From Distance Education To E Learning:

Technology, e-learning and Distance Education A.W. (Tony) Bates, 2005-08-02 Award winning in its first edition this book is an essential guide to the use of technology in flexible and distance learning weighing up the pros and cons of different media Fully updated this second edition examines criteria and guidelines for the design and delivery of effective teaching using modern learning technologies focuses on the use of the Internet for distance and flexible education considers the design and use of emerging technologies such as web based video conferencing and speech recognition places emphasis on organisational and management issues and how these influence the effective use of technology gives attention to the integration of online teaching with campus based face to face teaching With a focus on basic principles and general guidelines this guidance applies to existing and emerging technologies It is essential reading not just for those specialising in flexible and distance learning and distance education but anyone concerned with the integration of technology with teaching

Teaching and Learning at a Distance Michael Simonson, Sharon Smaldino, Susan M. Zvacek, 2014-10-01 Teaching and Learning at a Distance is written for introductory distance education courses for preservice or in service teachers and for training programs that discuss teaching distant learners or managing distance education systems This text provides readers with the basic information needed to be knowledgeable distance educators and leaders of distance education programs The teacher or trainer who uses this book will be able to distinguish between appropriate uses of distance education In this text we take the following themes The first theme is the definition of distance education Before we started writing the first edition of Teaching and Learning at a Distance we carefully reviewed the literature to determine the definition that would be at the foundation of our writing This definition is based on the work of Desmond Keegan but is unique to this book This definition of distance education has been adopted by the Association for Educational Communications and Technology and by the Encyclopedia Britannica The second theme of the book was the importance of research to the development of the contents of the book The best practices presented in Teaching and Learning at a Distance are validated by scientific evidence Certainly there are rules of thumb but we have always attempted to only include recommendations that can be supported by research The third theme of Teaching and Learning at a distance is derived from Richard Clark s famous quote published in the Review of Educational Research that states that media are mere vehicles that do not directly influence achievement Clark s controversial work is discussed in the book but is also fundamental to the book s advocacy for distance education in other words we authors did not make the claim that education delivered at a distance was inherently better than other ways people learn Distance delivered instruction is not a magical approach that makes learners achieve more The fourth theme of the book is equivalency theory Here we presented the concept that instruction should be provided to learners that is equivalent rather than identical to what might be delivered in a traditional environment Equivalency theory helps the instructional designer approach the development of instruction for each learner without attempting to duplicate what happens in a face to face classroom The final theme for Teaching and Learning at a Distance is the idea that the book should be comprehensive that it should cover as much of the various ways instruction is made available to distant learners as is possible It should be a single source of information about the field      International Handbook of E-Learning Volume 1 Badrul H.

Khan,Mohamed Ally,2015-02-20 The International Handbook of e Learning Volume 1 provides a comprehensive compendium of research and theory in all aspects of e learning one of the most significant ongoing global developments in the entire field of education Covering history design models instructional strategies best practices competencies evaluation assessment and more these twenty seven contributions tackle the tremendous potential and flexibility inherent to this rapidly growing new paradigm Past and present empirical research frames each chapter while future research needs are discussed in relation to both confirmed practice and recent changes in the field The book will be of interest to anyone seeking to create and sustain meaningful supportive learning environments within today s anytime anywhere framework from teachers administrators and policy makers to corporate and government trainers      Online and Distance Learning: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications Tomei, Lawrence A.,2007-07-31 This comprehensive six volume collection addresses all aspects of online and distance learning including information communication technologies applied to education virtual classrooms pedagogical systems Web based learning library information systems virtual universities and more It enables libraries to provide a foundational reference to meet the information needs of researchers educators practitioners administrators and other stakeholders in online and distance learning Provided by publisher      Evaluation in Distance Education and E-learning Valerie Ruhe,Bruno D. Zumbo,2009-01-01 With the rapid proliferation of distance education and e learning courses the need is growing for a comprehensive professional approach to evaluating their effectiveness This indispensable book offers a road map to guide evaluation practice in these innovative learning environments Providing practical step by step guidelines and tools for conducting evaluation studies including how to deal with stakeholders develop surveys and interview protocols collect other scientific evidence and analyze and blend mixed methods data the work also features a template for writing high quality reports The unfolding model developed by the authors draws on Messick s influential assessment framework and applies it to program evaluation Two case studies of actual programs a distance learning course and an e learning course demonstrate the unfolding model in action      Distance Education and Distributed Learning Gene V Glass,Charalambos Vrasidas,2002-12-01      Teaching and Learning at a Distance Michael Simonson,Susan M. Zvacek,Sharon Smaldino,2019-07-01 Teaching and Learning at a Distance is written for introductory distance education courses for preservice or in service teachers and for training programs that discuss teaching distant learners or managing distance education systems This text provides readers with the basic information needed to be knowledgeable distance educators and leaders of distance education programs The teacher or trainer who uses this book will be able to distinguish between appropriate uses of distance education In this text we take the following themes The first theme is the definition of distance education Before we started writing the first edition of Teaching and Learning at a Distance we carefully reviewed the literature to determine the definition that would be at the foundation of our writing This definition is based on the work of Desmond Keegan but is unique to this book This definition of distance education has been adopted by the Association for Educational Communications and Technology and by the Encyclopedia Britannica The second theme of the book was the importance of research to the development of the contents of the book The best practices presented in Teaching and Learning at a Distance are validated by scientific evidence Certainly there are rules of thumb but we have always attempted to only include recommendations that can be supported by research The third theme of Teaching and Learning at a Distance is derived from Richard Clark s famous quote published in the Review of Educational Research that states that media are mere vehicles that do not directly influence achievement Clark s controversial work is discussed in the book but is also fundamental to the book s advocacy for distance education in other words we authors did not make the claim that education delivered at a distance was inherently better than other ways people learn Distance delivered instruction is not a magical approach that makes learners achieve more The fourth theme of the book is equivalency theory Here we presented the concept that instruction should be provided to learners that is equivalent rather than identical to what might be delivered in a traditional environment Equivalency theory helps the instructional designer approach the development of instruction for each learner without attempting to duplicate what happens in a face to face classroom The final theme for Teaching and Learning at a Distance is the idea that the book should be comprehensive that it should cover as much of the various ways instruction is made available to distant learners as is possible It should be a single source of information about the field
