Mourning and Disaster Michael Brennan, 2009-01-14 The Hillsborough stadium disaster of 15 April 1989 and the death of Princess Diana on 31 August 1997 sparked expressivist scenes of public mourning hitherto unseen within the context of British society The largely local displays of grief witnessed on Merseyside following the Hillsborough disaster were however repeated and provided a pre text for the national and global public mourning which accompanied the death of Princess Diana What was it this book asks about the Hillsborough disaster and death of Princess Diana that provoked such strong emotions Why and how did these ostensibly similar events produce such contrasting reactions moving some people including the book's author to mourn one event but resist the mourning for the other Mourning and Disaster provides an insight into a series of questions raised by the public mourning that followed these two events What for example do the messages contained in the public books of condolence signed in the wake of these events tell us either about the social identities of the people who mourned or about the processes of meaning making by which death is apprehended and understood What do condolence books tell us about how contemporary society mourns and the ways in which loss is language'd Is it the case that in episodes of public mourning in which the deceased are not known to us personally the mourner might actually be mourning some aspect of themselves Is it also the case that in not mourning these events some aspect of one's own identity or self was being repudiated or mourned Drawing upon both the public books of condolence signed in Britain during the public mourning for these events alongside the author's own autobiographical memories of them it is to these sorts of questions amongst others that this book seeks to provide answers

Fostering a Relational Pedagogy, 2018-11-01 It has long been established that teaching and learning are autobiographical endeavours so it follows that self study is central to sound practice As a framework self study allows researchers to use their experiences to examine self in practice with the aim of both personal and professional growth By its very design it makes transparent personal processes of inquiry by offering them up for public critique This type of public inquiry of the personal happens in at least two ways first through the inclusion of trusted others who can provide different perspectives on our closely held discourses and second through making our research publicly available so that others might learn from our inquiries Self study then requires openness to vulnerability as we continuously re negotiate who we are as teachers Approaching inquiry from this perspective has at its core deepened self knowledge coupled with intent to transform praxis This transformation is sought through integrated ways of being and teaching that support embodied wholeness of teachers and learners Through critical qualitative creative and arts integrated approaches this collection seeks to advance teacher self study and through it transformative praxis Contributors are Willow S Allen Charity Becker Yue Bian Abby Boehm Turner Diane Burt Vy Dao Lee C Fisher Teresa Anne Fowler Deborah Graham Cher Hill Chinwe H Ikpeze David Jardine Elizabeth Kenyon Jodi Latremouille Carl Leggo Ellyn Lyle Sepideh Mahani Jennifer Markides
