Encyclopedia of Nineteenth-Century Photography John Hannavy, 2013-12-16 The Encyclopedia of Nineteenth Century Photography is the first comprehensive encyclopedia of world photography up to the beginning of the twentieth century. It sets out to be the standard definitive reference work on the subject for years to come. Its coverage is global, an important first in that authorities from all over the world have contributed their expertise and scholarship towards making this a truly comprehensive publication. The Encyclopedia presents new and ground breaking research alongside accounts of the major established figures in the nineteenth century arena. Coverage includes all the key people, processes, equipment, movements, styles, debates, and groupings which helped photography develop from being a solution in search of a problem when first invented to the essential communication tool, creative medium, and recorder of everyday life which it had become by the dawn of the twentieth century. The sheer breadth of coverage in the 1200 essays makes the Encyclopedia of Nineteenth Century Photography an essential reference source for academics, students, researchers, and libraries worldwide.

February 1 May 2011 Robert Hart and China's Early Modernization Richard Smith, John K. Fairbank, Katherine Bruner, 2020-03-23 As the Chinese government's Inspector General of the Maritime Customs Service, Robert Hart was the most influential Westerner in China for half a century. These journal entries continue the sequence begun in Entering China's Service and cover the years when Hart was setting up Customs procedures, establishing a modus operandi with the Chinese bureaucracy, and inspecting the treaty ports. They culminate in Hart's return visit to Europe with the Pines Mission and his marriage in Northern Ireland. Smith, Fairbank, and Bruner interleave the segments of Hart's journals with lively narratives describing the contemporary Chinese scene and recounting Hart's responses to the many challenges of establishing a Western style organization within a Chinese milieu.

Life in Treaty Port China and Japan Donna Brunero, Stephanie Villalta Puig, 2018-03-30 This edited volume moves beyond the traditional examination of the treaty ports of China and Japan as places of cultural interaction. It moves beyond the Bund, presenting instead the history of material culture, the everyday life of the residents of the treaty ports, beyond the symbology of Shanghai's waterfront. Bringing for the first time together scholars of China and Japan, museum curators, legal, economic, and architectural historians, it studies the treaty ports not only as sites of cultural exchange but also as sites of social contestation, accommodation, and mobility, covering topics as varied as day to day life itself, such as family, property, and law, health and welfare, travel, visual culture, and memory. The call of this volume is to peel the multiple layers of the encounter between East and West in the treaty ports of China and Japan.

Women and China's Revolutions Gail Hershatter, 2018-09-04 If we place women at the center of our account of China's last two centuries, how does this change our understanding of what happened? This deeply knowledgeable book illuminates the places where the Big History of recognizable events intersects with the daily lives of ordinary people using gender as its analytic lens Leading scholar Gail Hershatter asks how these events affected women in particular and how women affected the course of these events For instance did women have a 1911 revolution A socialist revolution If so what did those revolutions look like Which women had them Hershatter uses two key themes to frame her analysis The first is the importance of women s visible and invisible labor The labor of women in domestic and public spaces shaped China s move from empire to republic to socialist nation to rising capitalist power The second is the symbolic work performed by gender itself What women should do and be was a constant topic of debate during China s transformation from empire to weak state to partially occupied territory to nascent socialist republic to reform era powerhouse What sorts of concerns did people express through the language of gender How did that language work and why was it so powerful Drawing on decades of Hershatter s groundbreaking scholarship and mastery of a range of literatures this beautifully written book will be essential reading for all students of China s modern history

Death by a Thousand Cuts Timothy Brook, Jérôme Bourgon, Gregory Blue, 2025-09-01 In Beijing in 1904 multiple murderer Wang Weiqin became one of the last to suffer the extreme punishment known as lingchi called by Western observers death by a thousand cuts This is the first book to explore the history iconography and legal contexts of Chinese tortures and executions from the 10th century until lingchi s abolition in 1905

Visuality and Identity Shu-mei Shih, 2007-06-19 Shu mei Shih inaugurates the field of Sinophone studies in this vanguard excursion into sophisticated cultural criticism situated at the intersections of Chinese studies Asian American studies diaspora studies and transnational studies Arguing that the visual has become the primary means of mediating identities under global capitalism Shih examines the production and circulation of images across what she terms the Sinophone Pacific which comprises Sinitic language speaking communities such as the People s Republic of China Taiwan Hong Kong and Chinese America This groundbreaking work argues that the dispersal of the so called Chinese peoples across the world needs to be reconceptualized in terms of vibrant or vanishing communities of Sinitic language cultures rather than of ethnicity and nationality

"A Truthful Impression of the Country" Nicholas J. Clifford, 2001 An examination of the writings of travelers to China in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries

Exotic Commodities Frank Dikötter, 2007-03-27 Exotic Commodities is the first book to chart the consumption and spread of foreign goods in China from the mid nineteenth century to the advent of communism in 1949 Richly illustrated and revealing this volume recounts how exotic commodities were acquired and adapted in a country commonly believed to have remained hostile toward alien things during the industrial era China was not immune to global trends that prized the modern goods of civilized nations Foreign imports were enthusiastically embraced by both the upper and lower classes and rapidly woven into the fabric of everyday life often in inventive ways Scarves skirts blouses and corsets were combined with traditional garments to create strikingly original fashions Industrially produced rice sugar wheat and canned food revolutionized local cuisine and mass produced mirrors were hung on doorframes to ward off malignant spirits Frank Dik tter argues that ordinary people were the least inhibited in acquiring these products and therefore the most instrumental in changing the material culture of China Landscape paintings door leaves and calligraphy scrolls were happily mixed with kitschy oil paintings and modern advertisements Old and new interacted in ways that might have seemed incongruous to outsiders but were perfectly harmonious to local people This pragmatic attitude would eventually lead to China s own mass production and export of cheap modern goods which today can be found all over the world The nature of this history raises the question which Dik tter pursues in his conclusion If the key to surviving in a fast changing world is the ability to innovate could China be more in tune with modernity than Europe
