

The background of the entire image is a photograph of a stage. Red velvet curtains are pulled back on both sides, revealing a white stage floor. A large, bright, circular spotlight illuminates the center of the stage floor, creating a strong contrast with the dark red curtains and the dimly lit background.

Women Stage Directors Speak Rebecca Daniels, 2015-11-04 Though stage directing has traditionally been a male dominated profession the number of women directors in the United States has grown significantly in recent years In this work 35 contemporary women stage directors with regional national and international theater backgrounds share their views on the creative process and the influences of gender on their artistic decision making How does it feel to be defined as a woman director rather than simply a director Does gender affect their authority These questions and many others are explored in this study

The Director's Vision

Louis E. Catron, Scott Shattuck, 2015-05-04 The pursuit of excellence in theatre is well served by the latest edition of this eminently readable text by two directors with wide ranging experience In an engaging conversational manner the authors deftly combine a focus on artistic vision with a practical organized methodology that allows beginning and established directors to bring a creative script interpretation to life for an audience Catholic Theatre and Drama Kevin J. Wetmore, Jr., 2014-01-10 The relationship between the Catholic Church and theatre has a long and complicated history This collection of fourteen critical essays seeks to demystify the ties both practical and ideological that have long bound Catholicism to theatrical production This volume offers insights into medieval theatre Jesuit drama ballet and opera modern stagings of medieval liturgical drama Lorca and Lope de Vega as Catholic playwrights Italian Catholic women s drama Catholic play wrighting and acting and the unique challenges of teaching theatre in Catholic universities Great North American Stage Directors Volume 2 Jonathan Chambers, 2024-01-25 This volume assesses the accomplishments of three mid 20th century North American stage directors Harold Clurman Orson Welles and Margo Jones Though their theatre making endeavours were distinct each produced work that challenged preconceived notions of theatre making all while working within the structure of a company As directors drawn to the potential rewards of collaboration all also were keenly adept at understanding how the relationship with a company of collaborators is often marked by struggle and crisis The essays in this volume explore how these accomplished directors not only created bold work but also drew on the complex energies of the theatre companies with which they worked to reimagine the shape and scope of theatre directing The Great North American Stage Directors series provides an authoritative account of the art of directing in North America by examining the work of twenty four major practitioners from the late 19th century to the present Each of the eight volumes examines three directors and offers an overview of their practices theoretical ideas and contributions to modern theatre The studies chart the life and work of each major North American theatre director placing his or her achievement in the context of other important theatre practitioners and broader social history Written by a team of leading experts the series presents the genealogy of directing in North America while simultaneously chronicling crucial trends and championing contemporary interpretation The Director as Collaborator Robert Knopf, 2015-10-05 The Director as Collaborator teaches essential directing skills while emphasizing how directors and theatre productions benefit from collaboration Good collaboration occurs when the director shares responsibility for the artistic creation with the entire production including actors designers stage managers and technical staff Leadership does not preclude collaboration in theatre these concepts can and should be complementary Students will develop their abilities by directing short scenes and plays and by participating in group exercises The Psychology of Playwriting John Edward Hoare, 1949
