China's Diplomacy in Eastern and Southern Africa Seifudein Adem, 2016-05-23 In contemporary discourse on China Africa relations there are on the one hand the Sino pessimists who see China as a giant vacuum cleaner sucking up Africa's resources in order to fuel its own rapid industrialization and destroying Africa's development potential in the process On the other hand the Sino optimists see China as the ultimate savior of Africa capable of or willing to develop the continent Between the two divergent schools of thought are those sitting on the fence for the time being the Sino pragmatists who are less sanguine for sure about what Africa would gain from China Africa relations but are nevertheless willing to reserve judgment until the dust settles This book is innovative in two ways it introduces a regional approach to the study of China Africa relations by focusing on Eastern and Southern Africa and it puts forward a disciplinary framework disciplinary in both senses of that term for interrogating the burgeoning literature about China Africa relations by conceptualizing the three schools of thought mentioned above

The Governance Gap Penelope Simons, Audrey Macklin, 2014-07-11 This book explores the persistence of the governance gap with respect to the human rights impacting conduct of transnational extractive corporations operating in zones of weak governance The authors launch their account with a fascinating case study of Talisman Energy's experience in Sudan informed by their own experience as members of the 1999 Canadian Assessment Mission to Sudan Harker Mission Drawing on new governance reflexive law and responsive law theories the authors assess legal and other non binding governance mechanisms that have emerged since that time including the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights They conclude that such mechanisms are incapable of systematically preventing human rights violating behaviour by transnational corporations or of assuring accountability of these actors or recompense for victims of such violations The authors contend that home state regulation while not a silver bullet has a crucial role to play in regulating such conduct They pick up where UN Special Representative John Ruggie's Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights left off and propose an innovative robust and adaptable template for strengthening the regulatory framework of home states Their model draws insights from the theoretical literature leverages existing public private transnational national soft and hard regulatory tools and harnesses the specific strengths of state based governance This book will be of interest to academics policy makers students civil society and business leaders
