Femme Dans Linconscient Musulman:

La femme dans l'inconscient musulman Fatima Mernissi, 2016 La femme dans l'inconscient musulman Fatna Aït Sabbah, 1986 Femininity, Masculinity, and Sexuality in Morocco and Hollywood Osire Glacier, 2017-05-19 This book is the first to formulate an ideology of emancipation for women in Morocco Beginning with constructs of the body femininity and masculinity it analyzes the central role played by the sociopolitical writing of sexuality in creating gender hierarchy The author focuses on Morocco while drawing parallels with Hollywood cinema one of the great producers of femininity and masculinity and conducts an exhaustive examination of constructs of femininity and masculinity in language social practices cultural productions and legal texts The objectives of this project are tripartite it exposes the dynamics that devalue women s humanity it charts the schemas of their sexual economic and sociopolitical exploitation and it advances concrete solutions for re establishing women s human dignity , Le Corps dans le roman des écrivaines syriennes contemporaines Martina Censi, 2016-05-02 Le Corps dans le roman des crivaines syriennes contemporaines de Martina Censi explore les repr sentations du corps dans un corpus de romans en arabe publi s entre 2004 et 2011 par six crivaines syriennes L auteure conjugue l analyse du texte litt raire avec la critique f ministe et les tudes de genre Par cette approche interdisciplinaire Censi d montre que l attention reserv e par ces crivaines aux repr sentations du corps f minin et masculin t moigne de leurs engagements dans la lutte pour l mancipation des femmes mais aussi et surtout dans celle pour l affirmation de l individu dans la soci t syrienne contemporaine Les corps des personnages marqu s par leur diff rence unique sont le lieu symbolique de la n gociation entre les instances individuelles et collectives In Le Corps dans le roman des crivaines syriennes contemporaines Martina Censi explores the representation of the body in a selection of Arabic novels published between 2004 and 2011 by six Syrian women authors Taking an interdisciplinary approach which combines analysis of the literary texts with Feminist Criticism and Gender Studies Censi demonstrates that by focusing on the representation of female and male bodies these novelists deal not only with feminist issues related to women s emancipation The author reveals that they also engage in a broader analysis concerning the status of the individual in contemporary Syrian society Marked by their unique difference the characters bodies become the symbolic location for the negotiation between individual and collective claims

Representing Minorities Soumia Boutkhil, Larbi Touaf, 2009-01-14 The papers in this volume include not only the traditional view of what constitutes a minority but also any individual or group recalcitrant and reluctant not to say resistant to the generalized lobotomy operated by the rampant uniformisation of cultures around the world For in the ruins of the end of history and its context of violence and Manichean politics any opposition to the general consensus could be dismissed as anti historical and atavistic The objective of the book is precisely to counter such rhetoric and underscore the necessity of cultural diversity and the right to difference This book contains what can amount to a critical response to the current context of confusion surrounding the postmodern condition that arguably dominates most societies. It stresses the issue of ethics not only in world politics but also in literature and criticism which are the main focus here. In fact the interest in minority issues is in itself an ethical concern that contributes to give substance to the idea that postmodernity opens the gates for the long suppressed identities and sensibilities to emerge and demand recognition. This volume intends therefore to contribute to the recent ethical turn that seems to take place in scholarship worldwide. Operated mainly by what is referred to as postcolonial studies, this shift turned literary criticism and cultural studies into the site where a sense of literature can be envisioned that is not at all universalist or reflecting the hegemonic temptations of the new world order. It seeks to present a patchwork of minor literatures in the sense that besides the major literatures, languages, there are myriads of minor voices that express dissimilarity oftentimes under the umbrella of those major languages and literatures themselves.

