G. Lorenz, Renate S. Posthofen, 1998 Transforming the Center Eroding the Margins is a collection of critical articles about recent and contemporary German literature designed to stimulate discussion about German speaking culture from the point of view of diversity The combination of broad historical approaches and detailed textual analyses made it possible to present in this volume a spectrum of identities and positions within the German speaking sphere and sometimes even within the work of a single author Examining the works of German speaking authors of different backgrounds and countries of residence from many different points of view shows that the very concept of a unified German Culture is a construct Because of the increasing visibility of various ethnic religious cultural and economic groups including migrant workers exiles and immigrants multiculturalism and cultural diversity in Central Europe have received considerable attention in public debates since the disintegration of the Eastern bloc and the fall of the Berlin Wall Yet neither cultural diversity nor the gender issues examined throughout the volume are recent phenomena Upon closer scrutiny the notions of center and margin are shown to have origins in the nineteenth century and before The articles in this volume distinct in their approaches and each one concerned with specific situations reveal an ongoing decline of mainstream discourse the erosion of the cultural center and a strengthening of what continues to be referred to as marginal The literary and intellectual production of groups that are seen as marginal is becoming ever more compelling and visible as is documented in Transforming the Center Eroding the Margins Dictionnaire de la langue française, ancienne et moderne Pierre Richelet, 1759 Murder in Parisian Streets Thomas Cragin, 2006 In Murder in Parisian Streets Thomas Cragin provides an in depth study of the production sale and content of the canards He demonstrates their significance to nineteenth century culture even their role in determining the emerging tabloid's success Cragin explores the incremental creation of textual meaning in the canards authorship production distribution and consumption He exposes the power of oral traditions as well as modern marketing at work upon this popular news literature The canards challenge our assumptions about the nineteenth century's revolution in print and reorient our understanding of cultural creation through textual construction Jacket First French Book Lawrence Augustus Wilkins, 1923 The Smart
