Food What We Eat How We Eat It:

Why We Eat, How We Eat Emma-Jayne Abbotts, Anna Lavis, 2016-02-11 Why We Eat How We Eat maps new terrains in thinking about relations between bodies and foods With the central premise that food is both symbolic and material the volume explores the intersections of current critical debates regarding how individuals eat and why they eat Through a wide ranging series of case studies it examines how foods and bodies both haphazardly encounter and actively engage with one another in ways that are simultaneously material social and political The aim and uniqueness of this volume is therefore the creation of a multidisciplinary dialogue through which to produce new understandings of these encounters that may be invisible to more established paradigms In so doing Why We Eat How We Eat concomitantly employs eating as a tool a novel way of looking while also drawing attention to the term eating itself and to the multiple ways in which it can be constituted The volume asks what eating is what it performs and silences what it produces and destroys and what it makes present and absent It thereby traces the webs of relations and multiple scales in which eating bodies are entangled in diverse and innovative ways contributors demonstrate that eating draws into relationships people places and objects that may never tangibly meet and show how these relations are made and unmade with every mouthful By illuminating these contemporary encounters Why We Eat How We Eat offers an empirically grounded richness that extends previous approaches to foods and bodies

The Way We Eat Peter Singer, Jim Mason, 2006-05-02 An investigation of the food choices people make and practices of the food producers who create this food for us leading to a discussion of how we might put more ethics into our shopping carts

The Food We Eat, 1961 Why We Eat What We Eat Raymond A. Sokolov, 1993 When Christopher Columbus stumbled upon America in 1492 the Italians had no pasta with tomato sauce the Chinese had no spicy Szechuan cuisine and the Aztecs in Mexico were eating tacos filled with live insects instead of beef In this lively always surprising history of the world through a gourmet s eyes Raymond Sokolov explains how all of us Europeans Americans Africans and Asians came to eat what we eat today He journeys with the reader to far flung ports of the former Spanish empire in search of the points where the menus of two hemispheres merged In the process he shows that our idea of traditional cuisine in contrast to today s inventive new dishes ignores the food revolution that has been going on for the last 500 years Why We Eat What We Eat is an exploration of the astonishing changes in the world s tastes that let us partake in a delightful and edifying feast for the mind Publisher s description

We Are What We Eat Donna R. Gabaccia, 2009-07-01 Ghulam Bombaywala sells bagels in Houston Demetrios dishes up pizza in Connecticut The Wangs serve tacos in Los Angeles How ethnicity has influenced American eating habits and thus the make up and direction of the American cultural mainstream is the story told in We Are What We Eat It is a complex tale of ethnic mingling and borrowing of entrepreneurship and connoisseurship of food as a social and political symbol and weapon and a thoroughly entertaining history of our culinary tradition of multiculturalism The story of successive generations of Americans experimenting with their new neighbors foods highlights the marketplace as an important arena for defining and expressing ethnic identities and relationships We Are What We Eat follows the fortunes of dozens of enterprising immigrant cooks and grocers street hawkers and restaurateurs who have cultivated and changed the tastes of native born Americans from the seventeenth century to the present It also tells of the mass corporate production of foods like spaghetti bagels corn chips and salsa obliterating their ethnic identities The book draws a surprisingly peaceful picture of American ethnic relations in which Americanized foods like Spaghetti Os happily coexist with painstakingly pure ethnic dishes and creative hybrids Donna Gabaccia invites us to consider If we are what we eat who are we Americans multi ethnic eating is a constant reminder of how widespread and mutually enjoyable ethnic interaction has sometimes been in the United States Amid our wrangling over immigration and tribal differences it reveals that on a basic level in the way we sustain life and seek pleasure we are all multicultural
