Managing the Future of Southeast Asia's Valuable Tropical Rainforests Ratnam Wickneswari, Chuck Cannon, 2011-09-15
This book provides current knowledge about tropical rain forest genetics and its implications for the profitable and sustainable management of forest resources in Southeast Asia Each chapter covers a major topic in the evolutionary biology of tropical rain forest trees and how management systems interact with these natural dynamics Authors provide an up to date and insightful review of important scientific findings and conclude with practical recommendations for the modern forester in Southeast Asia Several chapters provide compelling discussions about commonly neglected aspects of tropical forestry including the impact of historical dynamics of climate change anthropogenic threats to genetic viability and the important role of wildlife in maintaining genetic diversity These discussions will promote a deeper appreciation of not only the economic value of forests but also their mystery and intangible values The silvicultural industry in Southeast Asia is a major contributor to the regional economy but the connection between scientific research and the application and development of policy could be improved upon This book will help bridge that gap This book will prove beneficial reading for forestry students professional forest managers and policy makers who do not have technical training in genetics It is also intended for non specialists who are involved in the tropical timber industry from the local forest manager to the international timber purchasing agent      Our Forests, Our Future Emil Salim, Ola Ullsten, World Commission on Forests and Sustainable Development, 1999-04-15 Forests are extraordinary in their contribution to the basic human need for environmental stability and security as well as in their contribution to the livelihood of many The World Commission on Forests and Sustainable Development WCFSD through its unique makeup and independent nature has been able to address the most significant issues surrounding the world's forests in a manner not possible for any other body or institution By convening public hearings all over the world to give voice to those who depend on forests and by engaging itself in the politics of the issues at the highest levels the WCFSD has endeavored to address fundamental and serious concerns This report representing the culmination of these efforts discusses forest practices politics and policies and the social situations which they create or perpetuate and presents the Commission's findings conclusions and recommendations      The Future of the World's Forests Jim Douglas, Markku Simula, 2010-09-05 At the landmark 1992 United Nations Conference on Environment and Development Earth Summit solemn resolutions were made both to protect the world's biodiversity and to co operate on managing natural forests in a sustainable and ecologically responsible way If anything given recent developments in issues such as climate change and poverty the problem of protecting and sustaining forests should logically have become more important globally Yet public interest in and development support for forest activities have declined and rates of forest loss remain stubbornly high Why has this happened This book seeks answers to this question It examines the often dysfunctional relationships between various members of the international forest constituency which have so often prevented the formation of consensus It also explores the tendency to pursue technical and politically convenient fixes focused on the internal workings of the forest sector while ignoring the overwhelming influence of external forces on the fate of forests The result all too often has been programs which benefit a few powerful players and fail to provide real solutions The book provides a new examination of and perspective on the international forest policy debate It clarifies the reasons for global forest conflicts and provides insight for future policy development Including examples from both the developed and developing world it provides an invaluable resource for researchers and graduate students in forest policy and international relations as well as a useful reference for policymakers and professionals in the forest sector the development community and conservationists With significant global attention now focused on reducing carbon emissions from deforestation and forest degradation REDD the authors examine the promise and the potential problems that apply to this initiative

Human Activities and the Tropical Rainforest Bernard K. Maloney, 1998 Arising initially from a conference the papers published here have been integrated into book form to provide information on human activities and the tropical rainforest in the past and present and on the possible future of the rainforest in a unique way Other books have considered some but not all of these themes however none has stressed the continuity of change over time and its possible outcome for the people of the forest as well as for the forest itself Because of the approach taken this book should appeal across traditional disciplinary boundaries Indeed a prime aim has been to suggest that rainforest because of its complexity and the complexity of people rainforest relationships throughout time deserves study from a broad perspective This book poses more questions than answers about the rainforest and it is hoped that it will encourage readers to think about the rainforest in a wider way than hitherto This book is aimed at geographers physical and human social anthropologists archaeologists pedologists foresters and tropical botanists and will be of value to graduates of various disciplines setting out to research the rainforest

