Future Of German Democracy With An Essay On Loss By Gunter Grass:

The Future of German Democracy Robert Gerald Livingston, Volkmar Sander, 1993 The essays collected here are a selection of those originally published in Germany in December 1992 under the title For a Civil Republic Views on the Threatened Democracy in Germany edited by Wilhelm von Sterburg The essays are brief eloquent outcries against the murderous violence neo Nazi radicalism and xenophobia that plagues the newly united Germany as it tries to cope with its problems Twenty one essays are presented in translation with a preface afterword and additional essay by Gunter Grass Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

Günter Grass and His Critics Siegfried Mews, 2008 A comprehensive narrative overview and analysis of the criticism of the controversial German author's works When the Swedish Academy announced that Günter Grass had been awarded the 1999 Nobel Prize for Literature it singled out his first novel The Tin Drum 1959 English translation 1963 as a seminal work that had signaled the postwar rebirth of German letters auguring a new beginning after decades of linguistic and moral destruction Nearly fifty years after its publication the novel's significance has been generally acknowledged it is the uncontested favorite among Grass's works of fiction on the part of reading public and critics alike yet its canonical status tends to obscure the decidedly mixed and even hostile reactions it initially elicited Along with The Tin Drum Grass's impressive body of literary work since the 1950s has spawned a cottage industry of Grass criticism making a reliable guide through the thicket of sometimes contradictory readings a definite desideratum Siegfried Mews fills this lacuna in Grass scholarship by way of a detailed but succinct descriptive as well as analytical and evaluative overview of the scholarship from 1959 to 2005 Grass's politically motivated interventions in public discourse have kept him highly visible blurring the boundaries between politics and aesthetics Mews therefore examines not only academic criticism but also the daily and weekly press and other news media providing additional insight into the reception of Grass's works Siegfried Mews is Professor of German at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Narrative as Counter-Memory Reiko Tachibana, 1998-07-30 CHOICE 1999 Outstanding Academic Books The wartime and postwar cultural histories of Germany and Japan show similar experiences of defeat occupation and then the reconstruction of powerful societies Little previous research has examined the literary works that reflect these contacts and parallelisms For the first time this book offers an extensive comparative study of German and Japanese narratives that serve as a form of counter memory in Foucault's phrase for the two cultures Rather than attempting to present objective or comprehensive views of history these narratives draw upon personal memories to offer subjective selective and individualistic reports They provide an alternative or counter memory to more official versions of World War II and its aftermath Major writers such as Mishima Yukio Ibuse Masuji Oba Minako Gunter Grass Uwe Johnson Christa Wolf and the Nobel Prize winners Oe Kenzaburo and Heinrich Böll are set in the context of lesser known writers including a nine year old child a medical doctor a woman who served as a journalist and a former prisoner to provide a broad cultural basis for understanding responses to the war from within the two societies This book combines a broad historical scope with detailed examinations of important individual texts with both aspects securely set on a firm foundation of historical and literary scholarship The rhythm of alternation between synthetic generalizations and close textual explication yielding interpretive insights while providing lucid and economical exposition and summary allows for carefully balanced and integrated comparisons
