Croxall, Lionel P. Smith, 2019-07-19 Originally published in 1984 Without technical Jargon or a mass of confusing statistics this book describes a wide range of factors influencing agricultural productivity including weather soil biology and ecology and human social economic and political factors The ways in which these factors operate and interact with each other to produce the changing circumstances in which farmers take their decisions are discussed These decisions are the crucial factors in every productivity problem and the authors suggest policy changes which could improve the chances of farmers making the best choices not only for themselves but for the consumer and the community at large Routledge Library Editions: Food Supply and Policy Various, 2021-08-29 Reissuing works originally published between 1952 and 1999 this set provides a wide spread of scholarship on issues surrounding food provision throughout the world The earlier books look at import and export changes during times when previous trade routes and options changed while later ones mostly consider food assistance policies poverty and famine and welfare These books cover third world studies economics anthropology politics environment agriculture and population studies as well as food and nutrition Technical Books in Print , 1974 Information Sources John T. Fletcher, 2014-05-20 Information Sources in Economics Second Edition aims to bring together all sources of information in the field of economics into one convenient form as well as present a picture of the international scene in the disciplines covered in the book The text discusses the different sources of information such as the different kinds of libraries bibliographic tools such as encyclopedias dictionaries directories and almanacs periodicals unpublished material and statistics sources The book also related branches of economics such as macroeconomics industrial and agricultural economics as well as their related literature The monograph is recommended for students and practitioners in the field of economics who are in need of sources of information on economics especially those who are engaged in studies Farm Business Management Peter L. Nuthall,2011 This book discusses the methods to determine optimal systems in farm business management The methods are all about problem solving as any decision situation implies choice and therefore requires a method for deciding which alternative maximizes the objectives The book is not however about carrying out the optimal plans Most of the chapters relate to quantitative methods and qualitative analysis The book has a penultimate chapter discussing a number of analytical models that are commonly used in urban business but which are less important in primary production The results of farming systems analyses can have a major impact on good decision making in any primary producing community Some of the methods might be used by farmers themselves but more likely by farm advisors and consultants and by farm management researchers interested in firstly providing farmers with guidance on optimal systems and secondly providing governments with advice on the impact of farm policy measures Farm Management in New Zealand Nicola Shadbolt,S.