The Pornography of Representation Susanne Kappeler, 2013-05-03. This book marks a radical and powerful intervention in traditional arguments about pornography. Kappeler re-examines the artistic distinctions between fantasy and reality, pornography and erotica, and challenges the legal definition of obscenity as well as the intellectual defence of freedom of expression. By linking images of actual violence with the imaginative portrayal of women in the realm of the aesthetic, she establishes vital connections between modes of representation and social forms of power and domination. It is essential reading for anyone concerned with issues of pornography and sexual politics and related debates in literary criticism and cultural studies.

Rethinking Marriage in Francophone African and Caribbean Literatures Cécile Accilien, 2008-01-01. Rethinking Marriage in Francophone African and Caribbean Literatures analyzes novels and films that demonstrate how marriage affects Francophone African and Caribbean women in their respective societies. It argues that marriage serves as a catalyst for intense identity formation because it functions as a narrative intersection for a number of overlapping themes on gender and the body, class and economics, religion, interracial and intercultural identity, and nation building. Marriage provides a narrative space for commentary on cultural practices presented in the works in question as the foundations of cultural identity.

Women, Gender, and Language in Morocco Fatima Sadiqi, 2003. This text is an original investigation in the complex relationship between women, gender, and language in a Muslim multilingual and multicultural setting. Moroccan women's use of monolingualism, oral literature, and multilingualism code-switching reflects their agency and gender role subversion in a heavily patriarchal society.

Marriage and Sexuality in Medieval and Early Modern Iberia Eukene Lacarra Lanz, 2002-06-14. First published in 2002, this fascinating collection of essays examines the politics of gender and desire in premodern Iberia. Eukene Lacarra Lanz brings together a group of noted specialists in Arabic as well as Castilian, Catalan, and other Romance languages to investigate the changes that affected marriage and sexuality over the course of the millennium from approximately 650 to 1650 A.D. The contributors utilise a variety of literary and philosophical texts, legal documents, and medical treatises to explore a broad range of topics such as shrew taming, wedding rituals, wet nursing, cross-dressing, sodomy, and moral pornography The volume's interdisciplinary approach traces the origins and genealogies of the predominant discourses on these subjects that engaged the minds of medieval and premodern writers moralists politicians and scientists alike Marriage and sexuality in Medieval and Early Modern Iberia offers a rich history and insightful analysis of some of the central themes of Hispanic literary and cultural life

Performative Bodies, Hybrid Tongues Julian Vigo, 2010 This book reconsiders the body in literature and makes a case for visual representation as a physical and gesticulative domain for rethinking the constructions of gender nationalism and sexuality Examining literary production from the eleventh century until the present the author argues that the body in contemporary North Africa and Latin America serves as a physical and symbolic terrain upon which sexual textual national racial and linguistic identities are vectored and through which postcolonial and hegemonic antagonisms of power and identity are resolved Rather than embracing third world identity as a residual repository of western thought colonization and linguistic infusion the author suggests that the paradigm of cultural identity in the Maghreb and Latin America is best understood through an examination of the emergent corporeal articulations of subjectivity prevalent in these literatures and visual cultures The text examines the body as a critical landscape through which the various discourses of nationhood gender and sexuality converge in order to construct a reading of the social that neither amasses subjectivity as singular under the rubric of the third world nor couches the other within static notions of gendered sexual or racial identities

woman's access to literary speech has remained mediated through her body Malti Douglas first analyzes classical texts both well known works like The Thousand and One Nights and others still ignored in the West in which the female voice often associated with wit or trickery of a sexual nature is subordinated to the male scriptor Showing how early Arabo Islamic discourse continues to influence contemporary Arabic writing she maintains that today feminist writers of novels short stories and autobiography must work through this tradition even if they subvert or reject it in the end Whereas woman in the classical period speaks through the body woman in the modern period often turns corporeality into a literary weapon to achieve power over discourse Fedwa Malti Douglas is Professor of Arabic and Comparative Literature at the University of Texas Austin Her books include Structures of Avarice The Bukhala in Medieval Arabic Literature Leiden and Blindness and Autobiography Al Ayyam of Taha Husayn Princeton Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
