Wendy R. Kohli, Nicholas C. Burbules, 2012-07-01 The latest book in the Philosophy Theory and Educational Research series introduces the main philosophical and theoretical ideas of recent western feminisms as it applies to educational research Unlike other books that focus on these topics the authors present a balanced overview of the issues instead of pushing a particular perspective

The Oxford Handbook of American and British Women Philosophers in the Nineteenth Century Lydia Moland,John D and Catherine T MacArthur Professor of Philosophy Lydia Moland,Alison Stone,2025 The Oxford Handbook of American and British Women Philosophers in the Nineteenth Century challenges the misconception that there were no female philosophers during this era It explores the diverse philosophical contributions of women including those who wrote academic texts novels pamphlets journalism and activist writings and examines women s contributions to both philosophical movements and topics in social philosophy It reveals that the nineteenth century was more conducive to women authors than commonly believed and discusses how factors like race and class influenced women s philosophical perspectives The Handbook corrects the historical narrative and broadens our understanding of philosophy by showcasing the significant contributions of women philosophers Feminisms and Educational Research Wendy R. Kohli,Nicholas C. Burbules,2011-12-29 Feminist theory has come a long way from its nascent beginnings no longer can it be classified as liberal socialist or radical It has shaped and evolved to take on multiple meanings and forms each distinct in its own perspective and theory In Feminisms and Educational Research the authors explore the various forms of feminisms tracing their history and their relation to gendered knowledge and identity Unlike other books on feminism the authors do not attempt to push that a particular theory is more correct than another but rather they give a complete overview of each of the forms of feminism The authors then couple the philosophical and theoretical ideas of western feminisms with the aims and conduct of educational research exploring how they interact and influence each other Focusing on more recent feminists both in education and related disciplines the book highlights illustrative examples from research to form a basis of understanding how the different feminisms have changed education

Feminism and Modern Philosophy Andrea Nye, 2004 A feminist approach towards the history of philosophy and the theories of Hume Rousseau Descartes Lock Anne Conway Kant

Unsettling Sexuality Jeremy Chow, Shelby Johnson, 2025 Unsettling Sexuality brings queer trans and asexual lenses to bear on the long eighteenth century Drawing from Middle Eastern and Asian studies African American studies and Native American and Indigenous studies the authors pioneer intersectional readings of European transatlantic and global eighteenth century archives that unsettle traditional ways of approaching the field to welcome sexuality as something that can resist rigidity

Empowerment and Interconnectivity Catherine Villanueva Gardner, 2015-06-29 Feminist history of philosophy has successfully focused thus far on canon revision canon critique and the recovery of neglected or forgotten women philosophers However the methodology remains underexplored and it seems timely to ask larger questions about how the history of philosophy is to be done and whether there is or needs to be a specifically feminist approach to the history of philosophy In Empowerment and Interconnectivity Catherine Gardner examines the philosophy of three neglected women philosophers Catharine Beecher Frances Wright and Anna Doyle Wheeler all of whom were British or American utilitarian philosophers of one stripe or another Gardner's focus in this book is less on accounting for the neglect or disappearance of these women philosophers and more on those methodological or epistemological questions we need to ask in order to recover their philosophy and categorize it as feminist

Constructing the Self Valerie Gray Hardcastle, 2008 Constructing the Self analyzes the narrative conception of self filling a serious gap in philosophy and grounding discussion in other disciplines It answers the questions What are the connections between our interpretations selfhood and conscious phenomenal experience Why do we believe that our interpretations of our life defining events are narrative in nature From the myriad of thoughts actions and emotions which constitute our experiences how do we choose what is interpretively important the tiny subset that composes the self By synthesizing the different approaches to understanding the self from philosophy of mind developmental psychology psychopathology and cognitive science this monograph gives us deeper insight into what being minded being a person and having a self are as well as clarifies the difference and relation between conscious and unconscious mental states and normal and abnormal minds The explication also affords new perspectives on human development and human emotion Series A

Feminist Knowledge (RLE Feminist Theory) Sneja Gunew, 2013-05-20 The minority feminist viewpoints have often been submerged in the interests of maintaining a mainstream universal model of feminism This anthology takes into account the various differences among women while looking at the important areas of feminist struggle While sisterhood is indeed global it certainly does not mean that all women are required to submerge their specific differences and assimilate to a universal model Consequently the collection includes essays by leaders in the field of post structuralist enquiry as well as by those immersed in the new spirituality and the social consequences of recent biological research Other essays reflect the political struggles which continue to be waged with different strategies by socialist and radical feminists and the self searching analyses undertaken by feminists uneasy about their inclusion within educational institutions and the radical new interpretations of sexuality within the cultural domain The collection begins with a critique of white mainstream feminism emanating from Aboriginal women in Australia The implications of the critique indicate that there is a pervasive racism within the feminist movement
