Glamour in the Pacific Fiona Paisley, 2009-07-08 Since its inception in 1928 the Pan Pacific Women's Association PPWA has witnessed and contributed to enormous changes in world and Pacific history Operating out of Honolulu this women's network established a series of conferences that promoted social reform and an internationalist outlook through cultural exchange For the many women attracted to the project from China Japan the Pacific Islands and the major settler colonies of the region the association's vision was enormously attractive despite the fact that as individuals and national representatives they remained deeply divided by colonial histories Glamour in the Pacific tells this multifaceted story by bringing together critical scholarship from across a wide range of fields including cultural history international relations and globalization gender and empire postcolonial studies population and world health studies world history and transnational history Early chapters consider the first PPWA conferences and the decolonizing process undergone by the association Following World War II a new generation of nonwhite women from decolonized and settler colonial nations began to claim leadership roles in the Association challenging the often Eurocentric assumptions of women's internationalism In 1955 the first African American delegate brought to the fore questions about the relationship of U S race relations with the Pan Pacific cultural internationalist project The effects of cold war geopolitics on the ideal of international cooperation in the era of decolonization were also considered The work concludes with a discussion of the revival of East meets West as a basis for world cooperation endorsed by the United Nations in 1958 and the overall contributions of the PPWA to world culture politics The internationalist vision of the early twentieth century imagined a world in which race and empire had been relegated to the past Significant numbers of women from around the Pacific brought this shared vision together with their concerns for peace social progress and cooperation to the lively even glamorous political experiment of the Pan Pacific Women's Association Fiona Paisley tells the stories of this extraordinary group of women and illuminates the challenges and rewards of their politics of antiracism one that still resonates today

International Conflict Feminism Vasuki Nesiah, 2024-10-08 Analyzes the impact of International Conflict Feminism's alliance with powerful global institutions In this book Vasuki Nesiah tells the story of the astonishing uptake of International Conflict Feminism ICF in the most powerful institutions of global governance ICF refers to a repertoire of policy agendas and legal strategies allied with those institutions to focus on women's vulnerabilities fight impunity for sexual violence and promote women's roles in peace building processes ICF emerged from feminist networks anchored in the Global North that gained momentum in the aftermath of the Cold War Although this volume offers a testament to ICF's remarkable success it also analyzes how this success was intertwined with the defeat of alternative visions and agendas including a range of dissident and heterodox feminisms that were eclipsed as ICF gained traction Emerging from Nesiah's dual occupations in academia and international law and policy practice International Conflict Feminism shows how centrally the ICF agenda has shaped fields such as peace building international criminal law transitional justice and post conflict economic policy Each section pauses at different sites in the international governance architecture to analyze the distributive impact of ICF and its allied global policy agendas to examine what is privileged legitimized and empowered and what is subordinated marginalized and further excluded ICF is a project of ideas and passions legal proposals and policy orientations Today when the most powerful countries of the world are describing their military economic and political interventions as a feminist foreign policy the task of understanding and assessing the ICF project is especially urgent Nesiah argues that rather than obfuscating and denying the power of the ICF agenda grappling with ICF's power is essential to achieving solidarity with feminisms that don't have a seat at the table in particular those dissident feminist traditions with priorities and interests that challenge the dominant world order and its injustices and hierarchies Globalization, Social Movements, and the New Internationalism Peter Waterman, 2010-06-15 In a political climate where loose talk of a third way passes for political idealism Waterman's passionate book examines the possibilities for a new style global solidarity suited to complex capitalist modernity The author examines the past internationalism of Labour and socialists and the present one of radical democratic social movements discussing how the Left might build on this experience to recover a humanist and emancipatory tradition of internationalism which would address our multiple global social problems Transitions Environments Translations Joan W. Scott, 2013 The essays in Transitions Environments Translations explore the varied meanings of feminism in different political cultural and historical contexts They respond to the claim that feminism is Western in origin and universalist in theory and to the assumption that feminist goals are self evident and the same in all contexts Rather than assume that there is a blueprint by which to measure the strength or success of feminism in different parts of the world these essays consider feminism to be a site of local national and international conflict They ask What is at stake Gender in International Relations J.