Asia-Pacific Forest Sector Outlook: Innovative forestry for a sustainable future Pingault, N., Roshetko, J.M., Meybeck, A. (eds.), 2021-11-05 Young students and people formally or informally engaged in the forest sector will be the guardians and managers of tomorrow's forests Technology savvy the youth can play an instrumental role in the uptake and scaling up of innovative technologies whether digital technologies biological technologies technical innovations on processes and products or innovative finance and social innovations able to advance sustainable development in the forest sector in the region Young people can bring in the innovation debate forward looking perspectives and out of the box thinking This is why FAO and CIFOR FTA decided to strengthen their voice in the debate relaying their experiences and propositions for sustainable innovation in the forest sector This FAO and CIFOR co publication gathers 13 youth contributions carefully selected These contributions illustrate in various contexts the potential of innovative technologies to advance sustainable forestry and sustainable forest management in the Asia Pacific region      Quarterly Essay 48 After the Future Tim Flannery, 2012-11-01 Australia is home to many animals and plants found nowhere else on earth making Australians caretakers of a unique heritage in a land that tolerates few mistakes Yet in After the Future Tim Flannery shows that this country is now on the brink of a new wave of extinctions which threatens to leave our national parks as marsupial ghost towns Why are species becoming extinct despite the tens of millions of dollars being spent to protect nature And what more should be done In this passionate and illuminating essay Flannery tells the story of the human impact on the continent He revisits his Future Eaters hypothesis discussing how firestick farming helped to shape the ecology and preserve native fauna He looks at the way recent governments in tandem with an indifferent populace and a rabid libertarian right have let environmental knowledge and commitments erode Finally he describes new approaches to wildlife conservation and argues that Australia must take the lead on these This is an essay that rings the alarm on behalf of the natural world and asks us to think again about protection of its irreplaceable riches Such is the depth of public ignorance about Australia's extinction crisis that most people are unaware that it is occurring while those who do know of it commonly believe that our national parks and reserves are safe places for threatened species In fact the second extinction wave is now in full swing and it's emptying our national parks and wildlife reserves as ruthlessly as other landscapes Tim Flannery After the Future Flannery is known as a passionate advocate for conservation but rarely has he sounded so angry Fiona Capp Sydney Morning Herald He's a scientist of world standing a prolific and bestselling writer a noted explorer passionate about the Australian environment and believes global warming is a calamitous crisis facing us all Tim Flannery is also a controversial outspoken stirrer who promises to tread on toes if he has to to get his blunt views across Kerry O'Brien The 7 30 Report      Shaping the Future National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Commission on Life Sciences, Board on Biology, Steve Olson, 1989-02-01 This book brings the concerned individual up to date on the breakthroughs and social questions emerging from biology today Author Steve Olson draws on the latest research in a number of fields as well as the views of leading biologists ethicists and philosophers He tells the story of the intricate often frustrating path scientists must follow to find out why we are the way we are The volume highlights groundbreaking research being done in four of biology's most exciting fields genetics development neurobiology and evolution In each field the implications of this research extend far beyond basic biology ranging from human gene therapy to cancer from neural transplantation to the evolution of the atmosphere      Future Survey Annual 1984 World Future Society, 1984-06-01

Future Forests Steven G. McNulty, 2023-10-25 Future Forests Adaptation to Climate Change provides background on forests as natural and social systems the current distribution and dynamics based on major biomes that set the stage for their role of forests in global systems the nature of climate change organized by biomes and detailed descriptions of mitigation and adaptation strategies This book forms presents a foundational summary of the feedback between the effect of climate change on forests and the converse effects of forests on climate leading to conclusions on how forest management needs to be dictated by climate change The book will be ideal for readers in the fields of climate change science forest science and conservation biology helping them develop a thorough understanding on the broad perspective of climate change on forests the response of forests to these changes and other climate forest interaction potentials Organizes information on climate change and the effect of on forests at a general level before presenting biome related specifics Discusses the differences among major biomes tropical boreal temperate and the systems in which forest management and hence potential mitigation and adaptation occurs Goes beyond simply describing problems elaborating on potential solutions that can be implemented for climate change mitigation

One Earth, One Future National Academy of Sciences, Ruth S. DeFries, Cheryl Simon Silver, 1992-02-01
Written for nonscientists One Earth One Future can help individuals understand the basic science behind changes in the global environment and the resulting policy implications that the population of the entire planet must face The volume describes the earth as a unified system exploring the interactions between the atmosphere land and water and the snowballing impact that human activity is having on the system and presents perspectives on policies and programs that can both develop and protect our natural resources One Earth One Future discusses why such seemingly diverse issues as historical climate change species diversity and sea level rise are part of a single picture and how human activity is the critical element in that picture The book concludes with practical examinations of economic security and development questions with a view toward achieving improvements in quality of life without further environmental degradation One Earth One Future is must reading for anyone interested in the interrelationship of environmental matters and public policy issues

Tropical Forests Bozzano G Luisa, 2012-12-02
Proceedings of a conference on Tropical Forests Botanical Dynamics Speciation and Diversity held at the University of Aarhus Denmark August 8 ba10 1988 The increasing rate of destruction of the world s tropical forests gives grave cause for concern on several counts In conservative terms species are being lost at an incredible rate many before they have even been described In scientific terms habitats communities and unique systems are lost before they can be studied and used to broaden our understanding of ecological processes in general The meeting on which this book is based aimed to address two basic needs to describe some of the marvellous biological treasures of tropical forests and to learn what they can tell us about processes in ecology and to alert us all once again to the disaster which is overtaking this rich and varied environment
