 3 4D ultrasound within the abortion debate and new claims that ultrasound aids maternal foetal bonding. The Visualised Foetus demonstrates the tension between the social and medical significances of foetal ultrasound, the pleasures and dangers of foetal imagery for women, the contested status of ultrasonography as scientific imagery and struggles over the authority to define and interpret ultrasound imagery. As such, it will appeal to scholars of the sociology of medicine and the body, social theory and gender and cultural studies as well as those with interest in science and technology studies.

Cracking the Gender Code Melanie Stewart Millar, 1998. The digital world, its advertising machinery and the popular media are pushing women back into traditional roles and once again creating a superior hypermacho expert male. Women must look critically at who is in charge of the new technology and challenge the gender codes that can work against them. In this path breaking book, Melanie Stewart Millar explores power relations in the digital world and asks us to question what is really going on. How is technology shaping our future? What is the role of women within digital culture? What is the corporate agenda? How is it influencing women's work? Provocative and incisive, Cracking the Gender Code questions how the gains women have made through feminism over the last decades are being eroded. It looks specifically at how the articles and images of Wired, the magazine of the digital generation, are detrimental to women, a discourse that may be establishing the underlying ideology of a far reaching communications industry. Stewart Millar argues that simply being computer literate or knowing how to use the Net is not good enough. Women need to demystify the technology and crack the gender code to participate equally in the cyber world of the future.

Contagion Alison Bashford, Claire Hooker, 2002-11. Contagion explores cultural responses of infectious diseases and their biomedical management over the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. It also investigates the use of contagion as a concept in postmodern research.
