The Cinema of Federico Fellini Peter

Bondanella, 2021-01-12 This major artistic biography of Federico Fellini shows how his exuberant imagination has been shaped by popular culture literature and his encounter with the ideas of C G Jung especially Jungian dream interpretation Covering Fellini's entire career the book links his mature accomplishments to his first employment as a cartoonist gagman and sketch artist during the Fascist era and his development as a leading neo realist scriptwriter Peter Bondanella thoroughly explores key Fellinian themes to reveal the director's growth not only as an artistic master of the visual image but also as an astute interpreter of culture and politics Throughout the book Bondanella draws on a new archive of several dozen manuscripts obtained from Fellini and his scriptwriters These previously unexamined documents allow a comprehensive treatment of Fellini's important part in the rise of Italian neorealism and the even more decisive role that he played in the evolution of Italian cinema beyond neorealism in the 1950s By probing Fellini's recurring themes Bondanella reinterprets the visual qualities of the director's body of work and also discloses in the films a critical and intellectual vitality often hidden by Fellini's reputation as a storyteller and entertainer After two chapters on Fellini's precinematic career the book covers all the films to date in analytical chapters arranged by topic Fellini and his growth beyond his neorealist apprenticeship dreams and metacinema literature and cinema Fellini and politics Fellini and the image of women and La voce della luna and the cinema of poetry

Federico Fellini Frank Burke, 1987 Federico Fellini remains the best known of the postwar Italian directors This collection of essays brings Fellini criticism up to date employing a range of recent critical filters including semiotic psychoanalytical feminist and deconstructionist Accordingly a number of important themes arise the reception of fascism the crisis of the subject the question of agency homo eroticism feminism and constructions of gender Since the early 1970s a slide in critical and theoretical attention to Fellini's work has corresponded with an assumption that his films are self indulgent and lacking in political value This volume moves the discussion towards a politics of signification contending that Fellini's evolving self reflexivity is not mere solipsism but rather a critique of both aesthetics and signification The essays presented here are almost all new the two exceptions being important signifiers in Fellini studies The first Frank Burke's Federico Fellini Reality Representation Signification laid the foundation in the late 1980s for considering Fellini's work in the light of postmodernism The second Marguerite Waller's Whose Dolce Vita is this Anyway The Language of Fellini's Cinema 1990 provides a contemporary re reading of Fellini's most successful film This lively and ambitious collection brings a new critical language to bear on Fellini's films offering fresh insights into their underlying issues and meaning In bringing Fellini criticism up to date it will have a significant impact on film studies reclaiming this important director for a contemporary audience
