The Biblical Encyclopedia James Comper Gray, George Moulton Adams, 1903 Weill's Musical Theater Stephen Hinton, 2012-04-10 In the first musicological study of Kurt Weill's complete stage works Stephen Hinton charts the full range of theatrical achievements by one of twentieth century musical theater's key figures Hinton shows how Weill's experiments with a range of genres from one act operas and plays with music to Broadway musicals and film opera became an indispensable part of the reforms he promoted during his brief but intense career Confronting the divisive notion of two Weills one European the other American Hinton adopts a broad and inclusive perspective establishing criteria that allow aspects of continuity to emerge particularly in matters of dramaturgy Tracing his extraordinary journey as a composer the book shows how Weill's artistic ambitions led to his working with a remarkably heterogeneous collection of authors such as Georg Kaiser Bertolt Brecht Moss Hart Alan Jay Lerner and Maxwell Anderson Philosophy in the Islamic World Peter Adamson, 2016-06-10 The latest in the series based on the popular History of Philosophy podcast this volume presents the first full history of philosophy in the Islamic world for a broad readership It takes an approach unprecedented among introductions to this subject by providing full coverage of Jewish and Christian thinkers as well as Muslims and by taking the story of philosophy from its beginnings in the world of early Islam all the way through to the twentieth century Major figures like Avicenna Averroes and Maimonides are covered in great detail but the book also looks at less familiar thinkers including women philosophers Attention is also given to the philosophical relevance of Islamic theology kalam and mysticism the Sufi tradition within Islam and Kabbalah among Jews and to science with chapters on disciplines like optics and astronomy The book is divided into three sections with the first looking at the first blossoming of Islamic theology and responses to the Greek philosophical tradition in the world of Arabic learning This formative period culminates with the work of Avicenna the pivotal figure to whom most later thinkers feel they must respond The second part of the book discusses philosophy in Muslim Spain Andalusia where Jewish philosophers come to the fore though this is also the setting for such thinkers as Averroes and Ibn Arabi Finally a third section looks in unusual detail at later developments touching on philosophy in the Ottoman Mughal and Safavid empires and showing how thinkers in the nineteenth to the twentieth century were still concerned to respond to the ideas that had animated philosophy in the Islamic world for centuries while also responding to political and intellectual challenges from the European colonial powers
