Flynn,2016-09-27 A rich ethnographic portrait of food provisioning processes in a contemporary African city offering valuable lessons about the powerful roles of gender migration exchange sex and charity in food acquisition Based on anthropologist Karen Coen Flynn s study of Mwanza Tanzania this work draws on the personal accounts of over 350 market vendors low middle and high income consumers urban farmers as well as those including children who live on the streets This strikingly original work offers interdisciplinary appeal to a broad audience of both students and professionals interested in anthropology African studies urban studies gender studies and development economics Gourmet Gifts Dinah Corley,2011-11 100 Delicious Recipes for Every Occasion to Make Yourself and Wrap with Style in full color Advances in the Study of Behavior Marc Naguib,2019-03-23 Advances in the Study of Behavior Volume 51 provides users with the latest insights in this ever evolving field Users will find new information on a variety of species including The troublesome gift the spermatophylax as a purveyor of sexual conflict and coercion Conformity and over imitation an integrative review of two forms of hyper reliance on social learning Copulatory behavior and genital morphology in vertebrates Sexual selection in polyandrous societies Lessons from the fowl Sensory information in social insects Evolution of female coloration what have we learned from birds in general and blue tits in particular Sexual selection and social behavior in spiders and more Serves the increasing number of scientists engaged in the study of animal behavior Makes another important contribution to the development of the field Presents theoretical ideas and research to those studying animal behavior and related fields The Power of Gifts Felicity Heal,2014-10-23 Gifts are always with us we use them positively to display affection and show gratitude for favours we suspect that others give and accept them as douceurs and bribes The gift also performed these roles in early modern English culture and assumed a more significant role because networks of informal support and patronage were central to social and political behaviour Favours and their proper acknowledgement were preoccupations of the age of Erasmus Shakespeare and Hobbes As in modern society giving and receiving was complex and full of the potential for social damage Almost nothing men of the Renaissance learned from that great classical guide to morality Lucius Annaeus Seneca is more disgraceful than the fact that we do not know how either to give or receive benefits The Power of Gifts is about those gifts and benefits what they were and how they were offered and received in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries It shows that the mode of giving as well as what was given was crucial to social bonding and political success The volume moves from a general consideration of the nature of the gift to an exploration of the politics of giving In the latter chapters some of the well known rituals of English court life the New Year ceremony royal progresses diplomatic missions are viewed through the prism of gift exchange Gifts to monarchs or their ministers could focus attention on the donor those from the crown could offer some assurance of favour These fundamentals remained the same throughout the century and a half before the Civil War but the attitude of individual monarchs altered specific behaviour Elizabeth expected to be wooed with gifts and dispensed benefits largely for service rendered James I modelled giving as the largesse of the Renaissance prince Charles I's gift exchanges focused on the art collecting of his coterie And always in both politics and the law courts there was the danger that gifts would be corroded morphing from acceptable behaviour into bribes and corruption The Power of Gifts explores prescriptive literature pamphlets correspondence legal cases and financial records to illuminate social attitudes and behaviour through a rich series of examples and case studies
