Dining Room Detectives Silvia Baucekova,2015-09-04 In the structuralist understanding as proposed by John G Cawelti a classical detective novel is defined as a formula which contains prescribed elements and develops in a predefined ritualistic manner When described in this way the crime fiction formula very closely resembles a recipe when one cooks they also add prescribed ingredients in a predefined way in order to produce the final dish This surprising parallel serves as the starting point for this book's analysis of classical detective novels by Agatha Christie Here a structuralist approach to Golden Age crime fiction is complemented by methodology developed in the field of food studies in order to demonstrate the twofold role that food plays in Christie's novels namely its function as an element of the formula a literary device but also as a cultural sign Christie employed food on various different levels of her stories in order to portray characters construct plots and depict settings What is more incorporating domesticity and food in her novels helped her fundamentally alter the rigid conventions of the crime fiction genre as it developed in the nineteenth century and enabled her to successfully introduce the character of the female detective and to feminise the detective novel as such Feast or Famine? Food and Children's Literature Bridget Carrington, 2014-07-03 In November 2013 the joint annual conference of the British branch of the International Board on Books for Young People IBBY UK and the MA course at the National Centre for Research in Children's Literature NCRCL at Roehampton University took as its focus Feast or Famine Food in Children's Literature Food is central to both children's lives and their literature The mouth watering menu of talks given to the conference delegates is richly reflected in this book Speakers examined the uses of food in children's books from the nineteenth century to the present day and in a wide variety of genres from ancient fable to twenty first century fantasy From the contributions to this collection it is shown that food within literature not only reflects the society culture and time in which it is prepared but also is widely used by authors as a means to instruct their juvenile readers and to deliver moral messages

Contemporary Migration Literature in German and English Sandra Vlasta, 2015-10-14 Up until now migration literature has primarily been defined as texts written by migrant authors a definition that has been discussed criticised and even rejected by critics and authors alike Very rarely has migration literature been understood as literature on the topic of migration which is an approach this book adopts by presenting a comparative analysis of contemporary texts on experiences of migration By focusing on specific themes and motifs in selected texts this study suggests that migration literature is a sub genre that exists in both various bodies of literature as well as various languages This book analyses English and German texts by authors such as Monica Ali Dimitr Dinev Anna Kim Timothy Mo Preethi Nair Caryl Phillips Hamid Sadr and Vladimir Vertlib among others Constructs of "home" in Gloria Naylor's Quartet Claudia Drieling, 2011

Folktales and Fairy Tales Anne E. Duggan Ph.D., Donald Haase Ph.D., Helen J. Callow, 2016-02-12 Encyclopedic in its coverage this one of a kind reference is ideal for students scholars and others who need reliable up to date information on folk and fairy tales past and present Folktales and fairy tales have long played an important role in cultures around the world They pass customs and lore from generation to generation provide insights into the peoples who created them and offer inspiration to creative artists working in media that now include television film manga photography and computer games This second expanded edition of an award winning reference will help students and teachers as well as storytellers writers and creative artists delve into this enchanting world and keep pace with its past and its many new facets Alphabetically organized and global in scope the work is the only multivolume reference in English to offer encyclopedic coverage of this subject matter The four volume collection covers national cultural regional and linguistic traditions from around the world as well as motifs themes characters and tale types Writers and illustrators are included as are filmmakers and composers and of course the tales themselves The expert entries within volumes 1 through 3 are based on the latest research and developments while the contents of volume 4 comprises tales and texts While most books either present readers with tales from certain countries or cultures or with thematic entries this encyclopedia stands alone in that it does both making it a truly unique one stop resource

Making Sense Ralf Hertel, 2021-07-26 Fiction is fascinating All it provides us with is black letters on white pages yet while we read we do not have the impression that we are merely perceiving abstract characters Instead we see the protagonists before our inner eye and hear their voices

Descriptions of sumptuous meals make our mouths water we feel physically repelled by depictions of violence or are aroused by the erotic details of sexual conquests We submerge ourselves in the fictional world that no longer stays on the paper but comes to life in our imagination Reading turns into an out of the body experience or rather an in another body experience for we perceive the portrayed world not only through the protagonist's eyes but also through his ears nose tongue and skin In other words we move through the literary text as if through a virtual reality How does literature achieve this trick How does it turn mere letters into vividly experienced worlds This study argues that techniques of sensuous writing contribute decisively to bringing the text to life in the reader's imagination In detailed interpretations of British novels of the 1980s and 1990s by writers such as John Berger John Banville Salman Rushdie Jeanette Winterson or J M Coetzee it uncovers literary strategies for turning the sensuous experience into words and for conveying it to the reader demonstrating how we make sense in and of literature Both readers interested in the contemporary novel and in the sensuousness of the reading experience will profit from this innovative study that not only analyses the interest of contemporary authors in the senses but also pin points literary entry points for the sensuous force of reading
