Friends Brothers And Informants Fieldwork Memoirs Of Banaras:

Friends, Brothers, and Informants Nita Kumar,1992 Why was Banaras such a mystery to me when I arrived in 1981 Was it ironically because I was an Indian and expected to have a privileged insight into it In this unusually personal evocative account of her fieldwork experiences Kumar tackles the dilemma of how a Western trained Indian intellectual adapts to the field and builds deeply affecting relationships with strangers She discloses what it is like to be a native researching her own culture offering her fieldwork memoirs in all their spontaneity and candor We see Banaras through her eyes when she first arrives throngs of people cramped and dark lodgings unappetizing food mischievous monkeys and almost overwhelming filth But as she establishes friendships we are treated to her discoveries not only about the city and its people but also about her place in this society The familiar problems that face most anthropologists conducting fieldwork of Self versus Other objectivity versus bias familiar circumstances versus new and dismaying ones are given a surprising and complex dimension Through a narration of her own experiences the author demonstrates how personal locations habits preferences expectations deriving from childhood memories and areas of ignorance impose themselves on the process of selection observation and interpretation in research

Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta Jolly, 2013-12-04 First published in 2001 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Where Are You From? Dhooleka Sarhadi Raj, 2003-08-25 Dhooleka S Raj explores the complexities of ethnic minority cultural change in this incisive examination of first and second generation middle class South Asian families living in London Challenging prevalent understandings of ethnicity that equate community culture and identity Raj considers how transnational ethnic minorities are circumscribed by nostalgia for culture Where Are You From argues that the nostalgia for culture obscures the complexities of change in migrant minority lives and limits the ways the politics of diversity can be imagined by the nation Based on ethnographic research with Indian migrants and their children this book examines how categories of identity culture community and nation are negotiated and often equated Red Ties and Residential Schools Alexia Bloch, 2016-03-22 In this book Alexia Bloch examines the experiences of a community of Evenki an indigenous group in central Siberia to consider the place of residential schooling inidentity politics in contemporary Russia Residential schools established in the 1920s brought Siberians under the purview of the Soviet state and Bloch demonstrates how in the post Soviet era a time of jarring social change these schools continue to embody the salience of Soviet cultural practices and the spirit of belonging to a collective She explores how Evenk intellectuals are endowing residential schools with new symbolic power and turning them into a locus for political mobilization In contrast to the binary model of oppressed oppressor underlying many accounts of state indigenous relations Bloch s work provides a complex picture of the experiences of Siberians in Soviet and post Soviet society Bloch's research conducted in a central Siberian town during the 1990s is ethnographically grounded in life stories recorded with Evenk women surveys of households navigating histories of collectivization and recent rampant privatization and in residential schools and in museums both central to Evenk identity politics While considering how residential schools once targeted marginalized reindeer herders especially young girls for socialization and assimilation Bloch reveals how class region and gendered experience currently influence perspectives on residential schooling The analysis centers on the ways vehicles of the Soviet state have been reworked and still sometimes embraced by members of an indigenous community as they forge new identities and allegiances in the post Soviet era

