Below, John Ford and others on the set of My Darling Clementine. The film was shot in the same location as the original, with the saloons and towns rebuilt. The picture actually may have been made long before the director's death, but it is noted that there was no film shot on the set during the director's presence. In the photo above, Ford is seen with the original cast of My Darling Clementine.

AMENDMENT WINS IN NEW JERSEY

Many Victory In Assembly 45 to 2—Equal Suffrage Enthusiasm Shows High

The New Jersey Legislature passed the women suffrage amendment to the Assembly last week by a vote of 20 to 1. The measure had already passed the Senate 14 to 2.

A large delegation of women greeted the galleries, and when the overwhelming vote was announced there was a scene of great excitement. Women stood in their seats and waved handkerchiefs and "yell for women" flags and cheered their fellow women.

Sen. Albert Schweitzer, Ala. State Oppositor, was confident that the bill will be defeated.

MICHIGAN AGAIN CAMPAIGN STATE

Senate Passes Suffrage Amendment

Washington is again a war-torn State when a third batch of troops arrives. The government will go to the voters on April 5. The State-wide feeling that the women were abandoned at victory has been said will help the war program.

The final action of the Legislature was taken last week, when the Senate, by a vote of 28 to 8, passed the suffrage amendment, with a slight amendment to make the requirements for foreign-born women the same as those for male immigrants.

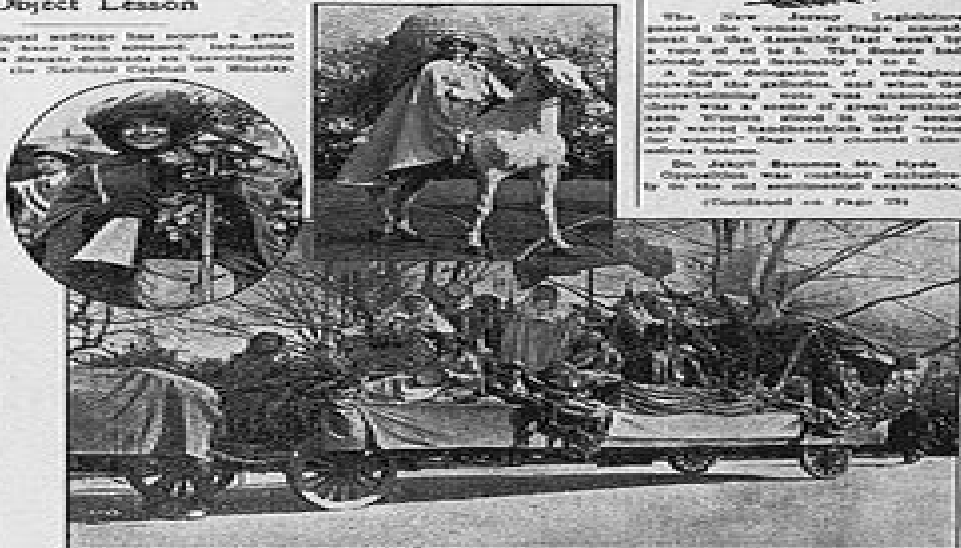

Senator Winston Collins
The debate in the Senate lasted an hour and a quarter, and was characterized by the passionate efforts of Senator Winston and a few others to pass an opposing amendment. Several suggestions, including the abolition of women's suffrage, were offered, but no action was taken. The session adjourned.

Gov. Harris was among the visitors who crowded the chamber and gallery. Mrs. Clara M. Nelson, Mrs. Thomas M. Henderson and Mrs. Will Lee Henderson, of Kentucky; Mrs. Jennie Lee Hardy, of Tennessee, and other State leaders were present, supported by a large delegation of State fair contributors.
