Pritchard, 2021-10-07 All I wanted to do was go to sleep And I was certain that if I did drift off it would be for the last time In 1998 Paul Pritchard was struck on the head by a falling rock as he climbed a sea stack in Tasmania called the Totem Pole Close to death waiting for hours for rescue Pritchard kept himself going with a promise that given the chance he would at least attempt to live Left hemiplegic by his injury Pritchard has spent the last two decades attempting to live taking on adventures that seemed impossible for someone so badly injured while plumbing the depths of a mind almost snuffed out by his passion for climbing Not content to simply survive Pritchard finds ways to return to his old life cycling across Tibet and expanding his mind on gruelling meditation courses revisiting the past and understanding his compulsion for risk Finally he returns to climb the Totem Pole the place where his life was almost extinguished The Mountain Path is an adventure book like no other an exploration of a healing brain a journey into philosophy and psychology a test of will and a triumph of hope

Spracklen, 2011-10-12 This book looks back at the meaning and purpose of leisure in the past But this is not a simple social history of leisure It is not enough to write a history of leisure on its own in fact it is impossible without engaging in the debate about what counts as leisure in the present and in the past Writing a history of leisure then entails writing a philosophy of leisure and any history needs to be a philosophical history as well That is the purpose of this book It provides an account of leisure through historical time how leisure was constructed and understood by historical actors how communicative reason and free will interacted with instrumentality at different times how historians have reconstructed past leisure through historiography and finally how writers have perceived the meaning and purpose of leisure in alternative histories Providing a sweeping overview of the field Karl Spracklen charts how the concept of leisure was understood in Ancient history through to modern times and looks at leisure in different societies and cultures including Byzantium and Asian civilizations as well as looking at leisure and Islam Spracklen concludes with a chapter on future histories of leisure

Wild Fell Lee Schofield, 2022-02-24 I found myself turning the pages with an inward leap of joy Isabella Tree WINNER of the Richard Jefferies Award for Nature Writing Shortlisted for the James Cropper Wainwright Prize for Conservation Exquisite GUARDIAN It was a tragic day for the nation's wildlife when England's last and loneliest golden eagle died in an unmarked spot among the remote eastern fells of the Lake District But the fight to restore the landscape had already begun Lee Schofield ecologist and site manager for RSPB Haweswater is leading efforts to breathe life back into two hill farms and their thirty square kilometres of sprawling upland habitat Informed by the land its turbulent history and the people who have shaped it Lee and his team are repairing damaged wetlands meadows and woods Each year the landscape is becoming richer wilder and better able to withstand the shocks of a changing climate But in the contested landscape of the Lake District change is not always welcomed and success relies on finding a balance between rewilding and respecting cherished farming traditions This is not only a story of an ecosystem in recovery it is also the story of Lee's personal connection to place and the highs and lows of working for nature amid fierce opposition