Roll Over, Tchaikovsky! Stephen Amico, 2014-06-15 Centered on the musical experiences of homosexual men in St Petersburg and Moscow this ground breaking study examines how post Soviet popular music both informs and plays off of a corporeal understanding of Russian male homosexuality Drawing upon ethnography musical analysis and phenomenological theory Stephen Amico offers an expert technical analysis of Russian rock pop and estrada music dovetailing into an illuminating discussion of homosexual men's physical and bodily perceptions of music He also outlines how popular music performers use song lyrics drag physical movements images of women sexualized male bodies and other tools and tropes to implicitly or explicitly express sexual orientation through performance Finally Amico uncovers how such performances help homosexual Russian men to create their own social spaces and selves in meaningful relation to others with whom they share a nontraditional orientation Que Onda? process These and other issues are shown to complicate how Latinas os ethnically identify as Mexicanas os or Chicanas os and help explain how they get to this point In contrast to research that views identity as a reflection of immigration or educational experiences this study embraces border theory to frame the complex and conflicted relations of adolescents as a result of their identity making processes This intimate glimpse into their lives provides valuable information about the diversity among youths and their constant efforts to create define and shape their identities according to cultural and social State of the Arts Jonas Tinius, 2023-08-02 This is a bold and wide ranging account of the unique German public theatre system through the prism of a migrant artistic institution in the western post industrial Ruhr region State of the Arts analyses how artistic traditions have responded to social change racism and cosmopolitan anxieties and recounts how critical contemporary cultural production positions itself in relation to the tumultuous history of German state patronage difficult heritage and self cultivation through the arts Jonas Tinius fieldwork with professional actors directors cultural policy makers and activists unravels how they constitute theatre as a site for extra ordinary ethical conduct and how they grapple with the pervasive German cultural tradition of Bildung or self cultivation through the arts Tinius shows how anthropological methods provide a way to understand the entanglement of cultural policy institution building and subject formation An ambitious and interdisciplinary study the work demonstrates the crucial role of artistic intellectuals in society Routledge Companion to Contemporary Anthropology Simon Coleman, Susan Hyatt, Ann Kingsolver, 2016-11-25 The Routledge Companion to Contemporary Anthropology is an invaluable guide and major reference source for students and scholars alike introducing its readers to key contemporary perspectives and approaches within the field Written by an experienced international team of contributors with an interdisciplinary range of essays this collection provides a powerful overview of the transformations currently affecting anthropology The volume both addresses the concerns of the discipline and comments on its construction through texts classroom interactions engagements with various publics and changing relations with other academic subjects Persuasively demonstrating that a number of key contemporary issues can be usefully analyzed through an anthropological lens the contributors cover important topics such as globalization law and politics collaborative archaeology economics religion citizenship and community health and the environment The Routledge Companion to Contemporary Anthropology is a fascinating examination of this lively and constantly evolving discipline

Nationbuilding, Gender and War Crimes in South Asia Bina D'Costa,2012-07-26 This book gives a detailed political analysis of nationbuilding processes and how these are closely linked to statebuilding and to issues of war crime gender and sexuality and marginalization of minority groups With a focus on the Indian subcontinent the author demonstrates how the state itself is involved in the construction of a gendered identity and how control of women and their sexuality is central to the nationbuilding project She applies a critical feminist approach to two major conflicts in the Indian subcontinent the Partition of India in 1947 and the Liberation War of Bangladesh in 1971 and offers suggestions for addressing historical injustices and war crimes in the context of modern Bangladesh Addressing how the social and political elites were able to construct and legitimize a history of the state that ignored these issues the author suggests a critical re examination of the national narrative of the creation of Bangladesh which takes into account the rise of Islamic rights and their alleged involvement in war crimes Looking at the impact that notions of nation state and nationalism have on women from a critical feminist perspective the book will be an important addition to the literature on gender studies international relations and South Asian politics Occidentalism: Images of the West James G. Carrier,1995-04-13 This is an investigation of Western cultural identity It shows how people s images of themselves and others reflect the power that different groups in a society have to shape these images The contributors describe these images in Western academic writing popular Western culture and societies outside the West in this counterpart to Edward Said's Orientalism Occidentalism is an investigation of images of Western cultural identity Edward Said's Orientalism revolutionized Western understanding of non Western cultures by showing how Western projected images shaped the Occidental of the Orient but those who follow Said have not until now reflected that understanding back onto Western societies Occidentalism shows how images of the West shape people's conceptions of themselves and others and how these images are in turn shaped by members of Western and non Western societies alike The contributors describe and explicate these images in a variety of areas from Western academic writing to popular Western culture from societies within and outside the West to show how power and conflict shape such conceptions
