Costa Pinto,2016-10-13 This book is the product of the 2nd World Conference on Environmental History held in Guimar es Portugal in 2014 It gathers works by authors from the five continents addressing concerns raised by past events so as to provide information to help manage the present and the future It reveals how our cultural background and examples of past territorial intervention can help to combat political and cultural limitations through the common language of environmental benefits without disguising harmful past human interventions

Considering that political ideologies such as socialism and capitalism as well as religion fail to offer global paradigms for common ground an environmentally positive discourse instead of an ecological determinism might serve as an umbrella common language to overcome blocking factors real or invented and avoid repeating ecological loss Therefore agency environmental speech and historical research are urgently needed in order to sustain environmental paradigms and overcome political cultural and economic interests in the public arena This book intertwines reflections on our bonds with landscapes processes of natural and scientific transfer across the globe the changing of ecosystems the way in which scientific knowledge has historically both accelerated destruction and allowed a better distribution of vital resources or as it in today's world can offer alternatives that avoid harming those same vital natural resources water soil and air In addition it shows the relevance of cultural factors both in the taming of nature in favor of human comfort and in the role of the environment matters in the forging of cultural identities which cannot be detached from technical intervention in the world In short the book firstly studies the past approaching it as a data set of how the environment has shaped culture secondly seeks to understand the present and thirdly assesses future perspectives what to keep what to change and what to dream anew considering that conventional solutions have not sufficed to protect life on our planet understanding possible present day impacts from issues of radiation risks associated with nuclear power generation and waste disposal Post Cold War developments in radioecology will be also reviewed and contrasted with the AEC supported ecology research for further perspectives This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of radioecology environmental pollution environmental technology bioscience and environmental history House documents ,1884
