Feminism Postmodernism:

Women's Liberation and the Sublime Bonnie Mann, 2006 Women's Liberation and the Sublime is a passionate report on the state of feminist thinking and practice after the linguistic turn. A critical assessment of masculinist notions of the sublime in modern and postmodern accounts grounds the author's positive and constructive recuperation of sublime experience in a feminist voice. Feminism/postmodernism Linda J. Nicholson, 1990 Feminism Postmodernism asks the question is a postmodern feminist politics possible. This anthology draws on prominent contemporary theorists to attempt a response. The contributors examine the meaning of postmodernism both as a position of method and a diagnosis of the times. They consider issues such as the nature of personal and social identity today, the relevance of location in constituting theory, the political implications of recent aesthetic trends and the consequence of changing work and family relations on women's lives. Feminism/ Postmodernism/ Development Marianne H. Marchand, Jane L. Parpart, 2003-09-02 Drawing on the experiences of women from Africa, Latin America and Asia, this book challenges traditional development practices of North over South, arguing for the inclusion of issues such as identity and political action as the way forward.

Feminism/postmodernism M. Prabhakar, 1999 Women's Liberation and the Sublime Marilyn Friedman, 2006-10-19 The notion of citizenship is complex; it can be at once an identity, a set of rights, privileges and responsibilities, an elevated and exclusionary status, a relationship between individual and state, and more. In recent decades, citizenship has attracted interdisciplinary attention, particularly with the transnational growth of Western capitalism. Yet citizenship's relationship to gender has gone relatively unexplored despite the globally pervasive denial of citizenship to women historically and in many places ongoing today. This highly interdisciplinary volume explores the political and cultural dimensions of citizenship and their relevance to women and gender. Containing essays by a well-known group of scholars including Iris Marion Young, Alison Jaggar, Martha Nussbaum, and Sandra Bartky, this book examines the conceptual issues and strategies at play in the feminist quest to give women full citizenship status. The contributors take a fresh look at the issues going beyond conventional critiques and examine problems in the political and social arrangements, practices and conditions that diminish women's citizenship in various parts of the world. Gender and Knowledge Susan J. Hekman, 2013-05-02 After the success of the hardback, students and academics will welcome the publication of this book in paperback. The aim of the book is to explore the connection between two perspectives that have had a profound effect upon contemporary thought: postmodernism and feminism. Through bringing together and systematically analysing the relations between these, Hekman is able to make a major intervention into current debates in social theory and philosophy. The critique of Enlightenment knowledge she argues is at the core of both postmodernism and feminism. Each also offers a basis for critical reflections about the other. In particular, postmodern philosophy provides a means of criticizing aspects of contemporary feminism and thus contributing to the development of a more sophisticated approach to current feminist issues. Sociology After

Postmodernism David Owen,1997-03-25 Postmodernism is frequently described as dealing a death blow to sociology This book however argues that it is a mistake to conceive postmodernism in terms of a fatal attack upon what sociologists do The contributors locate the identity of sociology after postmodernism as a contested site which opens up the possibility of re imagining the enterprise of sociology They show how this re imagination might be conducted and trace some of the key potential consequences

Postmodern Legal Feminism Mary Joe Frug,2014-02-04 Mary Joe Frug charts a course for future feminist thinking about law She identifies the political and theoretical limitations of earlier strands of legal feminism and demonstrates why postmodernism offers more hope for women in law

Feminism/postmodernism/postfeminism,1995

Postmodernism and Christian Philosophy Roman Theodore Ciapalo,1996-12-31 The contributors to Postmodernism and Christian Philosophy bring a wealth of philosophical insights and methodological approaches to bear on a common concern namely the possibility and extent of a fruitful dialogue between Christian philosophy and postmodern thought They tackle the timely question of how realism ought to respond to the threat to what Gilson called the Western Creed posed by modernity's heir apparent Enriched and invigorated by the insights of St Thomas Jacques Maritain Yves R Simon and others the articles assembled in this volume offer a provocative vision of the way in which a world bearing the imprint of modernity can nevertheless avoid succumbing to the false alternative proposed by postmodernism Contributors include Benedict M Ashley O P Don T Asselin Michael Baur David B Burrell C S C John Deely Curtis L Hancock Thomas S Hibbs Gregory J Kerr John F X Knasas Joseph W Koterski S J James L Marsh Matthew S Pugh Gregory M Reichberg Robert Royal James V Schall S J Rosalind Smith Edman Brendan Sweetman Joseph M de Torre Merold Westphal and Robert E Wood

A Thrice-Told Tale Margery Wolf,1992-04 A Thrice Told Tale is one ethnographer s imaginative and powerful response to the methodological issues raised by feminist and postmodernist critics of traditional ethnography The author a feminist anthropologist uses three texts developed out of her research in Taiwan a piece of fiction anthropological fieldnotes and a social science article to explore some of these criticisms Each text takes a different perspective is written in a different style and has different outcomes yet all three involve the same fascinating set of events A young mother began to behave in a decidedly abhorrant perhaps suicidal manner and opinion in her village was sharply divided over the reason Was she becoming a shaman possessed by a god Was she deranged in need of physical restraint drugs and hospitalization Or was she being cynically manipulated by her ne er do well husband to elicit sympathy and money from her neighbors In the end the woman was taken away from the area to her mother s house For some villagers this settled the matter for others the debate over her behavior was probably never truly resolved The first text is a short story written shortly after the incident which occurred almost thirty years ago the second text is a copy of the fieldnotes collected about the events covered in the short story the third text is an article published in 1990 in American Ethnologist that analyzes the incident from the author's current perspective. Following each text is a Commentary in which the author discusses such topics as experimental ethnography, polyvocality, authorial presence and control, reflexivity, and some of the differences between fiction and ethnography. The three texts are framed by two chapters in which the author discusses the general problems posed by feminist and postmodernist critics of ethnography and presents her personal exploration of these issues in an argument that is strongly self-reflexive and theoretically rigorous. She considers some feminist concerns over colonial research methods and takes issue with the insistence of some feminists that the topics of ethnographic research be set by those who are studied. The book concludes with a plea for ethnographic responsibility based on a less academic and more practical perspective. The Elgar Companion to Feminist Economics

Redemptive Hybridism in Post-Postmodern Writing Tasha Haines, 2023-12-14 From Virginia Woolf to David Foster Wallace and beyond, redemptive hybridism, a new way of reading texts full of possibility and genre blending, emerges as a key trajectory for post-postmodernity. Tasha Haines investigates what she calls redemptive hybridism, a tendency in post-postmodern writing characterized by possibility. She suggests that near the 21st century, postmodernism gives way to a reparative blending of high/low forms and genre collaborations for challenging and extending the relationship between writer/written material and reader. By combining an innovative literary investigation with creative and auto-theoretical strategies, Haines offers valuable new interpretations for texts of the modernism's continuum. Her conversational survey moves among the hybridity of Virginia Woolf, the paratextuality of David Foster Wallace, with Nathalie Sarraute, Claude Lévi-Strauss, Maggie Nelson, and more. In reference to Deleuze and Guattari, Hassan, and others, writers are curated for their approach to form, method, and content, evoking and invoking textual hybridity. Haines articulates a new way of viewing works via comparisons and close-ups that exemplify the possibility and genre blending that is Redemptive Hybridism in Post-Postmodern Writing.
